A new building?

No, not a new building. An old building with a new name. The Academic and Agency

Building was dedicated the John R. Blocker Building Saturday.

We'll remember to pay your bills.
Even if you forget.

You can't remember everything.
If you forget a due date for a payment, that often means late charges.

Now there's an easier way to pay your bills. Just tell us who you want to pay and when. We'll remember to mail the check to make the due date. In the meantime, your funds continue to earn maximum interest.

Telephone bill paying is free—with only a $250 minimum balance. We make banking easy
—even if you forget.

Accused spy loses court case

United Press International
WASHINGTON — Alger Hiss, convicted of perjury and accused of being a Communist spy during the post-World War II "red scare," lost another battle in the Supreme Court Tuesday in his 33-year legal campaign to clear his name.

Hiss, 78, had asked the high court to allow him to re-examine key evidence used against him.

Hiss served a jail term in the 1950s for his perjury conviction in connection with spy charges leveled against him before a House committee in 1948. His case helped propel a young congressman from California named Richard Nixon to national prominence as an avid anti-Communist.

His lawyer said he was denied a fair trial because the government withheld evidence about the typewriter that Hiss, a former "boy wonder" at the State Department, allegedly used to copy department documents for the Soviets.

Former Rep. Richard Kelly, convicted in 1981 of bribery for accepting $25,000 from FBI agents posing as Arabs interested in buying influence, also failed to get the nation's highest court to review his Abscam case.

The justices, without explanation or dissents, refused to review either case. They also rejected an appeal by survivors of the 1978 Peoples Temple mass murder-suicide in Jonestown, Guyana, who tried to sue the government for $65 million on grounds it withheld crucial information about the cult headed by Jim Jones.

The justices, issuing a series of orders, also:

-Refused to block for a new trial in the $1.8 billion dispute over charges American Telephone & Telegraph illegally tried to shut MCI communications Corp., out of the long-distance telephone market. A lower court set aside the record antitrust judgment and ordered a new jury to consider what damages the telephone giant owes its rival.

-Sidestepped a major test of the Newspaper Preservation Act by refusing to review a joint operating agreement between the Seattle Times and the Post-Intelligencer. The papers have been operating jointly since last May since a federal appeals court approved the arrangement.

-Agreed to decide whether the Environmental Protection Agency may disclose to the public and business rivals the secret test data Monsanto Co. turns over to the EPA to obtain approval to sell its pesticides.
