

Chagra witness was in prison uprising

United Press International
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — The man who says Jamie "Jimmy" Chagra told him he ordered the assassination of a San Antonio federal judge, himself took part in the 1980 New Mexico prison uprising and is the reputed head of the so-called "Dixie Mafia."

Jerry Ray James, who was serving a life sentence at the federal prison in Leavenworth, Kan., when he met Chagra in 1980, was asked about both matters by defense attorney Oscar Goodman on cross-examination Friday.

Earlier, James, testifying for the government in return for his release from prison and a $250,000 reward, said Chagra told him in the Leavenworth prison yard in August 1980, "You know, I was the one who had (U.S. District Judge (John H.) Wood killed."

Chagra is charged with paying convicted hit man Charles V. Harrelson $250,000 to kill Wood, who was scheduled to preside at Chagra's narcotics trial. Chagra feared a long prison sentence from Wood, known as "Maximum John."

Wood was shot leaving his San Antonio home May 29, 1979.

James said Chagra asked him at different times to have "my people" kill Henry Wallace, the key witness against Chagra in a narcotics trial, Lou Esper, the man Chagra believed killed his brother, Lee, in December 1978, and Harrelson's wife, Jo Ann, a convicted conspirator.

He passed this information on to his FBI contact, he said, as well as two Chagra proposals that he provide $40,000 financing and a crew of six to eight men to off-load up to four ships carrying Colombian marijuana.

James said Travis Erwin, the inmate who introduced him to Chagra at Leavenworth, told him in late September 1980 that Chagra had hired Harrelson to kill Wood. He told the FBI this on Sept. 28, 1980, when he offered "to solve the hottest case in America." Earlier, he testified Chagra himself told him of his alleged role in July 1980.

Seven days after passing on this first information to the FBI, Erwin was found dead in his cell. James and another inmate discovered the body. Two days after Erwin's death, the Justice Department approved the deal with James.

James said earlier that Erwin, a friend of Lee Chagra's, recommended Harrelson to Jimmy Chagra and that he overheard Chagra telling Erwin the day he met him, "Charlie was everything you said he would be."

James said he won favor with Chagra by coming to his aid when members of the "Mexican Mafia" and the "Aryan Brotherhood," two prison gangs, demanded that Chagra pay another inmate $1,600 he took from him in a poker game in which Chagra thought the other man cheated him.

"They asked me if I was going to get involved," James said. "I said, 'Yes.'" The four inmates who confronted Chagra then withdrew, he said.

Almost there

staff photo by Octavio Garcia

Well kind of but not exactly. Jan Miller a senior education major from Port Arthur, did what a lot of other people did during weekend...enjoy it. Jan went out for a refreshing 4 mile run across the tracks by the swine center to take advantage of the unseasonably nice weather.

Speakers, Seminars Scheduled as Special Events in Career Fair

Monday, January 31

"How Much Computerese Should A Graduate Know?"
Millie Bradley, Manager of Applications of Exxon Chemicals
Time and place to be announced

Tuesday, February 1

"Salesmanship"
John Shafer, District Sales Manager, Southwestern Company
Time and place to be announced

"Changing Values in the Business World"
Stan Madden, Assistant Professor of Marketing, Texas A&M University
Time and place to be announced

Wednesday, February 2

"How to Cope with Stress"
Virgie Nolte, Counseling Psychologist, Health Center
Time and place to be announced

"A Graduate's Personal Finances"
Willie Langston, Recruiter and Accountant, Coopers & Lybrand
Past President of the CBA Business Student Council
Time and place to be announced

Thursday, February 3

"The Future For Women in Business"
Darlene Mason, Manager of Corporate Planning, United Gas Pipeline
Time and place to be announced

Business Week '83 Schedule

Classrooms filled with students and college professors this week will have the special benefit of the expertise and experience of practicing business professionals from the "real world." This will afford an opportunity for learning and growth through questioning and interchange of ideas between visiting executives and students.

