Austin attorney gets bail case

United Press International
AUSTIN — A state court judge Monday appointed one of Austin's top criminal defense lawyers to represent former Texas Supreme Court Justice Donald Yarbrough in his bail jumping case.

Yarbrough, his hair unkempt and needing a shave, made two brief courtroom appearances Monday and is scheduled to appear in court again next Monday.

Yarbrough, 41, who was clad in a green prison uniform, declined to comment to reporters as he was led in and out of the Travis County Courthouse.

His court-appointed lawyer, Charles Burton, said Yarbrough signed an affidavit, affirming to District Judge Mace Thurman Jr. that he could not afford to hire a lawyer.

Burton said he met briefly with Yarbrough, but reached no decision on how the case will be handled.

Yarbrough was extradited March 18 from the Caribbean island nation of St. Vincent to Austin after 19 months as a fugitive.

He was sent immediately to Huntsville to begin serving his five-year sentence for a 1978 perjury conviction.

A second indictment charging Yarbrough with bail jumping was returned last week by a grand jury to correct the misspelling of his name in the original indictment.

He was convicted of lying to a grand jury that was investigating charges that he planned to have a Victoria banker killed to keep him from testifying in civil lawsuits regarding Yarbrough's financial dealings.

Minorities fight forced busing

United Press International
DALLAS — The 12-year Dallas school desegregation case enters yet another round this week with scheduled debate before the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on a proposal to allow minority students to drop out of court-ordered busing.

Dallas federal judge Barefoot Sanders' 1982 desegregation order, which rejected the neighborhood option plan.

During the 1981 trial that led to Sanders' order, several minority parents testified they wanted to end busing and return their children to schools in their neighborhoods.

Sanders' order has 11,000 children — mostly in grades 4 through 8 — transported for desegregation purposes.

School board lawyers maintain minority students should have the right to attend neighborhood schools, if their parents so choose, irrespective of busing plans.

Lawyers for the original plaintiffs and the NAACP contended the so-called "minority neighborhood option plan" would aggravate segregation in a district where 89 out of 171 schools are already primarily minority.

Debate on the plan is scheduled for Wednesday before the New Orleans-based 5th Circuit. The school board is appealing

In addition to the school board and minorities, parents of children in primarily white north and east Dallas have filed as intervenors in the case.

It is the third time the case has gone to the 5th Circuit. Both times previously — during the 1970s — the desegregation order has been sent back to U.S. District Court in Dallas for revisions.

UAW readies for labor deal

United Press International
DETROIT — The United Auto Workers hopes to have an outline of a labor agreement with General Motors Corp. and Toyota by its May 15 convention in Dallas, a trade publication reported Monday.

GM and Toyota have announced plans to jointly build subcompacts at GM's vacant assembly plant in Fremont, Calif. The venture is expected to employ about 3,000 workers.

Automotive News quoted a union spokesman as saying the proposed agreement will be only a framework for a possible agreement if and when the Federal Trade Commission approves the deal.

FTC Chairman James C. Miller III said in Detroit last week the commission should rule on the proposed joint venture in about 60 days.

The union has said it will be the bargaining agent for those workers, a contention that is supported by GM. However, Toyota officials have said they want to have a "free hand" in hiring at Fremont.

The venture is contingent upon the negotiation of a labor agreement. But it has not been made clear by any of the parties involved whether laid-off Fremont workers will have first recall rights at the plant.

Sailors schedule survivors' reunion

United Press International
ARLINGTON — For only the second time in 38 years, surviving sailors assigned to the USS Little, a destroyer which sank in one of the final battles of World War II, will compare recollections of the kamikaze attacks that split their ship and took 30 lives.

and renewing acquaintances, participants will hear Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, a former Navy enlisted man, give a speech Saturday evening.

As many as 50 former sailors are expected for the three day event.

Edward M. Anderson, a former torpedo officer aboard the ship recalls the precision with which the swarm of Japanese fighter planes made kamikaze runs at the USS Little which, along with three other ships, was on radar picket duty 70 miles west of Okinawa.

Car crash wrecks store, DWI filed

United Press International
DUMAS — Police Monday arraigned Joe Rangel, 28, of Stratford on drunk driving charges in a crash between a car and a store in which the car won.

Investigators said the driver of the car had just bought gas at the Allsup's West drive-in grocery at about 8:30 p.m. Sunday when he made a complete turn, gunned his engine, and rammed into the store.

Dumas detective Buddy Black said investigators reported merchandise displays pushed clear to the back of the store, and rubber marks on the floor where the wheels spun. The car sustained only minor damage.

The driver then got out of the car and told the 16-year-old manager of the store, who was on his first night on the job, to call the police. He then waited at the scene until officers arrived, Black said.
