United Press International
 AKRON, Ohio—An $85,000 out-of-court settlement was announced Monday in a $20.5 million libel, slander and invasion-of-privacy suit against ABC-TV, reporter Geraldo Rivera and the network's local affiliates.
 Former Summit County Democratic Chairman Robert

Blakemore and his wife Joanne brought the suit in Common Pleas Court.

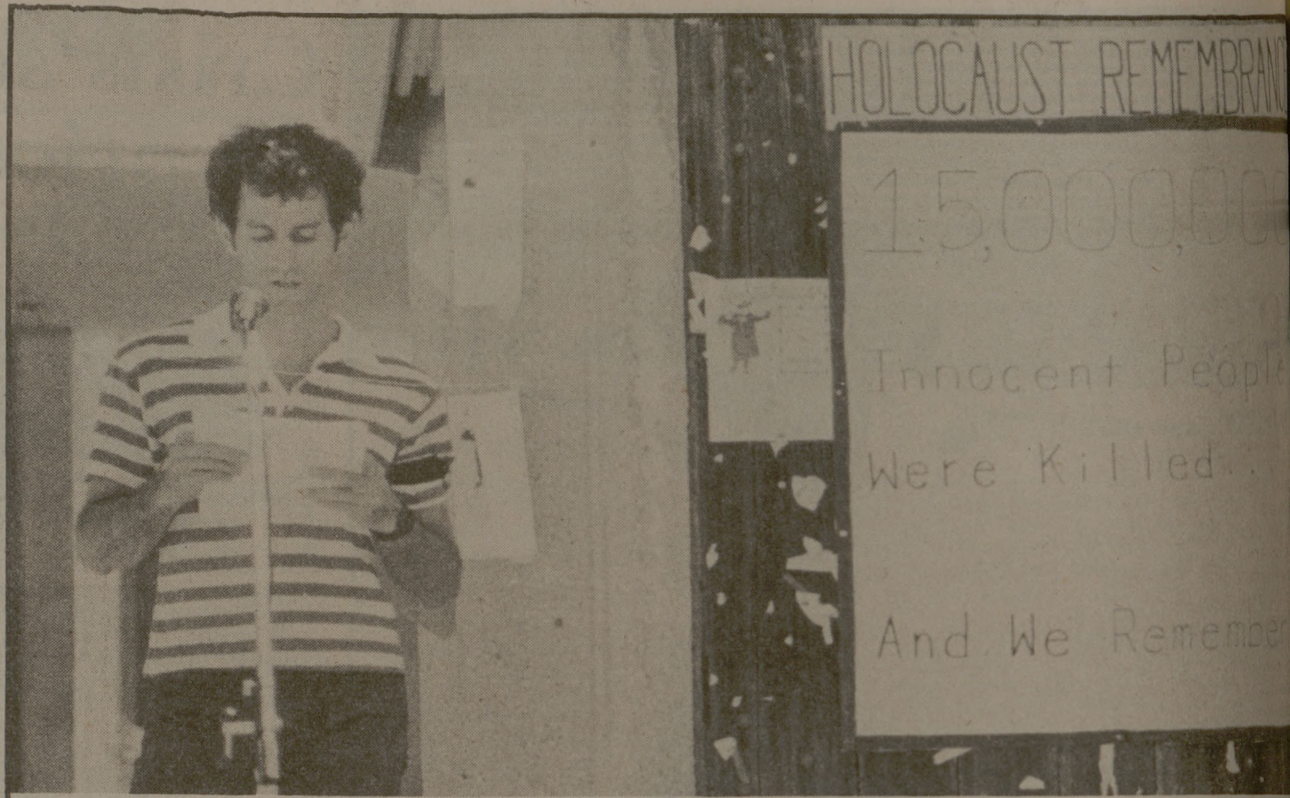

The suit contended statements about the Blakemores in a 1980 "20/20" television news show about ex-Summit County Probate Judge James V. Barbuti were false and in reckless disregard of the public record.

Lawyers want deportation

Nazi accused of crimes

United Press International
 CLEVELAND — An immigration judge will be asked to deport accused Nazi guard John Demjanjuk, who allegedly helped operate a concentration camp gas chamber that sent 1 million Jews to their deaths.

Government attorneys planned Monday to ask immigration administrative law Judge Adolph Angelilli to deport Demjanjuk — allegedly known as

"Ivan the Terrible."

"We will ask the judge to deport him," said Bruce Einhorn, a U.S. assistant attorney specializing in prosecution of accused war criminals.

The 63-year-old autoworker, who lives in the Cleveland suburb of Seven Hills, has repeatedly denied that he took part in war crimes, but in 1981 U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti denaturalized Demjanjuk after finding that Demjanjuk lied on his citizenship papers by concealing his Nazi past.

To bolster its case, Einhorn said the government will cite Battisti's denaturalization of Demjanjuk, and the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals and the U.S. Supreme Court's affirmation of Battisti's ruling.

Demjanjuk's attorney, Mark O'Connor of Buffalo, N.Y., declined to comment prior to the hearing.

Five survivors of the Nazi death camp, from Europe, Israel, America told the detail of the horror "Final Solution" to Jews and of Demjanjuk.

"The biggest denigrator of himself in was called Ivan," said O'Connor who identified from a 1951 visa photo

Mondale retained favored status

United Press International
 SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — Former Vice President Walter Mondale kept his front runner status by finishing first in a straw ballot at the weekend Massachusetts Democratic Convention. Sen. Alan Cranston of California was a surprising second.

Mondale got 1,013 votes, or 29.3 percent of the 3,453 delegates voting. Mondale's vote probably would have been considerably higher but 884 delegates — 25.6 percent — voted simply for "jobs."

Mondale, receiving the endorsement of Gov. J. Joseph Garrahy in Rhode Island Sunday, said he was "very encouraged" by the non-binding Massachusetts voting.

But Mondale downplayed the significance. "I'm not much interested in horse races. I think the important issues will be debated in 1984," he said.

Cranston got 582 votes or 16.9 percent. It was distant second but he nevertheless edged Sen. John Glenn of Ohio, who was third with 528 votes or 15.3 percent.

"I am delighted with the results," Cranston told cheering campaign workers. "We came here to show I am one of the top two or three candidates for the Democratic nomination."

Glenn campaigned at a New Hampshire Democratic Committee meeting Sunday, but did not mention the straw vote results. Aide Greg Schneiders said the poll "means we have some catching up to do."

Mondale's campaigner Bob Beckel showed Cranston had good organizational skills and worked hard. But this was the T. Mondale campaign front runner and was the M.

Sen. Gary Hart finished a distant second with 362 votes or 10.5 percent. Tom believed he would bring the liberal state he likes. Sen. George McGovern like identical campaign strategy in 1972.

Sen. Fritz Hollings Carolina, who got too late to speak other candidates, got which was still more than who voted for Reubin Askew — $5,500 on a "Southern cue" for the delegates.

Meanwhile, the Poll showed Mondale heavy favorite among crats nationwide, was back in second. Mondale percent of Democratic.

Former California Edmund G. Brown third choice with 6 percent followed by former Sen. McGovern of South Dakota 4 percent and Cranston percent.

A massive organization by the state AFL-CIO Massachusetts Teachers Association urged delegates "jobs" on their president lot instead of voting candidate.