The classes to be visited include the following:

MGMT 466, 5 pm
Carol C. McGuire, President, Loop Cold Storage, San Antonio

Tuesday February 1
ACCT Conference, 10 am; ACCT 327, 2 pm
Carroll Phillips, Managing Partner with Coopers & Lybrand, Houston

Wednesday February 2
The Retailing Symposium, Rudder 601

MGMT 470, 11 am; MGMT 470, 12 noon
Roy Serpa, Manager of Headquarters Commercial Development, Gulf Oil Chemicals Company

Thursday February 3
MGMT 435, 11 am; MGMT 436, 12:30 pm
Charles Irving, Attorney, Texaco, U.S.A.

MGMT 422, 11 am; MGMT 422, 12:30 pm
Bruce Thunnell, Manager of Human Resources, Employee Relations, Texaco, U.S.A.

Business Career Fair Schedule

Monday, January 31, 1983

7:00 pm
Reception for recruiters, Aggie-land Inn, rooms A&B.

Tuesday, February 1, 1983

7:00 am
Breakfast for recruiters, MSC Cafeteria.

8:30 am
Company booths open for student conversations, A&A Bldg, first and second floor lobbies.

12:00 pm
Booths closed. Lunch for recruiters.

1:30 am
Company booths reopen.

7:00 pm
Career Fair Banquet Academic Awards Presentations, MSC second floor, main banquet room, 224.

The Business is published by the undergraduate Business Student Council as a monthly newsletter for students and student organizations of the College of Business Administration at Texas A&M University. It is financed by voluntary non-tax-supported projects and activities of the Business Student Council. "The Business" offices and student organization offices are located in room 101 of the A&A building, telephone 713/845-1320. The Business: Student Editor - Clyde L. Wright, III; Staff Editor - Susan DuBois; Council President - Susie Brandt; Council Staff Advisor - Lynn Zimmermann; Dean of the College - Dr. William H. Mobley.

Wednesday, February 2, 1983

7:00 am
Breakfast for recruiters MSC Cafeteria.

8:30 am
Company booths open for student conversations, A&A Bldg, first floor. Retailing Career Symposium, Rudder Tower, room 601.

12:00 pm
Lunch for recruiters, booths closed. Retailing Career Symposium Luncheon.

1:30 pm
Company booths reopen, A&A Bldg, first floor. Retailing Career Symposium continues, Rudder Tower.

6:30 pm
"Take a Student to Dinner," Recruiters host selected students at local restaurants.

Companies Attending Career Fair 1983

These companies will have booths in the A&A building to distribute information to students. All companies will be recruiting one or more business majors in the college of business administration.

Feb. 1:

Aetna Life and Casualty
American Scientific Products
Arco Oil & Gas
Arthur Andersen & Company
Arthur Young & Company
Brookshire Brothers Groc., Co.
Comptroller of Public Accounts
Deloitte, Haskins, & Sells
Dillard's Department Stores
First National Bank of Midland
Halliburton Services, Inc.
H. E. Butt Grocery Company
Interfirst Bank-Dallas
Interfirst Bank-Houston
Joske's Department Stores

K-Mart Corporation
Kroger's Food Stores
Luby's Cafeterias, Inc.
Main Hurdman
Neiman-Marcus
Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company
Pennzoil Company
Price Waterhouse
Radio Shack
Randall's Food Markets
Safeway
Sanger Harris
Tenneco
West Texas Utilities
Xerox Corporation
Zales Corporation
Zapata Corporation

Feb. 2:

Alexander Grant & Company
Bank of America
Bank of the Southwest

Business & Professional Advertisers Association
Coopers & Lybrand
Ernst, & Whinney
Exxon
First City Bancorporation of Texas
Harper & Pearson
Interfirst Bank-Austin
International Business Machines (IBM)
National Association of Accountants
Payless Cashways
Texas Commerce Bank-Houston
Texas Commerce Bank-Reagan

Feb. 1 and 2:

A T & T Long Lines
Gulf Oil Company
Marathon Oil Company
Seidman & Seidman
Touche Ross & Company
Victoria Bank & Trust

The Center for Executive Development at Texas A&M has been offering management development seminars for more than 30 years. In 1983 the Center is offering several new programs, in addition to its established seminars: THE ADVANCED MANAGEMENT PROGRAM is a four-week graduate level program designed to stimulate senior level executives, to enhance their personal growth and to increase their managerial effectiveness, under the leadership of an experienced faculty. The selection of topics is heavily weighted to a strategy emphasis, with additional topics relating to the areas of organization and management of human resources, systems and controls, finance and economics.

