And playing catch-up with A&M is like the tortoise chasing the rabbit. They are just so much quicker than us."
Texas forward Bill Wendlandt agreed:
"Their fast breaks killed us. They had a lot of one on no-bodys on their breaks. Those are kind of hard to defend."

Another factor, Wendlandt said, was the rejuvenated play of Texas A&M forward Claude Riley.
"He's just so fluid. That's what makes him so good," he said. "It's almost like he's effortless. You don't hear from him for a long time and then bam — he's making a big play."
Wendlandt led the Horns in the scoring department with 15 points against the Aggies, but the player that kept Texas close in the second half was sophomore Carlton Cooper. Cooper grabbed a career-high 17 rebounds and netted 13 points for the Longhorns.

Weltlich was happy with Cooper's performance, but said Cooper can't win games by himself.

"Cooper's coming along," he said, "but it's hard for him because he's only 6-4 and he's playing the post. He's in there reaching at 6-4 and they're (Aggies) reaching at 6-11. Even though he can jump he's at a disadvantage. We're just not a team that can go up over people."

"A lot of defenses are keying on Claude (Riley)," Naulls said after the game, "and Reggie Roberts) has been doing a great job in picking up the slack, but I don't think he should have to do it by himself. I'm going to try to help out a little more on offense — try to play a little more aggressively on offense."

Jimmie Gilbert blocked five UT shots for A&M

real aggressive, and I think their patience upset us.

"I've always felt that when A&M and Texas get together, it's not just another contest. There's a lot at stake there."

Naulls said the Aggies also have a lot at stake in the upcoming weeks, when they begin and end the second half of Southwest Conference play.

"It's time to pull ourselves up," Naulls said. "It's now or never if we want to get into the (SWC) tournament. And we have to do well the rest of the season if we want to get out of town, as Coach Metcalf calls it."

As long as out of town means Austin, the Aggies will do just fine.

Men swimmers win two meets

The Texas A&M men's swimming team defeated both Texas Tech and Northeast Louisiana State in Lubbock over the weekend, running their record to 7-3 for the season and warming up for their big meet against the University of Texas on Friday.

The Aggies beat Texas Tech 76-37 and Northeast Louisiana State by a score of 98-15. Rick Walker won two events for Texas A&M, setting pool records in both the 1,000-yard freestyle and the 500-yard freestyle. Walker also placed second in the 200-yard individual medley for the Aggies.

Texas A&M had six other first place finishes, including both the 400-yard medley relay team's and the 400-yard freestyle relay team's victories.

The women, however, lost to Texas Tech by a score of 85-64, which dropped their record to 4-3 on the season. They were led by freshman Vicki Moir, who placed first in two events, the 100-yard backstroke and the 200-yard backstroke. Jody Tanner, Edlyn Bell and Melanie Schmauch were the other first place winners for the women.

Although the players said they weren't frustrated by Texas' slow-down, take-it-easy offense, Metcalf said the Longhorns' ability to stay calm under pressure may have unnerved the Aggies.

"This was the first time I've seen Texas play, except on tele-
