'Early-bird' Orioles romps past Kansas City; Texas falls to Chicago in AL

United Press International
Taking a page from Ben Franklin, the Baltimore Orioles have become the early-Birds of the American League East. By scoring their runs early, they've now caught the worm in seven straight games.

John Lowenstein went 4-for-4 and Cal Ripken and Ken Singleton homered Tuesday night to lead a 15-hit Oriole attack that gave Baltimore its seventh straight victory, a 12-4 decision over the Royals at Kansas City.

"It's kind of nice to start with a run," said Baltimore manager Joe Altobelli, whose team got three, not just one, in the first inning off loser Eric Rasmussen, 2-3.

Ripken extended his hitting streak to nine games, during which he got 18-for-41. Singleton knocked in four runs and Lowenstein raised his season average against Kansas City to .625 with a single, two doubles and a triple, to help Storm Davis improve to 11-5.

After the Royals cut the lead to 3-1 on Willie Aikens' 15th homer, in the second, Ripken opened the third by hitting his 21st homer of the year. Baltimore added another run in the inning and knocked out Rasmussen on Rich Dauer's sacrifice fly.

Singleton made the score 7-1 with a two-run homer, his 16th homer, to center in the fifth.

In the seventh, John Lowenstein tripled and scored on Singleton's single for an 8-3 lead.

Baltimore scored four in the ninth. Dauer delivered a bases-loaded single, Todd Cruz followed with a run-scoring double, and Rick Dempsey lifted a sacrifice fly.

Elsewhere in the AL Tuesday night, Detroit edged Minnesota 4-3, Boston beat Toronto 5-4 in 12 innings, Chicago shut out Texas 5-0, California topped Cleveland 10-6, Milwaukee defeated Seattle 3-2 and New York downed Oakland 8-5.

In the National League, it was Philadelphia 6-5, San Diego 0-7, in a double-header; New York 3-1, Los Angeles 2-2 in another double-header; San Francisco 13, Montreal 2; Pittsburgh 5, Cincinnati 3; Chicago 9, Atlanta 6, and Houston 3, St. Louis 1.

Harold Baines added a shot to power the White Sox their fourth straight victory.

Tigers 4, Twins 3

Red Sox 5, Blue Jays 3

At Toronto, Jim Rice hit his 21st homer of the season in the 12th inning to lift the Sox. John Henry Johnson got the victory, but needed help from Mark Clemons to earn his fourth save.

Angels 10, Indians 1
At Anaheim, California, Cincos had a three-run attack to lead the Angels to a 10-1 victory over the Indians.

Brewers 3, Mariners 1