THE MANAGEMENT DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM is designed to assist middle level managers become more effective in their present position and to prepare them for advancement into positions of greater responsibilities. Topics covered in the two-week seminar include human resources and organization, finance, information systems and decisionmaking, and marketing.

THE MANAGEMENT SEMINAR, a one-week seminar designed for first and second level managers, is offered nine times a year. The management seminars help participants acquire the new concepts, new tools and new ways of thinking necessary for effective management.

FINANCE AND ACCOUNTING FOR NONFINANCIAL MANAGERS is specifically targeted to the manager who does not regularly work in the areas of accounting and finance. The seminar offers a comprehensive systematic approach to financial analysis, profit planning and capital budgeting.

INDUSTRIAL SALES MANAGEMENT SEMINAR is designed for individuals responsible for the direction of their firms' marketing, sales or related activities. This seminar will provide the newly promoted manager with the necessary skills and the experienced administrator with an update on the most modern managerial concepts and techniques.

The Center for Executive Development will be offering two programs in Houston this spring:

MANAGING RETRENCHMENT AND STRATEGIES FOR TURNAROUND, designed for upper level managers confronted with the management of decline and retrenchment, will be offered March 16-17 at the Doubletree Hotel, Intercontinental Airport.

COMPUTERS: SHOULD WE OR SHOULD WE NOT?, a program for individuals in small businesses, governmental units and professional offices who know little or nothing about computers, will be offered April 25-26 at the Doubletree Hotel, Intercontinental Airport.

For more information contact:
Center for Executive Development
College of Business Administration
Texas A&M University
College Station, TX 77843-4114
(713) 845-1216

Company accused by NRC

United Press International
ARLINGTON — Nuclear Regulatory Commission officials have accused an Oklahoma company of violations leading to the radiation overexposure of two workers.

The NRC cited Exam Company of Tulsa for three alleged violations and recommended a $6,400 fine for the firm.

NRC Regional Administrator John T. Collins said the recommendation, made Wednesday, resulted from actions of Exam officials while the company was doing work near Michigan City, Ind.

Exam is accused of failing "to conduct an adequate survey when using a radiographic exposure device on Oct. 4, 1982."

"This violation contributed to the overexposure of two workers and had the potential of unnecessarily exposing members of the public to radiation," the NRC claimed.

Other violations Exam is accused of include failure to maintain an acceptable radiation level at the Indiana site and using a survey meter that didn't work because of battery failure.

Collins said Exam has 30 days to submit a written response to the allegations and pay or protest the fine.

White's budget planned

United Press International
AUSTIN — Gov. Mark White will begin preliminary discussions with his staff Saturday on the state budget, hoping to have the complex spending plan ready for submission to the Texas Legislature by Feb. 18.

White's office said Friday that the governor will be briefed Saturday on major budgetary items that are important to him, such as education spending.

The Legislative Budget Board has recommended a $31.4 billion budget for the fiscal year 1984-85, and former Gov. Bill Clements proposed a $31 billion budget. Both budgets would increase spending by about 18 percent over the last biennium.

But White said he had scrapped Clements' recommendations and will be drafting an original document.

Under the time table outlined Friday by White's office, the governor will prepare a draft budget by next Thursday and have a document finalized by Feb. 15.

White's office said the governor may formally present his recommended budget to the Legislature during a speech to a joint session.

Wrap her wrists in 14 kt. gold...
14 kt. yellow gold rope bracelet
14 Kt. yellow gold polished bracelet

DIAMOND ROOM

3731 E. 29th 707 Shopping Village
846-4708 693-7444
Bryan College Station