Burned teenager critical

United Press International
HOUSTON — A 15-year-old girl remains in critical condition with burns over 60 percent of her body after neighbors heard her shout her intentions to wrap herself in a blanket soaked with lighter fluid and ignite it Tuesday night, investigators with the Arson Division of the Houston Fire Department said.

A spokeswoman at Hermann Hospital said Tanya Oliver was in critical but stable condition suffering from mostly second-degree burns but third-degree burns on her face.

Arson Chief Leonard Mikeska said he had information the girl attempted suicide.

Paramedics who first arrived at the apartment commented in an official report: "The patient wrapped herself in a blanket soaked with lighter fluid."

The youth was living with her mother, Sandra Oliver, at a fashionable apartment in the Memorial area.

Gravel' cologne uses Opeally rocky gimmick

United Press International
DALLAS — Michael Kraft he can't compete with the boys in the men's fragrance industry, so he had to come up with a gimmick. He paid a substantial sum of money for the manufacturing marketing rights to a little known men's cologne, Gravel, small rocks at the bottom of the bottle and is producing a Bob Bullock package design. "You need millions to be in the fragrance industry," said Kraft. "I don't have millions, so I had to use a gimmick." The rocks at the bottom of the bottle give Gravel a distinct, earthy smell, said Kraft. It also has a light amber color that darkens with age, he added.

"Men are looking to be pampered," said Kraft. "They're looking for something different."

Kraft formed a new Dallas-based company, Gravel Fragrances International Inc., which will re-introduce the cologne with a newly designed package in several months.

It will sell for approximately $25 for a 4-ounce bottle, Kraft said, and is aimed at the prestige market.

Kraft said Gravel isn't a gimmick. He called it a classic, one of the few men's fragrances that will last when many brands are gone.

Kraft commissioned Florida artist Dominic Mingolla to create a painting, "essence of fragrance," that has been imprinted as the design of the new package. It is a free-form collection of colors that Kraft said is aimed at women, who, studies suggest, may purchase up to 70 percent of all men's fragrances.

Gravel was invented by Michael B. Knudsen, who called it "a subtle, close-up male aroma — definitely out of place in the company of strictly commercial competitors."

FBI investigates bus charges

United Press International
SAN ANTONIO — The FBI is investigating several Bexar County Sheriff's Department personnel for alleged sexual abuse against prisoners, an FBI spokesman confirmed today.

Manuel Arcos said he knew nothing about the investigation and did not hear of it until a reporter informed him. Assistant Chief Deputy Gene Talbert also denied knowledge of the investigation.

The suit charges that Arcos and Sgt. Michael McClure approached a woman for the purpose of having sexual relations, and that Sheriff Joe Neaves, Capt. Ray Paez and jail employee Annie Hall "put the harassment into effect."

Threatening note left on dead pup

United Press International
HOUSTON — Animal cruelty charges have been filed against a man accused of cutting his girlfriend's puppy and leaving it in her front yard with a note which read: "You're next."

front yard, authorities said Wednesday.

The suspect's girlfriend found her puppy's remains in her front yard after the couple argued Tuesday, investigators said.

Officers said the woman found a picture of herself attached to the puppy's mouth which contained a note reading: "You're next."
