Aggie roundup

Ag tennis team to host Huskies

The Aggie men's tennis team, 14-4 on the season, will play the Houston Baptist University Huskies here Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. and in Oklahoma City on Saturday at 1:30 p.m. The men competed in the Corpus Christi Team Invitational over the weekend, where they finished 12th out of 26 teams. The Texas A&M women's team, 8-5 for the year, competed in the Brigham Young Tournament and placed fifth among eight teams. The Aggie Ladies will host Trinity here Friday afternoon at 1:30 and will travel to Dallas to play SMU at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. In the Corpus Christi tourney, the Aggie men defeated 16th-ranked Wichita State 6-3 Wednesday but lost the next day to the seventh-ranked Clemson Tigers by a score of 5-1.

The Aggies then topped LSU 7-2 Friday morning but lost to 20th-ranked TCU 5-2 that afternoon. In the LSU match, the Aggies' Brian Joelson, Kimmo Alkio, Tom Judson and Greg Hill won singles matches and all three Texas A&M doubles teams were victorious. Alkio and Hill won singles matches against TCU for the Aggies' only victories. In the TCU match, the Aggies' Arnold Kettenacker was forced to default his singles matchup after suffering a mild concussion in a fall during the 20th-back match. On Saturday, the Aggies lost to Auburn 5-4 in the final round of the tournament, as Games n. were played in 40-50 mph winds. The final match made the difference in the competition, as Texas A&M's Van Barry and Kimmo Alkio lost to Pat Cassidy-Marcel Merine 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

The Aggie women's team opened Thursday with an 8-1 loss to Brigham Young, as Liliana Fernandez and Laura Hanna combined for a 10-0 doubles victory and Texas A&M's only triumph of the match. Texas A&M defeated Arizona State 6-3 Friday night as Fernandez, freshman Vanne Akagi, Cathy Nutt and Linda Sogin won in singles and Fernandez-Hanna and Akagi-Nutt won in doubles. In their final match of the three-day tourney, the Aggie Ladies defeated Utah 7-2 to take fifth place. Fernandez, Akagi, Amy Closs and Nutt won, as did all three Aggie doubles teams. Four of the teams which competed in the BYU tourney are ranked in the nation's Top 20.

Krueger medalist as golfers third

Senior Gary Krueger took medalist honors in the Border Olympics tournament that concluded Sunday in Laredo, as the Aggies finished third behind the Texas Longhorns and the Houston Cougars. Texas A&M wound up with a total of 861, one shot behind the Cougars and two shots behind UT. Krueger, a native of Gary, Ind., won the individual title with a 211 after beating North Texas State's Carlos Pelaez in a one-hole, sudden-death playoff. The Aggies' other totals include: David Jones, 212; Jacky Lee and Paul Oglesby, 219; Paul Mayo, 224, and Kel Devlin, 230. Other team scores were Lamar, 870; Oklahoma, 874; TCU, 875; Southwestern Texas State, 877; North Texas, 893; Houston Baptist, 905; Baylor, 918; Pan American, 919, and Tulsa, 935. Texas A&M will compete next in the Guadalupe Intercollegiate, which opens Thursday and lasts through Saturday.

Baseball squad to host NTSU

The Texas Aggie baseball team, which has a 10-2 record after sweeping a double-header from fifth-ranked Cal State-Fullerton on Sunday, is hosting North Texas State in a double-header today at Olsen Field. The games start at 1 p.m., with a single game scheduled for Wednesday at 3 p.m. Against Cal State, the Aggies won 6-1, 7-5, as senior Rick Luecken pitched a two-hitter in the opener to raise his record to 4-1 on the season. Bobby Beach and Todd Edwards hit homers in the second game to help Texas A&M to the sweep. Cal-State, which had lost three games to the Texas Longhorns on Friday and Saturday, dropped to 13-7-1 with the losses to the Aggies.

