Journalists to answer the questions tonight

Two mayors, a Texas A&M regent and a county judge will have their chance to interview the media tonight at 7:30 in 701 Rudder.

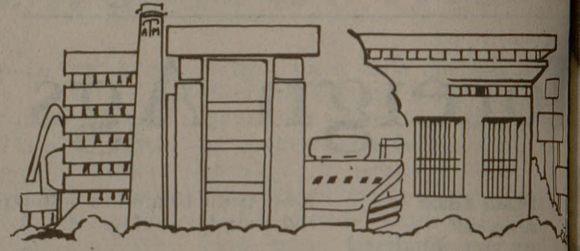

The officials will question a media panel during a reverse press conference sponsored by Women in Communications, Inc. and the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi. The discussion commemorates Freedom of Information Month. Admission is free.

Members of the officials panel are: William A. McKenzie, vice chairman of the Texas A&M Board of Regents; Bryan Mayor Richard Smith; College Station Mayor Gary Halter; and Brazos County Judge Richard Holmgren. Members of the media panel are: Glenn Dromgoole, editor of the Eagle; Diana Sultenfuss, editor of The Battalion; Jeff Braun, news director of KBTX-TV; and Jeanne Norton, news director of KAMU-TV.

Tim Foadre, senior journalism major, will be moderating and Dr. Edward Smith, head of the Communications Department, will deliver the opening remarks. After the press conference, audience members will be able to question both sides.

Around town

CSISD trustees meet tonight

The College Station school board will meet tonight to approve attendance zones and student transfer guidelines and to work on the 1983-84 school calendar.

The board will meet at 7 p.m. in the Oakwood Middle School Library at 106 Holik in College Station.

Range Club wins at annual contest

Texas A&M Range Club had two teams competing in contests at the recent annual meeting of the Society for Range Management.

Eleven members competed in the Plant Identification contest. The team, consisting of James Terrell, Ray Ullrich, Stephen Zuberbueler and Matt Kast took first place. Individual rankings in overall competition were Terrell, 1st place; Ullrich, 8th place; Zuberbueler, 10th place; and Kast, 11th place. Mary Beth Walsh, Denise Redder, Roger Goldstein, Stephen Bauer, Brad Teplicek, Elisha Probst and Irby McWilliams also competed on an individual basis in the Plant Identification contest.

Jack Alexander, Michael Schuman, Joel Holt and Chad Coffey competed in the Comprehensive Range Management Exam. The team took second place in overall competition against 13 teams. Alexander and Schuman took 3rd and 4th places respectively, against 52 individuals.

Also competing in the Comprehensive Range Management Exam were Scott Cooney, Roni Anson, Bill Fasker and Roger Goldstein.

Former Aggie promoted to captain

Richard Lewis Jr. of San Antonio was promoted to the rank of captain in a recent ceremony hosted by Fifth Army Chief of Staff Brig. Gen. John E. Rogers.

Lewis, chief of the Fifth Army Human Resources Office, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Adjutant General's Corps through the ROTC program at Texas Tech University.

Lewis earned a master's degree by 1978 and a doctorate in sociology from Texas A&M University by 1981. While here, he served in the Army Reserve as a member of the 42nd Engineer Brigade at Bryan.

Entering active duty in 1981, Lewis attended the Adjutant General School at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., before assignment to Fifth Army headquarters.

ASME chapter honored in contest

The Texas A&M student chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was honored recently for scoring over 400 points in a national competition sponsored by the Bendix Corporation.

In the competition, chapters accrued points from student section activities and participation in the activities. The recognition is especially significant since the contest is based on percentage of students participating in activities rather than on total numbers.

Texas A&M has the largest student section of ASME in the nation with more than 500 members. The award was for the 1981-82 academic year.

Recreation Committee to teach safety

The MSC Outdoor Recreation Committee is sponsoring a River Safety Workshop Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon at 607 Rudder.

Through films, slides, equipment demonstrations and discussions, participants will learn the basics of safe river travel.

The cost for the seminar is $5. For more information contact Charlie Walter at 845-1515 before Friday.

China Club to sponsor two movies

The China Club is sponsoring two movies tonight in celebration of International Students Week.

"The Bosom Friend" and "Full of Happiness," Chinese movies with English subtitles, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in Rudder Auditorium. Admission is free.

Christian Scientist to speak tonight

Jean D. Louis, a Christian Science practitioner from the Transvaal province of South Africa, will speak at 8 tonight in the Brazos Center.

The topic of Louis' speech is "The Liberating Power of Christian Science Healing," and the public is invited to attend.

If you have an announcement or item to submit for this column, come by The Battalion office in 216 Reed McDonald or contact Tracey Taylor at 845-2665.
