

Rangers lose to Royals

Astros defeat Cubs, 12-10

United Press International
CHICAGO — You would think having 35 RBI would make Houston third baseman Phil Garner happy. But he isn't. The veteran infielder says he feels he has been "very unproductive the last three weeks" despite the fact he has driven in nearly half of the total runs he knocked in last season.

"I've been leaving a lot of men on base lately and when guys such as Omar Moreno, Terry Puhl, and Dickie Thon are getting their hits I'm not getting my job done if I don't get them home," Garner said Tuesday after the Astros beat the Chicago Cubs 12-10.

Garner collected four RBI, three of them in the top of the seventh inning off Cubs reliever Lee Smith.

Garner's game-winning, bases-loaded double, which sealed the Cubs' fourth straight loss, irked Chicago manager Lee Elia.

Elia was especially irritated over the fact Tim Tolman — a .231 hitter — got a pinch-hit homer to tie the score in the seventh and Tony Scott — hitting only .230 — managed a pinch-hit single to help set the stage for Garner's game winner.

"The problem is we're making .280 hitters out of .240 hitters," said Elia. "We'll just have to live with our bullpen and hope it comes around."

The Houston bats reached five Cubs pitchers — including loser Craig Lefferts, 0-3 — for 19 hits.

Alan Ashby's two-run homer in the second off Cubs starter Paul Moskau opened the scoring binge. The Cubs got one run in their half of the second but Garner made it 3-1 with his seventh homer. The Cubs grabbed a 4-3 lead against Houston starter Vern Ruhle in their half of the third as Ryne Sandberg drove in two of his six runs with a double.

The Astros scored four times in the fourth with Terry Puhl's double knocking out Moskau. The Cubs rallied for five runs in the sixth, highlighted by Sandberg's first major league grand slam off reliever Frank LaCorte.

ROYALS 6, RANGERS 5 — At Arlington, the Kansas City Royals scored four runs in the fourth to beat the Rangers, 6-5.

The Rangers barely missed tying the game when Larry Bittner's two-out flyball in the ninth was caught on the warning track in right centerfield.

"I didn't think it was going out," said Ranger catcher Jim Sundberg, who drove in the Rangers first run of the game with a one-out double in the third inning that cut the score to 2-1.

"The ball died a little bit the last few innings. Larry's ball was close, but I could see he didn't get all of it."

Reliever Dan Quisenberry had a feeling the ball would be caught.

"I thought the ball might be caught — by a fan in the seats," said Quisenberry, whose heart-beat returned to normal when Pat Sheridan made a game-ending catch with his back to the wall, preserving the ace reliever's league-leading 12th save.

Bittner, who was batting for Bucky Dent, kicked his batting helmet in frustration. Texas had cut the Royals' lead to 6-5 on Buddy Bell's two-run homer in the eighth.

Rookie left-hander Bud Black recorded his second straight victory for the Royals. Black, 20, who has defeated Texas in his only two starts since being recalled from Omaha early last week, worked the first six innings, yielding five hits and three runs.

Jack Pardee hired as Gamblers' head coach

United Press International
HOUSTON — Former Chicago Bears and Washington Redskins head coach Jack Pardee, who knows how to whip ragtag outfits into shape, is the new head coach of the United States Football League Houston Gamblers.

Pardee, 47, the hard-nosed former player for Texas A&M and the Los Angeles Rams, ended a one-year hiatus from the game Tuesday. Leaving the security of West Texas, he acknowledged winning is not enough these days.

"You people (the media) have made it essential to entertain. Used to it was enough just to win. But now there's the entertainment factor," he said.

Gamblers general managing partner Jerry Argovitz said Pardee signed a five-year contract and took the job with the understanding the Gamblers would live up their name.

"When we sat down to talk about the philosophy of this football team," Argovitz said, "I told him as a fan I would rather go to a football game and see a game that was 45 to 42, even if my team lost."

Pardee's teams in the past — the Florida Blazers of the defunct World Football League, the Bears and the Redskins — were more adept at winning than lighting up the scoreboard. Pardee lasted no more than three years with any team.

But he turned each team around — at least in the win column.

The Florida team was 14-6 in its only year, 1974. The Bears improved under Pardee from 4-10 in 1975 to 9-5 in 1977. Hired away by Redskins' owner Edward Bennett Williams, Pardee directed his first two Washington teams to 8-8 and 10-6 marks. But under new ownership in 1980 and suffering through a

6-10 record, the Redskins

Pardee. "I never again want to coaching situation where one is between me and the er," Pardee said of the press that developed when Jack Cooke took over the Redskins and brought in his own management people.

He said he feels secure the Gamblers because "good working relations with Argovitz." "This is a pleasure for me. I'm excited getting back into football," he said.