Women's softball team visits UTA

Texas A&M's women's softball team, 2-0 for the spring season, will play the University of Texas-Arlington in a road double-header starting tonight at 6. The Aggies, last spring's AIAW national champions, swept a double-header from Evansville University 11-0, 5-0 to open the season last week. Lori Stoll won the first game on a no-hitter and Shan McDonald won the nightcap. Texas A&M will host Louisiana Tech in a double-header here Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. The Aggies and Bulldogs were to have played Saturday at 1 p.m., but the game was postponed because of rain. The games will take place at the Aggies' new field on campus at the Penberthy Intramural Complex near Olsen Field.

Aggie hockey team sweeps two from Austin Saints

The Texas A&M Ice Hockey team put on a magic show this weekend that would have made even the greatest magician flinch. The Ice-Ags performed several record-breaking feats in completing a two-game sweep of the Austin Saints. The Aggies trounced the Saints twice, 11-5 and 13-5, on their way to recording their fourth victory in a row. The Texas A&M attack was powered by five hat tricks (three goals by one individual in a game). Gordie Anderson and John Nagy both recorded hat tricks in each of the Aggies two games. The fifth three-goal performance was turned in by Tom Dobrez. Anderson, the team's leading scorer, started Saturday night's scoring by bulleting a shot past the Saints' goaltender. Then the Nagy show began. Nagy scored the next four Aggie goals on his way to setting a team record with five goals in one game. Nagy's goals were followed by tallies from Myles Coleman and John Durlan. This scoring spree allowed the Ice-Ags to skate to a 7-2 lead after two periods of play. Anderson scored the first and last goal of a wild seven-goal third period. The other two goals for Texas A&M were netted by Barry Wyble and Nagy. The Saints, a team made up of University of Texas students and players from the Austin men's hockey league, managed to squeeze three goals past Aggie goaltender Blair Oliver in the final stanza. Oliver turned back 38 Saint's shots en route to his third victory in five starts.

The second match-up between the two teams was a goalies' nightmare. The Ice-Ags fired off a team record 63 shots while the Saints shot 42. Aggie goalie Eddie Cassavoy was able to turn back 37 Saints' shots while his teammates scored a team record 13 goals.

The most significant record set by the team was the work of three Aggie forwards. Anderson, Nagy and Dobrez combined to score nine Texas A&M goals, and each of them scored once in each of the three periods. The contest was tied up at 3-3 as a result of the trio's goals in the first period. Then in the second, Barry Wyble scored twice in less than a minute to put the Ice-Ags ahead to stay. Before the period was over, Anderson, Nagy and Dobrez had given Texas A&M an 8-3 lead.

The third period scoring was started by Aggie defenseman Joe Anderson. Anderson's powerplay goal was followed by his brother Gordie's third goal, then Nagy's third goal, then Dobrez's third goal. The Ice-Ags scoring was finished off by player-coach Todd Steinweg's first goal.

 one of the strongest teams here. McCleary said the crowds attending tournament matches may have an effect on the competition. "The crowds are very loud," he said. "The size of the crowds depends on who's playing, because some of the teams have redges that go back a long way like Yale and Harvard, Virginia and Connecticut." In last year's semifinal match with Connecticut, the Aggies led 3-5 at halftime, but wound up losing in the last 30 seconds by one point. "We should have won the game easily," McCleary said. "I wish it could be A&M and Connecticut in the finals, because we'd like to get back at them. We sort of got taken because of a bad call by an official last year. I think it was sort of a biased whistle, but I hope we can beat them this year." Texas A&M defeated Yale 18-6 in the quarterfinals before losing to Connecticut in the semis last spring. Cal-Davis then beat Connecticut in the championship round. Other teams competing in this year's event will be Arizona, Colorado State, North Carolina, Texas Tech, Yale, Virginia, Harvard and Cornell. The Aggies will be without the services of Carlos Garcia and Roe Babers, starters who competed with the team last year and during the fall. McCleary said that with those two players, Texas A&M might have had a good shot at the national title. However, he said, the Aggies still plan to do well. "If the guys will listen and play their game, we can be in the finals and possibly bring home the trophy," McCleary said. "Our alternates (Bogart and Ames) are coming along real well and they may surprise us up there. This is one of the weaker teams we've taken to nationals in a long time, but there aren't so many powerhouses this year." The team is sponsored by Dr. Stephen Seager, an associate professor of veterinary physiology and pharmacology at Texas A&M.
