Board

Transfer of the $2.6 million will leave $4.5 million in the lender's allowance fund for administration of the student loan program in 1984-85. An amendment to senior colleges and universities rules, approved by the board, will require institutions to submit small class justifications to the board only if small classes constitute more than 1 percent of the institution's total semester credit hours.

A small class is an undergraduate class with less than ten students or a graduate class with less than five students. Previous regulations required universities to report to the board all small classes offered, except in the classes and justifications for offering the course.

The reports have been by the Governor's Office, Budget and Planning Board, Legislative Budget Board, make funding recommendations for public colleges and universities.

Group pleads valley's case

Red River money sought

WASHINGTON — Members of the Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas congressional delegations joined together Friday to seek an additional $62 million for Army Corps of Engineer projects in the Red River Valley.

"The Red River is one of the few remaining undeveloped major river basins left in our country," the group said, "and we are concerned that recent funding levels for projects in the valley have not been adequate to efficiently address the need."

In letters to the chairmen of the House and Senate appropriations committees, the group asked for funding for a water development bill so work could be accelerated on the Red River Navigation project and bank stabilization efforts could be expanded along the river.

The group wants to make sure that there are no more slowdowns in the construction of five locks and dams and other improvements designed to allow barge traffic to once again travel between the inland city of Shreveport, La., and the Mississippi River.

The project was authorized in 1965 and initial funding began in 1973. A total of $430.9 million in federal funding has been allocated so far for the project estimated to cost $1.461 billion.

The delegation asked that appropriations be increased $33.5 million for the navigation project, saying it was originally scheduled for completion in the mid-1980s but "may not be completed until the year 2000" unless funding is increased.

"Extensive benefits of the navigation project in the areas of flood control, bank protection, reduced sedimentation, water supply, fish and wildlife, and valley-wide developments will result from completion of the waterway," the group's letters said.

"The area encompassing the Red River Basin is economically depressed and suffers chronically from low employment. Major industries have not developed in the basin because of a lack of navigation facilities and the uncertainty of river bank stability," they said.

The group also requested $28.8 million for levee and bank stabilization in the Red River Valley to "preserve the desirable alignment of the Red River in addition to preventing the destruction of valuable property and improvements."

"If this work is not done now," the letters said, "far greater expenditures will be required in the future to accomplish the same ends."

The group also asked that the Corps be directed to provide up to $3.5 million to reimburse local funding of channel improvements on Bayou Bodcau near Shreveport. Federal funding was canceled in 1976 but the group said "Congress has since determined that this project should go forward as originally planned."

Joining in the request for additional funding from Texas were Sens. John Tower, R, and Lloyd Bentsen, D, and Democratic Reps. Sam Hall Jr. and Jack Hightower.

Also joining the request were 10 senators from Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma, all Democrats.

1983 Canoe Race Results

On Saturday, April 23, seventeen teams manned canoes to take on a seven mile stretch of the Brazos River. The IM REC Sports Staff knew at the start that the race would be interesting. As the gun went off beginning the race two canoes immediately overturned. For those participants who knew what they were doing — congratulations for a fine race. For those who did not know what they were doing we're glad they had so much fun!

The overall winner for the race was the Corec team, Hall Griffin and Ellen Haecker. Their time of 1:12:11 beat the previous year's record of 1:27:55. Griffin and Haecker held last year's record as well.
