Auckland model wins title

United Press International ST. LOUIS — Miss New Zealand, 19, the daughter of a retired plumber and a housewife, was crowned the 1983 Miss Universe before an audience of 600 million television viewers in 50 countries, edging out Miss USA who came in second.

Lorraine Elizabeth Downes, a hazel-eyed model, is from the seaport of Auckland in New Zealand, an island that sits southeast across the Tasman Sea from Australia.

"I've been watching Miss Universe since I was about 8 years old," said the blond. "I can't believe I'm here in it."

Senator opposes Pentagon plan

WASHINGTON — A Senate sponsor of legislation to set up an independent weapons testing office at the Pentagon says he is not satisfied with concessions being offered by Defense De-

"The reforms apparently are being offered as an alternative to legislation designed to set up an independent testing office, and that is not acceptable to me, William Roth Jr., R-Del., said Monday.

The changes in operational testing were outlined in a letter from Dr. Richard DeLauer, the Pentagon's research chief, to Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee. DeLauer reiterated his opposition to an independent office.

A copy of the letter was provided to Roth, chairman of the Governmental Affairs Committee, which found last month at least $33 billion worth of possibly ineffective and unreliable Congress, and the inclusion weapons systems had been the operational testing man tested inadequately.

OSHA to extend exemptions plan

United Press International
WASHINGTON — The Labor Department Tuesday extended until Jan. 1 an experimental program exempting 835,000 companies in seven states from regular inspections by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. The special action, started a year ago, covers work places employing 12.7 million workers in Texas, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi,

It was originally scheduled to expire last January but was extended initially to July 12.

Assistant Labor Secretary Thorne Auchter said the experiment is "worth continuing while we address the possibility of expanding the program nation-

"As we had hoped, the approach has generated increased interest in our free, onsite consultation program," Au-chter said. Under the program, that undergo the consultation covering both safety and he correct all identified hazards and establish maintain an effective safet health program are exem one year from general school OSHA inspections.

OSHA continues during period to respond to wo compalints and conducting gations of serious accidents

"The real plus is that ployers who request the prehensive consultations an ducing serious hazards four their work places follow these visits," Auchter said.

"That lowers the risk of in or illness for workers at the ployer's own initiative, than at the prod of a citation penalty resulting from OSHA inspection," Aud
