

By Elections continue for SG committees

By Joel Decuzman
Baton Rouge Reporter

Students continue today with elections competing for positions to chair Student Government. Student Government committees are responsible for the behind-the-scenes activities like Amos for the government itself. The five standing committees of the Student Government operate in forums where students may always make their opinions about school-related policies or activities known. The committees are then pursue action on the legislative branch of the government. Each is a representative branch of the government. Each is elected annually by the student body.

The Academic Affairs Committee represents student interest in academic matters and dead week policies and professional evaluations. Members of the committee respond to student requests for current academic related services for students. The committee monitors the use of student service fees and makes suggestions for use of the funds. Different student service offices and organizations request a share of the fees each spring semester. The committee reviews the requests and makes recommendations to the University administration for any changes.

American airlines denies price fixing attempt

DALLAS — In a motion for dismissal of a federal civil anti-trust lawsuit, American Airlines denies an alleged attempt to fix fares by 20 percent.

The motion filed Monday in U.S. District Court asked Judge Robert Hill to throw out Justice department's Feb. 23 lawsuit accusing Crandall of conspiring to Howard Putnam, chairman of the now bankrupt International, that the American Airlines raise their ticket prices by 20 percent.
