UH moves closer to top; Rebs now No. 1 in UPI

NEW YORK — Now finally at the top, Nevada-Las Vegas coach Jerry Tarkanian understands the size of the chasm between his team and the No. 1 ranking is gonna be things tougher for me," Tarkanian said Monday upon winning the Runnin' Rebels for the first time in their 25-year history, were voted the premier college basketball team in the nation by UPI's Board of Coaches. "Everyone's gonna be gunning for us," added Tarkanian. The lead in the poll has changed hands six times so far this season.

With all 42 members of the board participating, the nation's top major undefeated school received 30 first-place ballots and 576 total points to beat out Houston for the top spot.

Two coaches failed to name the Runnin' Rebels anywhere on the ballot. Nevada-Las Vegas, 24-0, clinched the regular-season championship of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association Saturday night with a 111-78 rout of Utah State and the Runnin' Rebels lose out their regular season with three road dates.

"We've still got three tough games to go, including Thursday night's game at Fullerton State," said Tarkanian. "That game's gonna be a war — they haven't lost at home all year. If UCLA were to go into Fullerton Thursday night, the Bruins could be underdogs."

Houston, 22-2, advanced two spots to No. 2 with seven first-place votes an 559 overall points extending its winning streak to 16.

Virginia, 21-3, also moved up two spots, to third, as the Cavaliers won twice to pick up four first-place ballots and 508 points. North Carolina, ranked No. 3 a week ago, plunged eight spots to 11th following the Tar Heels' third straight loss.

Indiana, last week's top-ranked team, fell three spots to fourth after a 58-57 loss to Iowa. The Hoosiers, 20-3, received the remaining first-place votes and 472 points while Arkansas, 22-1, advanced two notches to fifth with 438 points. Louisville, 22-3, moved up two spots to No. 6 with 393 points. Villanova, 19-4, advanced two to seventh with 364 points, and St. John's, 22-3, fell two places to No. 8 with 341 points after a lopsided loss to new No. 16 Boston College.

Rounding out the Top 10 are UCLA, 19-3, which moved up two spots to ninth with 292 points, and Kentucky, 18-5, which also jumped two places, to No. 10, with 275 points.

North Carolina is ranked 11th, Missouri is No. 12 and Memphis State remained 13th, but Syracuse posted two easy victories to vault three spots to No. 14. Ohio State, 17-6, moved into the Top 20 at No. 15 while Boston College is 16th. Iowa, which was drubbed by the Buckeyes 85-69, fell two spots to 17th and Georgetown plummeted four rungs to No. 18 after a narrow loss to Pittsburgh.

Walker player of week

United Press International DALLAS — Arkansas' Darrell Walker was named Southwest Conference basketball player of the week and Shasta Smothers of SMU and Texas' Annette Smith tied for female player of the week honors in voting Monday by SWC coaches.

Walker, a 6-4 forward from Chicago, led the fifth-ranked Razorbacks to SWC victories over SMU and TCU last week and was named player of the game for the regionally telecast TCU-Arkansas game last Saturday.

Against the Horned Frogs, Walker helped his team to a 64-56 victory with a game-high 24 points, along with seven rebounds and seven steals. The SWC's leading scorer, averaging 18.4 points per game, Walker totaled 17 points and six rebounds in Arkansas' 71-61 win over SMU earlier last week.

For the first time this season, a tie in the voting gave both Smith and Smothers a share of female player of the week honors.

Smothers, a freshman forward for the Lady Mustangs, led all scoring with 20 points in SMU's 69-67 win over Baylor last Saturday. A resident of Denton, Smothers is third in rebounding in the Southwest Conference, with a 9.5 per-game average.

Smith scored 80 points in three games last week for third-ranked Texas. A 5-11 forward, Smith opened the week with a 31-point performance in the Longhorns' 90-59 win over Houston last Monday.
