What lies below is the creme de la creme of Texas A&M bathroom graffiti. For some strange reason, graffiti was found only in the men's rooms. We tried to find scrawls in the women's rooms but our search was in vain. Either women at Texas A&M do not write graffiti — or bathroom cleaning crews scrub harder in the women's bathrooms.

We're not saying. So you men of Aggieland (and women who have always wanted to read walls in the men's room) search for your favorite.

And the next time you get the urge to scribble some dirty ditty on the wall, take this copy of At Ease into the bathroom with you and write on it instead.
