Boddicker K's 14 in Orioles' win

BALTIMORE — Mike Boddicker silenced Chicago's guns with a record-tying 14 strikeouts and Gary Roenicke supplied the artillery with a two-run homer Thursday night, enabling the Baltimore Orioles to blank the White Sox 4-0 and even the American League playoffs at one victory apiece.

Boddicker, the rookie right-hander who helped rescue Baltimore's rotation this season, pitched a five-hitter and Roenicke, in addition to his homer in the sixth inning, doubled, walked twice and scored three runs to send the playoffs to Chicago for the rest of the best-of-five series.

Boddicker's strikeout total tied the AL playoff record set by Detroit's Joe Coleman in 1972. He also represented a season-high for Boddicker.

The White Sox will send Richard Dotson, 22-7, against Orioles left-hander Mike Flanagan, 12-4, in the first post-season game in Chicago since 1959.

A 26-year-old native of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who was thrust into the rotation because of injuries to the Orioles' staff, Boddicker finished with a 16-8 record and a 2.77 ERA. He kept the White Sox off balance with a sharp breaking ball and a crafty mixture of pitches. Before a Memorial Stadium crowd of 52,347, Boddicker pitched with all the effectiveness that LaMarr Hoyt did for the White Sox on Wednesday. He struck out two batters in the first, second, fourth, fifth, eighth innings and allowed only two hits until the eighth. He walked three and never faced more than four batters in an inning until the eighth and ninth when he began to tire.

Boddicker's strikeout victims included Harold Baines and Julio Cruz three times each and Carlton Fisk and Vance Law twice apiece. He ended the fourth inning with a flourish, nailing Tom Paciorek with a sidearm breaking pitch.

Boddicker, who became a regular starter when Flanagan sustained ligament damage in his left knee, hurled a five-hit shutout in May against Chicago for his first major-league complete game. He led the AL with five shutouts and was second on the staff in victories, complete games (10) and strikeouts (120).

He continued his lifetime domination of loser Floyd Bannister. Roenicke is 6-for-18 including two doubles and four home runs.

Baltimore took a 1-0 lead in the second inning. Roenicke lined a shot into the left-field corner and wound up on second with a double as left fielder Ron Kittle, with a shot to nail him at second, overthrew the bag. Ken Singleton grounded to third, where Vance Law first bobbled the ball then threw past first into the Oriole dugout, allowing Roenicke to score and Singleton to reach second. But Bannister settled down and escaped the inning with three straight putouts.

The Orioles extended their lead to 2-0 in the fourth with Roenicke and Kittle again at the center of action. With one out, Roenicke walked and Singleton grounded a double down the left-field line.

Texas-OU resume 'classic' match-up

by Donn Friedman

Battalion Reporter
For Aggies, football season reaches its peak with the world's largest bonfire and the University of Texas — but for the Longhorns, the big game opens with Texas State Fair and the University of Oklahoma.

Saturday's kickoff (scheduled for 2:10 p.m. at the Cotton Bowl in Dallas) marks the 78th meeting between the two rivals, a match-up that can only be called a "classic".

Just ask Texas head coach Fred Akers.

"Our game with Oklahoma is one of a small number of true classics in intercollegiate football," Akers said. "It fires the imagination of people all over this nation. It is almost like a calendar — it marks a special time and place in everybody's schedule."

2 in the nation by United Press International and 3-0 on the season, are slight favorites over the Sooners, ranked No. 7 with a 3-1 record.

A sell-out crowd of 75,587 is expected, but for those without tickets, there's not much hope of catching the game on network television.

The current NCAA television plan with ABC and CBS permit each network to show a team no more than three times over a two-year period. Both Texas and Oklahoma have reached their limit.

Because of this dispute, the only non-pay station covering the game will be KTVV-TV in Austin (Channel 36, Community Cablevision in Bryan-College Station).

KTVV is being allowed to show the game since it's located in UT's home market and the game is sold-out. Oklahoma opted not to apply to broadcast the game in its home market.
