Astros score late to beat Chicago

United Press International
CHICAGO — Terry Puhl got Chicago relief pitcher Bill Campbell right where he wanted him.

Puhl slammed a two-run triple to give the Houston Astros a 9-7 triumph over the Chicago Cubs Monday.

The game was tied 7-7 when Alan Ashby opened the eighth inning with a single and moved to second on a balk. Campbell, 1-2, struck out the next two batters and after going 2-and-0 he intentionally walked Omar Moreno. Puhl followed with his first game-winning hit of the year.

"I wanted him (Campbell) to get the ball up. He was 2-and-0 and had to come to me," Puhl said. "It didn't surprise me that they walked Moreno. They were going for the easy way out."

Bill Buckner's second home run of the game — his fourth in three days — had tied the contest 7-7 in the Cubs' sixth.

Phil Garner's run-scoring single gave the Astros a 1-0 lead in the first. In the bottom of the inning, an error by second baseman Craig Reynolds allowed the Cubs' first run and then RBI singles by Ron Cey and Keith Moreland padded the lead to 3-1.

Buckner homered in the second, but in the fourth, Jose Cruz hit his second homer and an RBI single by Reynolds cut Chicago's lead to 4-3. Lee Durham poked his ninth homer in the Cubs' half, scoring Ryne Sandberg, who doubled, for a 6-3 lead.

In the fifth, the Astros batted around and got RBI singles from Dickie Thon, Ray Knight, Ashby and Reynolds to grab a 7-6 lead and knock out starter Ferguson Jenkins.

"It's been a long time since I had a good performance," said Jenkins, who gave up seven runs and 10 hits in 4 2-3 innings. "I made some bad pitches and the hitters took advantage."

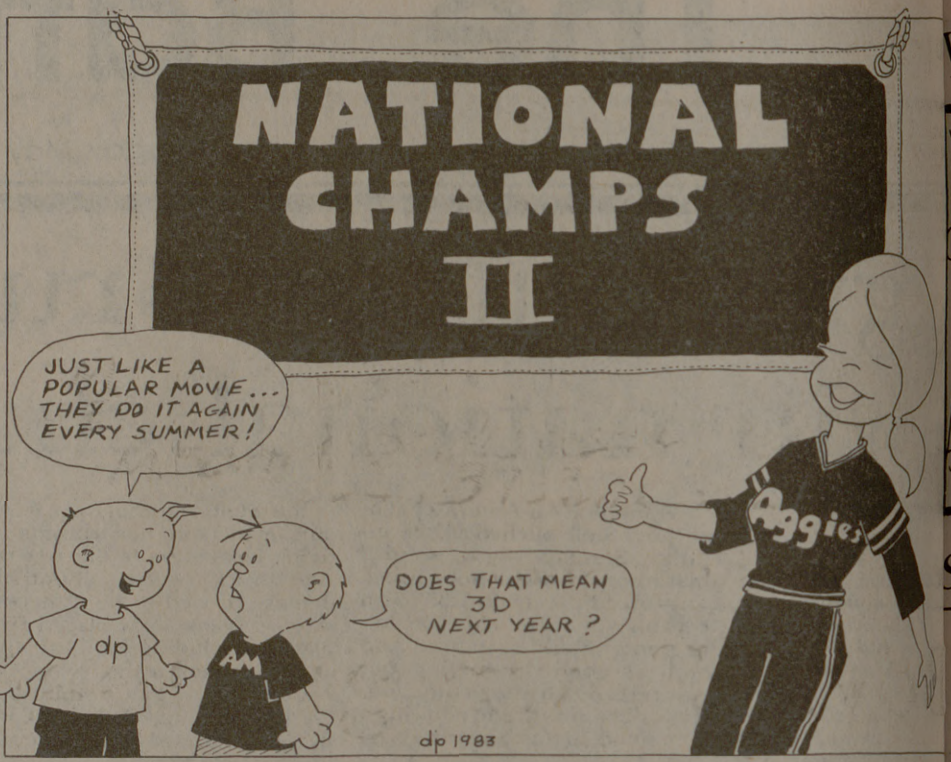

After the game, Cubs Manager Lee Elia blew his top at a local television camera crew. The crew was entering Elia's locker-room office when the manager told them he did not want any cameras inside. The crew, according to Elia, "refused to leave and I moved his (cameraman Dan Brown) shoulder."

"I asked them four or five times to leave but they didn't want to. I pushed him. That was not too professional on my part, but this is my office."

Elia admitted there is no club policy banning cameras, but he said he had the right to keep the crew out.

The confrontation was taped by the crew and televised on the local news. WBBM-TV sportscaster Johnny Morris said Brown had "a sore jaw."

Afterward, Elia said, "This was all blown out of proportion."

Lakers' injury problem may help 76ers win title

United Press International
INGLEWOOD, Calif. — The Philadelphia 76ers have added injury to insult.

Not only are they on the verge tonight of winning their first NBA title since 1967, they have done it so convincingly even the battered Los Angeles Lakers are admitting they have little hope of pulling out a successful defense of their crown.

The Lakers are hurting.

Guard Norm Nixon is questionable for Game 4, with a separated shoulder suffered earlier in the series. Forward Bob McAdoo has aggravated the leg injury that kept him from jumping normally in Sunday's 111-94 loss.

On top of it all, the league fined Lakers' Coach Pat Riley $3,000 Monday for comments he made about the officiating in the first two games.

For the 76ers, the debt they have owed their fans since promising "We owe you one" in 1977 after losing to Portland in the championship round, seems about to be paid. Losers to Los Angeles in the finals in 1980 and 1982, the Sixers have pounded the Lakers and threaten to improve on the playoff record of 12-2 Los Angeles set last year.

Philadelphia was 11-1 in Game 4.

"They're doing us part of used to do to other programs," said Riley. "We want to remember this team. We win it as soon as we can we know what can happen."

No team has come from a deficit to win an NBA title since the 1969-70 season. The last team to do so was the 1969-70 Philadelphia 76ers.

Rangers, Royals rained out

United Press International
ARLINGTON — Monday night's scheduled game between the Kansas City Royals and Texas Rangers was postponed because of rain.

The game will be made up Sept. 3 as part of a two-night double-header.

Kansas City is currently in second place in the American League West, four games behind California. The Rangers are in third, 1/2 game behind the Royals.

Dodger reliever battles drug habit

United Press International
LOS ANGELES — Steve Howe, the ace relief pitcher of the Los Angeles Dodgers who was thought to have overcome a drug and alcohol problem over the winter, has been readmitted to a drug rehabilitation center at his own request, the club announced Sunday.

Howe, 25, did not show up for the Dodgers' game with the San Francisco Giants Saturday and later in the day notified the team that he needed help.

In 14 games this season, Howe has not allowed an earned run in 22 1-3 innings and had a 2-1 record with a 1.84 ERA.

Howe's wife gave birth to a son on Sunday and the left-handed pitcher returned to California. He is expected to have a blood test for diabetes but didn't say if he was tested for it and there were reports something was wrong by at the time.

Howe spent time at Meadows Rehabilitation Center in Wickenburg, Ariz., from Dec. 21 through Dec. 28 in treatment for a cocaine and alcohol drinking problem.
