

THE REAL SCIENCE OF O.C.S. IS TO HELP YOU DISCOVER THE LEADER IN YOU.

Army Officer Candidate School (O.C.S.) is a 14-week challenge that will make you dig deep inside yourself for mental and physical toughness. For stamina and courage.

It isn't easy. But you'll discover what's inside you. You'll know you have what it takes to lead. You'll come out a trim, fit commissioned officer in the Army, ready to exercise leadership skills civilian companies put a premium on.

If you're about to get your degree in engineering or science, it could be your next science should be O.C.S.

Lecture begins

by Bob Caster
Battalion Reporter

Donald Zale, board chairman and chief executive officer of the Zale Corporation, will speak here Thursday, as part of the Invited Lecture Series sponsored by the Department of Marketing Center for Retailing Studies.

Zale's topic will be "What a Chief Executive Officer Expects of a Good Manager."

Marketing professor James Leigh says the center will sponsor a lecture every semester featuring nationally prominent leaders in the retailing industry.

The center, established last January, is a privately funded organization within the marketing department. It depends on financial support from retail companies and organizations closely affiliated with retailing, he said.

The Zale Corporation gave the center an initial grant of $10,000. Other sponsors include Neiman Marcus, the Tandy Corporation and the Southland Corporation.

One of the center's primary goals, Leigh said, is to serve students interested in retailing careers and to serve the needs of retail firms by providing them with outstanding graduates.

Many career opportunities available to business graduates now and in the future involve retailing, Leigh said. This has created a need at most universities to do a better job of preparing students for retailing careers, he said.

The center will bring retailing executives to Texas A&M to work with the students and faculty — providing a bridge between the University and the retailing community, he said.

Programs to bring retailing executives to the campus include an executive-in-residence program, an annual retailing career fair, special topic symposia, a student recruiting program and retail research and faculty development programs.

Zale, the second speaker in the series, attended Texas A&M and Southern Methodist University. He was named chief executive officer of the Zale Corporation in 1971 and was elected chairman of the board in 1980 while also serving as chief executive officer.

Zale will speak at 11 a.m. in 102 Blocker (A&A) Building.

Movie films in Houston

United Press International HOUSTON — CBS television Tuesday began filming "The Sky's No Limit", a drama about the lives of the first three women to apply to the astronaut corps.

The film's director said the movie's filming coincides with Sally Ride's popularity, but he said it in no way resembles the story of the female astronaut.

Film locations include the Johnson Space Center, and various sites in Houston.

Tank ignites

United Press International HOUSTON — An asphalt storage tank being reinsulated because of damage from Hurricane Alicia exploded in flames on the Houston Ship Channel Tuesday, injuring seven repair workers and two firemen. Repair work was being done to the exterior after some of the insulation was ripped off during 95 mph winds of Hurricane Alicia on Aug. 18.

Smoke poured from the top of the tank, which pulled out due to the force of the exterior blast, a witness said.
