Plitt Cinema I&II

Breathless:

Richard Gere and French newcomer Valerie Kaprisky star in this well-done remake of the Jean-Luc Godard 1959 minor classic. Rated R.

E.T. The Extraterrestrial:

Rated PG.

Chained Heat:

Rated R.

Manor East

Return of the Jedi:

Starts today. Has it already been three years since the last one? How time flies when you're waiting for the latest sequel in the "Star Wars" saga. This is the final installment in George Lucas' trilogy, and it should answer a lot of questions left unanswered in the first segments. According to some leaked information, we will learn the identity of Luke's father and will find out that Luke has a long lost sister. In addition, a whole new race of beings, called Ewoks, are introduced. This one boasts more than 940 special effects (Empire had 763). That's more than a video game has. Rated PG.

Man From Snowy River:

See this one before it leaves. Even if you don't like Westerns or the usual "boy grows to manhood" stories, this is still an entertaining movie. Rated PG.

Cheech and Chong's Still Smokin':

Cheech and Chong's latest cinematic effort. Rated R.

Post Oak

Blue Thunder:

Roy Scheider stars as a police helicopter pilot assigned to test an ultra-sophisticated surveillance and attack helicopter in this fast-paced adventure. Rated R.

Doctor Detroit:

Dan Aykroyd stars as a mild-mannered professor who gets mixed up in Detroit's underworld. Rated R.

Flashdance:

Being hailed as the next "Saturday Night Fever," this movie has lots of flash, lots of dancing, but not much plot. Sort of like MTV on the silver screen. Jennifer Beals stars as the welder-by-day, dancer-at-night. Rated R.

Schulman Six

Spacehunter: Adventures in the Forbidden Zone:

Peter Strauss stars as a starship captain who responds to the distress signal of a shipwrecked spacecraft and goes in search of its survivors, three lovely space maidens. In 3-D. Rated PG.

Tootsie:

Dustin Hoffman stars in Sydney Pollack's hilarious comedy about a down-and-out actor who dresses up as a woman to get a job on a soap opera. Rated PG.

Lone Wolf McQuade:

The macho, martial arts films at its worst (or is that best?). Chuck Norris and David Caradine star as two men who must have some good reason for beating up on each other. Rated PG.

Space Raiders

The latest of the "Star Wars" clones. Something about a 10-year-old boy taken 10 million miles into space. The real one is here at last, so skip the clones. Rated PG.

Something Wicked This Way Comes:

Walt Disney is responsible for this version of Ray Bradbury's sci-fi classic. But don't let that fool you, it's scary when Mr. Dark visits Green Town. Stars Jason Robards. Rated PG.

My Tutor:

A clone of the "Private Lessons" vein about a high school student who falls in love with his French tutor. Rated R.

Summer movies: sci-fi, sequels and screwball

by Gary Barker
Battalion Staff

This year, true to form, the summer movie line-up is bright, splashy and, well, many of the movies have this strange number hanging at the end of their titles.

It's sequel time. At least seven of this summer's biggest films are sequels or continuations.

Leading the pack of the summer stampede is "Return of the Jedi," which starts today at Manor East III in Bryan.

The movie completes and should wrap up all the untidy situations left in "The Empire Strikes Back." Produced at a cost of $32.5 million, this one has more scary monsters, more battle scenes and some 940 special effects (compared to 763 for "Empire").

Here's a list of some of the other coming attractions:

Twilight Zone — The Movie. With segments directed by John Landis, Steven Spielberg, Joe Dante and George Miller, this movie promises to be like four separate episodes of Rod Serling's classic show. The movie stars Dan Aykroyd, Albert Brooks, Scatman Crothers, John Lithgow, Vic Morrow (who was killed in an accident during filming) and Kathleen Quinlan.

Superman III. Christopher Reeve, Margot Kidder, Jackie Cooper and director Richard Lester return along with a cast of new villains, including Richard Pryor as a computer genius.

Jaws 3-D. Just when you thought it was safe to eat your popcorn. The great white toothy fellow returns. Stars Dennis Quaid as the son of the original Amity Island sheriff, Roy Scheider.

Smokey is the Bandit Part III. Buckle your seatbelts. This one stars Jackie Gleason as Sheriff Buford T. Justice and as Burt Reynolds, the outlaw. That's right, no Burt. Lots of chase scenes, though.

War Games. Stars Matthew Broderick as a teenage computer whiz who stumbles into the Pentagon's defense computer and almost starts a nuclear war.

The Man with Two Brains. A Steve Martin/Carl Reiner collaboration about a surgeon who falls in love with Kathleen Turner's ("Body Heat") body but has another brain in mind.

Psycho II. Anthony Perkins returns as Hitchcock's classic schizo, Norman Bates. Twenty-two years later, he returns to Bates Motel. Norman is not happy when he finds that the old Bates Motel has been turned into an "adult motel."

Octopussy. The usual James Bond stuff. Roger Moore (not the real thing) stars as 007 and Maud Adams stars as his latest love.

Never Say Never Again. The usual James Bond stuff. Sean Connery (the real thing) stars as 007 and Barbara Carrera stars as his latest love.

Staying Alive. Sylvester "Rocky" Stallone directs John Travolta in the sequel to "Saturday Night Fever." Travolta dances his way onto a Broadway chorus line and the Bee Gees' voices haven't changed yet.

Brainstorm. Stars Natalie Wood (the film was delayed because it was unfinished when she died) and Christopher Walken as a scientist in a laboratory that develops revolutionary sensory technology.

Trading Places. Dan Aykroyd and Eddie Murphy star in this update of the old "Prince and the Pauper" story.

National Lampoon's Vacation. Chevy Chase stars in the last Lampoon venture about a family on a rather comical cross-country trip. With Christie Brinkley as Chase's libido.
