Election billboard missing

A campaign sign belonging to Kelli Kiesling, candidate for RHA president, has disappeared. The sign was last seen Monday evening on the grassy area near Haas Hall. The sign read "Kelli Kiesling for RHA President." Kiesling asks that anyone knowing the location of the sign, call her at 260-0262.

Kiesling said instead of replacing the sign she will use funds for some other facet of her campaign.

Candidates who have filed for offices in the upcoming elections need to check at 216 the Pavilion to see if they have been included in the list of election candidates.

Pot bust nets man 2 times

United Press International
 AUSTIN — A deputy sheriff who investigated two possible burglaries at a Travis County house got his man both times. He arrested the resident twice for marijuana possession in two hours.

The resident's transformation from potential victim to suspect began about noon Monday when Deputy Sheriff Lester Vanzura saw a pickup backed into the man's garage, authorities said. Vanzura stopped to investigate and peeked through a window into the kitchen.

Vanzura reported he saw marijuana in a jar on the table and arrested the resident, who was released from jail on bond about an hour later.

About 1:30 p.m., a neighbor called the sheriff's office to report another possible burglary at the man's house and Vanzura returned, authorities said. A box containing marijuana was found on the porch.

Local weathercaster receives honor

Troy Kimmel, Channel 3 Weather Director since 1978, has been awarded the Weathercaster's Seal of Approval by the National Weather Association, an association dedicated to improving the professionalism in presenting weather information to the general public by the media.

Kimmel's weathercasts were evaluated on the basis of meteorological professionalism, educational value, standstillability, communication as well as production. The awarding committee, consisting of three professional weathercasters and three news management personnel from around the country, rated Kimmel's performance above the media and meteorological standards required for certification.