Pardee said he had to after the Redskins' management and after coaching offense for the San Diego Chargers in 1981 that he coached without football.

He said he passed up coaching three USFL teams this season and was disappointed several weeks ago. Argovitz came calling a

Jack Dempsey dies at 87

United Press International
NEW YORK — To his fans, the legendary Jack Dempsey was a "champ" and a "gentleman" to the end.

The former heavyweight champion, 87, died Tuesday. "I used to call him 'Champ,'" said the owner of Louise Jr.'s, an Italian restaurant down the block from Dempsey's apartment. The restaurant was Dempsey's favorite neighborhood eatery.

"He was a gentleman to the end," said the restaurant owner, who asked to be identified only as Paul. "He looked all the time in good shape, still that beautiful body. He's a legend."

At Danny Boy's bar around the corner, Bill McGowan, retired captain of Manhattan South detectives, remembered Dempsey "for his ferociousness as a fighter. He was the one with the killer instinct."

McGowan said he would sit at the corner of the bar and see Dempsey and an aide walk by on Second Ave. Sometimes, he would go out to greet "Mr. Dempsey."

"He was a champ. The kid that ever grew up, Babe Ruth and Jack Dempsey," he said.

A friend and admirer of Dempsey's wife, Pauline, said Dempsey's wife, Pauline, "used to make him do exercises, you know with the rolling pin at home. He was a real athlete."

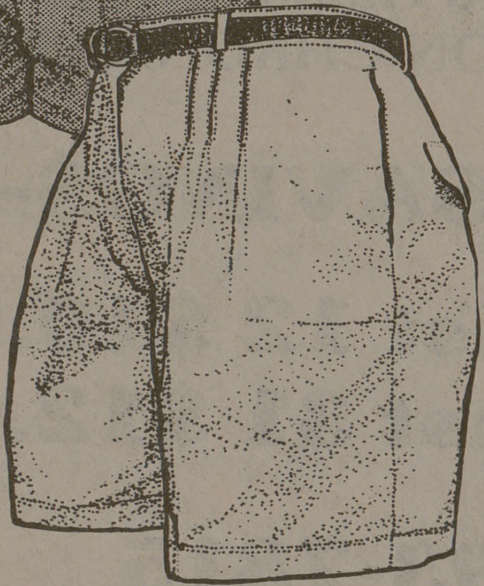

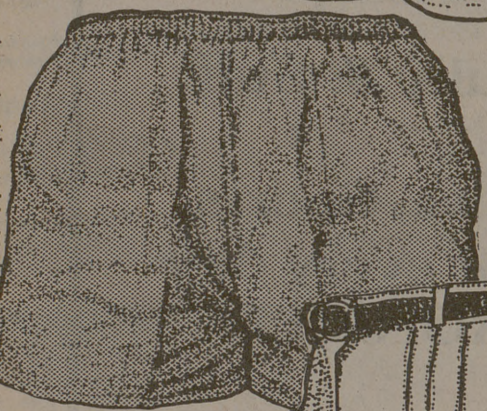

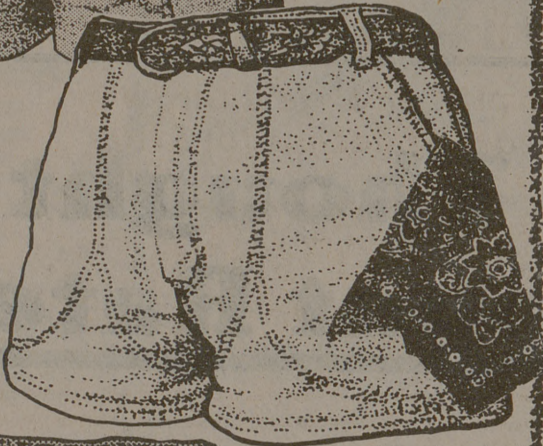

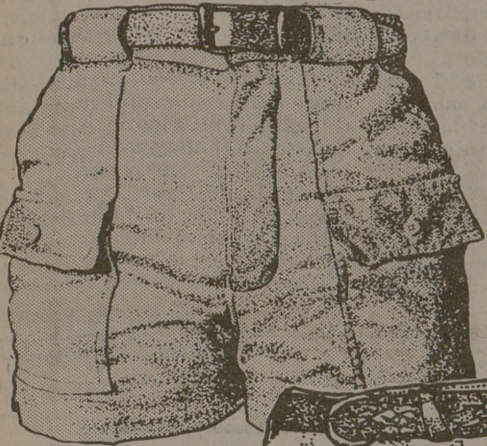

The former champion quipped the restaurant once a week until the last year of his life, sometimes with groups of friends, Pauline. Then he came less often, accompanied by his wife.

"He was walking with a little bit, but he was nice," Paul said.
