Killer's Frogs

TCU jumps on Aggies to win, 67-50

by John P. Lopez

While Texas A&M held a brief lead over the Frogs early in the first half, the Aggies were grabbing twice as many rebounds as TCU. But after Arnold took the role of Chairman of the Board(s) at the midway point of the half, the Frogs ran away from the Aggies.

Another factor for the Horned Frogs was the job done at the free-throw line. TCU was a perfect 19 for 19 from the line while Texas A&M was 8 for 15.

About the only bright spot for the Aggies Tuesday was the hot hand of freshman guard Kenny Brown. Brown hit seven of eight long-range bombs for 14 points.

The Aggies got out of the blocks fast, taking a 13-2 lead over the Frogs on a short lay-in by Reggie Roberts and baskets by Roy Jones and Jimmie Gilbert. But after TCU head coach Jim Killingsworth called a timeout, the Horned Frogs returned to the floor and promptly devoured the Aggies.

TCU led by five after the first half and continued their scoring spree throughout the rest of the game as they scored the first four points of the second stanza. Darrell Browder came alive in the final 20 minutes to chip in 10 points for TCU and Brian Christensen added eight.

After the game, Killingsworth credited the Aggies with being a good basketball team, but said the early Aggie lead might have hurt Texas A&M. Killingsworth said the Aggies lost their concentration after the quick start and subsequently gave the Frogs the opportunity to take over the tempo of the game.

With the loss, the Aggies' record falls to 9-10 on the year and 3-3 in Southwest Conference play. The Aggies travel to Austin Saturday to take on Texas at the Frank G. Erwin Special Events Center. After Texas, the Aggies will finish out the first half of their SWC schedule at home against Texas Tech on Monday. TCU, meanwhile, will be in Dallas Saturday to play SMU.

Texas A&M's Reggie Roberts slams one home in the Aggies' 85-77 victory over SMU Saturday. TCU defeated the Aggies Tuesday night, however, winning 67-50.

Swim teams out 'first' Rice

The Texas A&M men's and women's swim teams used 24 individual place victories to sweep a meet from the Rice Owls or group Tuesday night in Houston.

The women swam perhaps their best meet of the year, winning 11 of 17 events and defeating the Owls 94-55. The men captured 13 first places in 16 events to win 88-77.

Philis Burns and Melanie Schmauch paced the women, with Burns finishing first in the 1,000-yard freestyle with a time of 10:45:24 and second in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 5:16:45.

Both of those times were Burns' career bests.

Schmauch had two individual first places and was a member of the winning 400-yard medley relay team. In the 50-yard freestyle, Schmauch was first with a time of 25.11. She was also first in the 100-yard freestyle with a time of 54.44.

Also for the women, Jody Tanner finished first in the 100-yard individual medley with a time of 1:01:78.

The Aggies had a shutout in the 200-yard breaststroke, winning all three places to keep the Owls from scoring. Vicki Moir was first, Marva Mitten was second and Michon Breisacher was third for the women.

In the diving competition, Maureen Beiter qualified for the NCAA championships in the 3-meter dive. Although she finished second behind Texas A&M's Tracie Tips, Beiter qualified for the championships with a dive that scored 258.60 points.

Tips, who scored 278.30 points with her first-place dive, qualified for the NCAA championships Saturday against Tulane. Every member of the Aggie women's diving team has now qualified for the NCAA's.

For the men, Kevin Londri-gan placed first in two events to lead them to their victory. In the 50-yard backstroke, Londrigan finished with a time of 25.27 to lead the pack. He was also first in the 50-yard freestyle with a time of 21.90.

Chris O'Neil also had two firsts for the Aggies, a 55.41 time in the 100-yard individual medley and a 23.70 time in the 50-yard butterfly.

The women raised their record to 4-2 with the victory and the men to 5-3 with theirs. Both teams will be in Lubbock on Saturday for a triangular meet with Texas Tech and Northeast Louisiana State.
