

WHO CARES?

Corps to march on Moscow

by Gary Barker
Aggie Rag Staff

The Corps of Cadets announced today that it will hold a "March to Moscow" this year instead of its traditional March to the Brazos.

WATCH OUT, RUSKIES! The Corps of Cadets' will begin its March on Moscow on May 7. Shown here is one of the nuclear missiles that will accompany the soldiers, scholars and knightly gentlemen on the 5,500-mile march.

When the march, which is scheduled to begin May 7, cadets will depart from College Station to Moscow on foot. Corps Commander GungHo said he has chosen the overland route — over the North Pole.

He decided it was time for a bold move on someone's part (to break the nuclear stalemate), GungHo said. And we (the Corps) are just the ones to do it.

Cadets have been taking pledges for the 5,500-mile trek since the beginning of this month.

We want to protect our precious fluids from the Communists. We think this is the way to do it," GungHo said.

The march will begin at 7:30 a.m. The Corps and the cadets will march along Highway 6. GungHo said they have received donations for all-terrain assault vehicles and a mobile missile launcher.

We plan to march right smack in the middle of Red Square, knock out the door and present him our demands," GungHo said. We will demand unconditional surrender.

At various points along the trek, the cadets will hold war games to prep for their assault. Ronnie Rata-tat-tat, Corps public relations coordinator, said the Dallas Cowboy Cheerleaders and Miss Texas A&M will be on hand to referee the war games.

When asked what the group would do when confronted with the icy cold North Pole, GungHo said, "We'll take thermal underwear."

GungHo said they don't expect to encounter any heavy resistance at the Russian border.

"We expect to lose a few thousand on the initial penetration of the Ruskie border and the march to Moscow, but we should have no serious difficulties," GungHo said. "Your average Commie is no threat to a healthy red-blooded, fightin' Texas Aggie."

"Beat the hell outta Moscow," he said.

About half the Aggie Band is expected to march with the Corps to Moscow. Band members are being suited with special combat gear.

"The band is going to be prepared to play the Aggie War Hymn on an integrated battle field — which means chemical, nuclear and biological warfare," GungHo said.

When asked if any U.S. forces would be helping, GungHo said: "They are welcome to help if they want. But they have to remember that we're the leaders in this operation."

GungHo said that Student Government leaders may be contacted as possible delegates to communicate with the Russian leaders. He said they also could act as provisional leaders when the Russian government is overthrown.

"It could be a learning experience for all of us," said Student Body President Tap Noserap.

Regents announce new oil find

by Denise Richter
Aggie Rag Staff

Regents Chairman B.S. "Ultra" surprised members of the Texas Board of Regents today by announcing the University's oil discovery.

Accompanied by new regent Adam Ant on banjo, Muhammad on fiddle, and Myrtle Crab on washboard — sang: "Come and listen to a story about a named Jackie, a poor winless coach, couldn't make his fans happy. One day, he was shoutin' through the turf came a great discovery. Black gold, Texas said. The dirt was greeted with loud cheers. He shouted 'Ho-doggie!' shouted Texas President Francesco Vanducci. He said that over a chorus of whiny whines any day."

It was discovered under Kyle during spring practice Tuesday when a blocking sled punctured the 50-yard line.

Members watched in awe as the block of the ATM emblem at the field. One player, I.M. Ajock, had the foresight to throw his body over the gusher.

"As we know, he's still there," said.

When asked how the oil well would be drilled, Brite said: "I think the derrick will get in the way. We're going to have it drilled from the top. It'll just look like a tall player."

When asked how the oil well would be drilled, Brite said: "I think the derrick will get in the way. We're going to have it drilled from the top. It'll just look like a tall player."

events center) until I was blue ... uh, maroon ... in the face," Attack said. "You two-percenters didn't lift a darn finger so I decided to do something — I want to annex Houston."

"I've talked to Mayor Tootsie Whitmire and she said it was okay by her. That way, we could have the Summit and the Albert Thomas Convention Center downtown and could have basketball games in one and that high-falutin' opera stuff in the other."

Houston city officials, who attended today's meeting, said they didn't really care.

"It's a cesspool surrounded by a giant parking lot called the Loop," Whitmire said. "If those know-it-all Aggies think they can do anything with it, more power to them."

Brite thanked Whitmire, calling her "a great inspiration for all the little ladies in America."

from the room. After he had been bound and gagged, he was allowed to return to the meeting.

"Mmpvf, mrrrrf, rurrph," he said. After some semblance of order was restored, regents heard committee reports on Target 2001, a space odyssey designed to put Aggies on Jupiter, and the University's proposed research park.

Brite said: "This park will show the research world that A&M is truly preeminent."

"Rld oovrvsty!"

"Who rattled your cage, Frankie?" Regent Ant then said: "I bloody well don't even know what you chaps are talking about. Let's forget this crackpot history and do another song."

Ant's suggestion was overruled and the meeting continued with a report from the Planning and Building Committee, chaired by Chairman Joe "Jolly" Greengiant.

