

19-year-old to face Lendl

Arias makes Open semis

United Press International
NEW YORK — Given the whimsicality of impetuous youth, there is reason to understand why Jimmy Arias insists on doing things the hard way.

However, he proved he wants to go about his business, and thus is one of only four men still alive in the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

 Arias, at 19 years and three weeks, became the youngest man of the Open era to make it into the semifinals, and he did it on a night when he was beginning to believe he had no chance to survive.
 For the second straight match, Arias was forced to carry the fight to a fifth set, and for the second time he persevered, pulling out one of the great victories of his young career Thursday night with a 7-6, 4-6, 6-3, 1-6, 7-5 decision over French Open champion Yannick Noah.

His reward is a date against Ivan Lendl in the semifinals Saturday, with defending champion Jimmy Connors facing Bill Scanlon in the other semi.

Lendl, four years older than Arias, can do without the heroics, thank you. He'll take his wins as easy as they can come, and Thursday afternoon he polished off Noah's predecessor as French champion, Mats Wilander, 6-4, 6-4, 7-6 (7-4). In five matches, Lendl has yet to drop a set, and prior to Wilander only one opponent had been able to take more than two games in a set.
 The women's finalists will be decided today when No. 1 Martina Navratilova faces No. 5 Pam Shriver and defending champion Chris Evert Lloyd, seeded second, plays No. 14 Jo Durie.

The day's program was scheduled to start at 10:30 a.m. EDT with the men's doubles final sending John McEnroe and Peter Fleming against Fritz Buehning and Van Winitsky.

Arias, at 5-9 and 145 pounds, looked like he would be blown off the court by the acrobatic and powerful Noah, managing only a single point in the first three games and falling behind 4-1.

But Arias, putting Noah on the defensive with some excellent passing shots and a lethal forehand, managed a service break in the ninth game of the opening set and won the resulting tie-break 7-4.

JIBOP!

Announcing:
 * THE JACK IN THE BOX OPPORTUNITY PROGRAM.

Do You Have What It Takes To Run A Million Dollar Business?

In case you haven't noticed, Jack In the Box Restaurants are growing... in Texas... and all around. We're taking off in exciting new directions that are paying off big, for us and our people. At the JIBOP! booth in the Memorial Student Center Ballrooms during P.C.P.A. day, you can find out how we grew from a single car-hop drive-in into a multi-million dollar corporation. How we rely on our managers and support their efforts in the organization. How we even build our corporate management from the ranks of our Unit managers. In short, how we've become one of the most profitable companies in the fast-food business. More importantly, you'll find out how you too can become a part of this incredible success story.

What's In It For You

Jack In The Box offers a 45-hour work week, with the opportunity to go as far as you want, as fast as you can. All our stores in Texas are company owned, not franchised. You can have a better job, and a better future with the opportunity to take part in one of the restaurant industry's most comprehensive, state of the art management training programs. (nearly all of our top level operations executives have come in through management training!)

Big Time Benefits

Jack In The Box is part of Ralston Purina, one of the largest corporations in America. And upon qualification you'll be eligible to participate in a benefits package that includes: medical, dental and hospitalization, group life insurance, accident insurance, long-term disability, retirement program, paid vacation, and our new Savings and Investment Plan and Employee Stock Ownership Plan. (Whew! That's a mouthful!)

Can You Qualify?

Jack In The Box Restaurants are looking for a variety of very special people. If you have retail/restaurant experience, preferably with 2+ years college... or if you are a recent college graduate... JIBOP! is for you. Above all, we're looking for high-energy people who want to succeed in business by really trying! Come see for yourself, there really is no comparison.

Jack In The Box is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

Chisox outslug Angels; Astros clip Padres, 3-2

United Press International
 Not even The Waltons were as comfortable at home as the Chicago White Sox.

If there is a Nirvana, then Comiskey Park has been it for the White Sox this year.

Chicago stretched their home winning streak to 10 games Thursday night by defeating the California Angels, 8-5, on the strength of back-to-back home runs by Greg Luzinski and Harold Baines in a five-run third inning.

The triumph reduced the White Sox' magic number to nine for clinching the American League West.

Chicago took a 3-0 lead in the first when Ron Kittle hit a two-run single and then pulled off a double steal with Greg Walker, who stole home.

The Angels cut the lead to 3-1 on an RBI single by Doug DeCinces in the third, but the White Sox bounced back with five runs in their half of the inning. Carlton Fisk singled, extending his hitting streak to 12 games, and Baines followed with his 14th homer to make it 5-1. Luzinski followed with his 28th homer that knocked out starter Mike Witt, 7-12. Steve Brown relieved and walked Walker, who scored on Vance Law's double. Scott Fletcher's single scored Law to make it 8-1.

Elsewhere in the AL, New York nipped Milwaukee 6-5. In National League games, Los Angeles downed Cincinnati 5-2, Houston edged San Diego 3-2 in 10 innings and Atlanta ousted San Francisco 12-9.

ASTROS 3, PADRES 2 — San Diego, pinch hitter DeWilling doubled home DeBjorkman from first base in the 10th to spark the Astros.

DODGERS 5, REDS 2 — Los Angeles, Mike Marshall's three-run homer in the fourth. Bob Welch scattered four over eight innings for his straight triumph to lead the Dodgers.

BRAVES 12, GIANTS 9 — San Francisco, Dale Murphy and Rafael Ramirez added five runs and three RBI to spark a 2-1 attack that carried the Braves

SF blasts Minnesota, 48-17

United Press International
 Joe Montana caused an avalanche Thursday night, and the Minnesota Vikings got caught right in the middle.

Montana passed for 230 yards and fired four TD passes and Eric Wright grabbed three interceptions, scoring on a 60-yard return, to power the San Francisco 49ers to a 48-17 rout of the Vikings.

Montana, the NFC's leading passer one year ago, hurled touchdown throws of 21, 1, 14 and 6 yards to four different receivers to lead the 49ers to a 41-10 first-half lead.

The 49ers' nickel defense harassed Vikings quarterback Tommy Kramer, intercepting him three times. Kramer completed 25-of-41 for 274 yards and three 30-yard TD passes to Terry Lester in the third quarter.

The 49ers held a 13-7 lead at the opening period but put the game away early in the second quarter. Montana capped the drive with a 1-yard TD pass.

In AFC games Sunday, Denver goes to Baltimore, Buffalo to Cincinnati, the Los Angeles Raiders host Houston, New England at Miami and the New York Jets host Seattle. In the NFC, Dallas visits St. Louis, the Los Angeles Rams host New Orleans, the New York Giants travel to Atlanta, Chicago hosts Tampa Bay and Washington visits Philadelphia.

In interconference games, Cleveland visits Detroit and Green Bay hosts Pittsburgh.

On Monday night, San Diego at Kansas City.
