despite poor showing

HOUSTON — Freshman quarerback Gerald Landry will decide by Friday whether he wants some playing time against Lamar Saturday, but coach Bill Yeoman said the job still belongs to senior Lionell Wilson, despite his subpar performance last weekend.

Cougars' quarterback of the fu-ture, had said he wanted to redshirt this season and not play. He is the third-string quarterback behind Wilson and sophomore Quince Harris.

pre-season to substitute Harris in Miami Hurricane to give him experience as a backup. Wilson threw four interceptions and lost one fumble in the 29-7 loss.

"I've got a shot at playing this year if Lionel doesn't get his stuff Yeoman decided during the together," said Landry, who led season to substitute Harris in Beaumont West Brook High School to a state title last fall. "I'll make up my mind Thursday or Friday (whether to play). Yeoman, who leaves it up to the athlete to decide to redshirt, said up for grabs, that it was still Wilan upcoming game might be the time to ask Landry if he wanted to go on the field.

'Miami was a tough, tough game," Yeoman said. "If I'd asked him if he wanted to go on the field during that game, I might have gotten a 'No.' He may feel differently about it this week. Who

During three years of quarter-backing, the 6-1, 215-pound Wilson, a "great athlete" in Yeoman's estimation, has never played well against the top college football teams and never led the Cougars to the point of challenging for the Southwest Conference title knows?"

This year, however, Yeoman thinks he has the defense, the offensive line, the wide receivers and the running backs to challenge for that title.

Before a SWC opener against Baylor Oct. 1, the Cougars play Lamar in the Astrodome and then at Oregon Sept. 24. "I thought our offensive line did a fine job against Miami," Yeoman said, "and let me tell you no one in the Southwest Conference will have better athletes than Miami.

"But we didn't function behind

Taking it easy on John Elway's football antics

by MILTON RICHMAN UPI Sports Editor

You're not going to run across too many straighter, cleaner cut young men than John Elway. Particularly, in professional sports today. The way he conducts himself, the way he levels with everyone, he reminds me of some first class guys like Rocky Bleier, Cris Collinsworth and Mark van Eeghen. Don't be that hard on Elway, either, over what happened be-tween him and the Baltimore Colts

I'm not trying to be his apologist, but if baseball and basketball players can pretty much pick the team they choose to sign with, why can't football players do the same thing? What are they — boat people or something? This is still a free country, isn't it?

ford, George Steinbrenner and the Colts all crazy about him not very long ago, is the No. 1 quarterback for Denver's unbeaten Broncos now, and he'll be the first one to tell you he certainly isn't the reason they're unbeaten.

In the two games he has started for them, he hasn't done much. There's a piece of understatement if you ever saw one. To put it in much clearer focus, he has been only slightly this side of awful.

But don't write him off. Darryl Strawberry looked worse in his first two games and now everybody's pumping him for Rookie of the Year.

Dan Reeves, the Broncos' coach, named Elway the team's starting quarterback over last vear's starter. Steve DeBerg, a month ago during the exhibition season and nobody was that shocked in light of how the Broncos went to such lengths to sign him.

Elway broke in anything but auspiciously when Reeves started nim against Pittsburgh in the regular-season opener. The Steelers picked him apart, sacking him four times and hounding him so relentlessly that he was able to complete only one of his eight passes.

Mercifully, Reeves replaced him with DeBerg at the start of the second half and Denver we ball game with DeBerg thro the winning pass.

Earlier this week, Elway Bengal New York from Denverfor commercial endorsemen that had an international that he was signing with M Japanese company, and Bates, its American distril a new line of footwear

The 6-foot-4 Denver que back said the fans in Baltim been rough on him, feelingh snubbed them for Denver, b understood.

The fans, though, never on Elway all the time he we the field. Had he been able any of the things they weres to him?

"Oh, yes," he replied, a Cincinnati heads some more. "I couldn't miss and ing what they were saying."

Elway was brought up well doesn't use the language heard in ballparks. But he made of sugar and spice, si didn't melt when he heard the fans were saving.

Ah, human nature.

Save a bike Lock it with CITADEL

A lock that really stops the bicycle thief and guarantees your bicycle up to $350.00! Impossible? Not if it's a CITADEL lock!

Stops the tools used by thieves!

The CITADEL is an entirely new concept in bike locks. Its thru-hardened Molychrome™ alloy means boltcutters can't dent it; hacksaws can't cut it. Hammers, prybars, and drills are just as useless.

The CITADEL's high security round key cylinder has over 700,000 possible key combinations. The exclusive cylinder Drill Guard™ thwarts drilling attacks. Security features like these are the reason why CITADEL is recommended by more police departments than any other bike lock.

Warranty pays up to $350

The security of the CITADEL is backed up by a unique one year warranty. If your bicycle is stolen due to the failure of the lock to prevent the theft, we'll pay you the value of your bike up to $350.*

Secures your bike easily

The compact shape of the CITADEL makes it easy to use. It unlocks in two separate pieces to secure your bike quickly to a bike stand or other stationary object. And, its durable vinyl coating protects your bike's finish. An optional storage bracket is available for carrying the CITADEL when it's not in use.

*Complete warranty inside lock package

Get an extra year of warranty coverage free!

($8.00 value)
