Boy helps patient

United Press International
ABILENE — A 12-year-old boy with a transplanted liver and a very large heart says he feels confident about raising $140,000 for a baby girl who will die within a month without a similar operation.

"I've done it for others," said Lance Ray, who flew to Abilene from his home in Beaumont to spearhead the fund drive for 8-month-old Ashley Bailey of Abilene. "And every summer on June 6 through 12 I go around my school and collect money for the Children's Liver Association."

The blond-haired, freckle-faced boy proudly pulled up his shirt and showed reporters the scar from his operation.

"The transplant operation was not painful," he said. "It just feels good to be alive."

Doctors at a Minnesota hospital Wednesday completed tests on the infant, who suffers from a liver disease that could kill her within a month if she does not receive a transplant.

Betty Bradberry of the Children's Liver Association said because the girl is so young, the association has not had time to raise the $140,000 required by University of Minnesota Hospital for the operation.

"The hospital cannot bear the tremendous financial burden without endangering its entire liver transplant program," Bradberry said.

The sixth-grader, who got a new liver in an operation in Denver in February 1980 said he now leads a normal life, including extra-curricular activities.

"Next year, I plan to play football," he said.

By Wednesday night, the campaign had gathered $20,570 to Ashley's fund at First State Bank in Abilene.

"I understand that this is an expensive operation, and if we don't get the money they (the hospital) can't do their research," said Bailey, a truck driver. "We're on our knees praying and crying, hoping to save our child."

Ashley's attending physician has agreed to reduce her fee, but that still leaves $140,000 the hospital requires if the operation is to be performed, Bailey said.

Over 1,000 attend officer's funeral

United Press International
DALLAS — More than 1,000 people attended the funeral for the patrolman Ronald Baker, who was gunned down in an apartment complex parking lot.

Authorities said the death of Baker, 24, has brought widespread outpouring of public sympathy for his widow who is 7 months pregnant with the couple's second child.

A funeral attended by more than 1,000 friends, fellow officers and city employees was held Wednesday at Pleasant Mound Methodist Church. Baker was accorded full honors mounted several police departments in the area, police spokesman Bob Shaw said.

A physically disabled Vietnam veteran came to the station where he didn't have much but he offered a $20 bill, and insisted it be forwarded to the officer's widow, Shaw said.

"A lady from New York City here for a fashion show called to find out where she could send her donation to the Baker Memorial Fund.

"Several groups and organizations have set up a memorial fund for Baker. The public sympathy has been incredible. It is because of the vicious way he was killed, his youth and his pregnant wife."

Police said Wednesday hair and blood samples on a van found abandoned in East Texas near Palestine linked it to the murder scene.

Baker was gunned down at close range Monday in an apartment complex parking lot in Pleasant Grove. His body was run over twice by a van, police said.

Four people were arrested for investigation in the shooting Monday night, but they were all released.

OPEN HOUSE FOR STUDENTS, THEIR PARENTS, AND ALUMNI.

4 TO 6 DAILY—12 TO 6 WEEKENDS

Just two minutes from the university, we're building a new neighborhood for Texas A&M students, their parents and alumni. It's called Mill Creek and it's priced in the $40s. In University Park, one of the area's newest subdivisions, Mill Creek is close enough to the campus for anyone to walk or bike. Mill Creek is nestled next to woods and a College Station park, convenient to all major thoroughfares, yet just away from the hustle and bustle of the main campus.

Mill Creek was planned for busy student life. In every home, we've included amenities to make student life easier and to keep your Mill Creek home a valuable investment.

But, we've remembered to keep living at Mill Creek a lot of fun. Lofts in every home. Skylights or clerestory windows let in lots of light. Cathedral ceilings, spacious living/dining areas and plenty of storage space. Outside, you'll enjoy the pool and barbecue pits. Each home has a patio. Mill Creek is professionally managed, so someone else worries about taking care of it all. Why not visit Mill Creek? We can tell you about our favorable financing, the tax advantages of ownership, our quality of design and construction and much more. Best of all, you can see for yourself how you can be at college and still be right at home.

Priced from the 40's.
