First meeting tonight for Off-Campus Aggies

Off-Campus Aggies, a student organization for Aggies who live off campus, will hold its first meeting at 6:30 tonight in 601 Rudder Tower.

OCA president, Kevin Goodwin, said Monday that positions are open for directors, committee chairmen and committee members, so the first meeting would be an organizational one.

In the past, the OCA has started with between 500 to 600 members. According to Goodwin, by the end of the spring semester the group is usually down to about 30 to 40 active members.

"OCA is pushing for student involvement this year," he said.

OCA has tentative plans for various activities this fall to keep interest and membership high, Goodwin said. The plans are not "carved in stone," he said, but a street dance and chili cook-off are among the possibilities.
