Tennis teams to host home events; Ladies lose to UH

The 20th-ranked Texas A&M men's tennis team is playing host to the 10th-rated Arkansas Razorbacks this afternoon on the varsity courts, with action starting at 1:30. The Aggies will face 12th-ranked Texas on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 on the varsity courts.

Texas A&M, 21-6 on the season, is led by sophomore Kimmo Alkio, who has compiled a 23-3 individual singles record during the spring. Alkio, a member of Finland's Davis Cup team, has played the No. 1 and No. 2 positions for the Aggies much of this year.

The Aggie Ladies, who lost to Houston by a score of 7-2 here Thursday afternoon, also are in action this afternoon, facing Texas Tech at 1:30 at Royal Oaks Racquet Club in Bryan. The women's squad, 13-7, is led by No. 1 player Vanne Akagi, who's 15-3 in individual matches.

Here are complete results from Thursday's loss to Houston:

- Margaret Redfearn (UH) def. Liliana Fernandez 6-2, 6-3
- Vanne Akagi (A&M) def. Hee Baek 6-3, 7-5
- Joy Tacon (UH) def. Amy Closs 6-2, 6-2
- Teresa Landry (A&M) def. Kim Gensler 6-3, 3-6, 6-4
- Cathy Tyrrell (UH) def. Laura Hanna 6-2, 6-2
- Brenda Burgess (UH) def. Cathy Nutt 3-6, 6-3, 6-2
- Redfearn-Tacon (UH) def. Fernandez-Hanna 6-3, 4-6, 6-2
- Baek-Gensler (UH) def. Closs-Landry 6-4, 6-4
- Burgess-Libera (UH) def. Nutt-Akagi 6-3, 3-6, 6-4

Golf team falls to fifth place

The Texas A&M men's golf team shot an 11-over-par 299 to drop from first to fifth place in Thursday's second round of the All-America Intercollegiate tournament, being held at Bear Creek in Houston.

Danny Briggs and Gary Krueger, who each shot 68 Wednesday to pace the Aggies to a first-place tie with Texas, shot 73 and 76, respectively, Thursday. The 72-hole tournament will continue today and end Saturday.

Texas dropped to fourth place and the Oklahoma State Cowboys took over the top spot with a two-day total of 569.

Texas A&M coach Bob Ellis said he and his players were happy about Wednesday's play, but wet, cold weather caused a drop-off in Thursday's second round. In addition, he said, the tourney will get tougher each day since the courses are lengthened (by moving the tees back) for each round.

The Aggies' individual results and totals thus far in the A&M:

- Danny Briggs 68-73-141
- Gary Krueger 68-76-144
- Paul Oglesby 71-73-144
- David Jones 73-77-150
- Jacky Lee 75-79-154

Other team scores from the A&M:

1. Oklahoma State, 569
2. Houston, 574
3. Oral Roberts, 575
4. Texas, 576
5. Texas A&M, 579
6. Arizona, 587
7. Lamar, 590

8. Colorado, 593
9. Sam Houston State, 595
10. Missouri, 597
11. Texas-El Paso, 598
12. TCU, 599

Track squads at Texas Relays

The men's and women's track teams will be in Austin today Saturday for the 56th Texas Relays, featuring college, junior college, women's, high school and open club divisions.

About 750 athletes representing 64 universities and colleges will compete in the 1983 Texas Relays, which are being held by the University of Texas at Memorial Stadium. Preliminary and running events begin this morning at 9 a.m. and continue this afternoon at 2:30. The finals begin at 6:30 p.m.

On Saturday, running events begin at 10 a.m., with final field and running events beginning at noon.

Aggie men's coach Charles Thomas is the referee for the event. Thomas was a triple jumper sprinter in the 1950s and in 1981 was inducted into UT's track Hall of Honor. During his 25 seasons as Aggies coach, A&M finished lower than third in Southwest Conference meets times. On the other hand, they've won four times, three titles coming in the last five seasons.

A&M sailboat race team to compete in weekend regatta

The Texas A&M Sailboat Racing Team hasn't gained much recognition around the University campus, but that's not stopping its members from competing nearly every weekend in various events around the state.

On Saturday, the Aggies will sail in a match racing regatta against Rice, Baylor, A&M-Galveston and Lamar at the Port Arthur Yacht Club. Last weekend, Texas A&M finished third among five teams in a team racing competition held at Tulane. Earlier in the semester, the Aggies finished second in the Frozen Butt Regatta, hosted by Rice and featuring Texas, SMU, Baylor, Rice, Tulane and A&M-Galveston.

In addition to the men's team, four women on the A&M team will be at Baylor's Southeastern Interscholastic Sailing Association elimination competition that will determine the representative for the national regatta.

The Sailboat Racing Team, which has 18 active members, meets every Tuesday at 7 p.m. in 109 Military Science Building. The team is affiliated with the Texas A&M Sailing Club.

collect $3,500 for the team to purchase new equipment.

In Saturday's event, the competition will match A&M from one school against A&M from another school, with the Aggie boat being required to sail around a sequence of buoys in the correct order. The regatta will be a round robin in which team members will switch boats after each round in order to ensure equal competition.

"I think if both of us (A&M and Utah State) play it should be a good game watch. Texas A&M, I've felt, has always been a strong team, and they'll give you a good game down to the wire."

And then there's the pitching matchup between Ramm, Texas A&M coach Bob Brock knows Ramm, and Searle knows Stoll. How do the two compare?

"I feel like they're both rights all-America pitchers well as people," Searle said. "And I've always enjoyed watching both of them pitch. I think it's going to be a good duel."

Searle also praised the Aggie's second-line pitcher Julia Ranheim, saying her performance in the shadow of Ramm made her underrated.

Utah State is now 12-6-1 this season, and they've had few more games rained out. Searle would like to have a few more games. But the coach said her team is right on schedule considering the missed games.

"We have beat some good national teams, but I feel like pool play in the tournament give us more experience," Searle said. "It will give us games that we've missed with the out games, and that's what looking forward to more anything."