To be the best it can be." — $249 for the College of Liberal Arts.

The money was appropriated after Dr. Whitman Faulkner Steinbeck, dean of the college, asked the board to replace the tarpaper shacks the college now is using for classrooms.

Ali said: "He groveled for money, he whined like a pup. Maybe this pittance will make him shut up."

— $3.50 for paper clips for Tarleton State University.

"Where's that?" Ali asked. The request was referred to the Committee for Finding Academic Campuses.

He added: "After the Aggies take over, I'm sure we can make Houston just as preeminent as Texas A&M."

Vanducci then said: "Hold it, Ultra. You're always calling A&M preeminent. Well, I like 'world university.' I'm president here — that means I have power and I get to choose the adjective for AggieLand."

After Brite stopped laughing, he said: "You're right, Francesco, we need to straighten this out right now. I say Texas A&M Preeminent University — TAMPU — sounds better than TAMWU — Texas A&M World University. That sounds downright Communist. And you know how they want to infiltrate our precious bodily fluids."

"It does not sound Communist," Vanducci said.

"Does too!"

"Does not!"

"Does too!"

"Does not!"

The debate ended when Vanducci was dragged kicking and screaming

The board approved the appropriation of $2.3 million for the preliminary design of a new former students' lounge. The four-story lounge, which will be in the south end zone of Kyle Field, will be connected to the north endzone prestige boxes by an elevated monorail system — the "Cotton Bowl Express."

The lounge is expected to be completed by the kickoff of the 1984 football season.

The board also approved the following items suggested by the Committee for Academic Campuses:

— $12.4 million for the College of Engineering. The appropriation came as a surprise to Dr. H.I. Salary, who said the college still had money left over from the $15 million appropriated in January. But Committee Chairman Ali explained the move:

"They didn't ask for the money, they didn't come to me. But I want that college

Odessa the Nightclub

WEDNESDAY NIGHT

8 for 10	7:15 to 7:25
12 for 2.5	8:03 to 8:33
3 for 3	9:22 to 9:23

THURSDAY NIGHT

Wet woolly contest — bring your own sheep. Come watch the Odessa Dudes in a provocative showing of the intimate act of scraping manure off their boots.

NO COVER IF YOUR FACE IS CLEAR.

MSC Rhetorical Committee presents

Generalissimo Francisco Franco on "Is there life after death?"

Monday at dawn Rudder Theater

Trash

For that tramp look

At Trash we'll provide:

- spot multi-color hair dying
- Hair greasing for your mowhawk
- And — for a limited time only — free ear and nose piercing with every head shave.

WUMP protests choice of desserts

by Jan Werner
Aggie Rag Staff

Aggie custodial workers still cleaning debris from the Memorial Center grounds after a protest staged by Students Wanting MoonPies (SWUMP).

SWUMP members swathed in white plastered the exterior of the building with soggy moonpies in a "protest" against the outdated, ultraconservative dessert selection here on campus.

SWUMP chairman Bob Woodhead said.

"We're sick and tired of being asked to eat only what the administration wants to feed us," Woodhead said. "We want to determine the eating habits of the student body."

SWUMP — a sugary children's dessert consisting of rubbery marshmallows filling sandwiched between chocolate cookies and dipped in paraffin — were chosen as the Aggie symbol "for no particular reason," Woodhead said.

"Actually, nothing we do has any political reason," he said. "We just complain about what everyone is eating."

"We're really trying to get some choice on this campus. We get the desserts the administration wants to feed us. Well, we want to get the desserts we want. That's freedom of choice, right? Everyone has the choice of liking what we like or not."

Woodhead also said his group would expand its protest efforts as soon as moonpies are readily available throughout the campus dining facilities.

"As soon as we get that taken care of we're going to move on. This campus is just full of reactionary B.S. that needs to be taken care of."

When pressed for examples, Woodhead said: "Well, we think the toilet paper situation is execrable. I mean, who wants all that industrial strength stuff with the woodchips still in it? We think it's a John Bircher plot to undermine the fundamental strength of the University's student body and contaminate our precious bodily fluids."

"Then again, we may start pressing for more junk foods, like Ding Dongs or Twinkies. We don't care. We're really just upset that we weren't born 15 years earlier so we could have protested against something really significant, like the Vietnam War. But, hey, moonpies are pretty important, too."

SNAKE EYES PIZZA

Take your chances with us!
We bring the dice, you roll for a price!
And if it's SNAKE EYES you lose.

COUPON

If your pizza is delivered in under one hour, you pay double. We call this our craps special.

COUPON

Buy TEN pizzas, count 'em, and we give you free anchovies on one slice

COUPON

Get Free Cokes!!!!!!

If you have red hair, purple eyes, a blond mustache and roll a double six on our loaded dice, we'll give you a free 2oz. coke, otherwise, tough luck buddy. We have to make a buck here.

Expires today