The Most Sophisticated Training Ground For Nuclear Engineering Isn't On The Ground.

It's on a Navy ship.

The Navy has more than 1,900 reactor-years of nuclear power experience—more than anyone else in America. The Navy has the most sophisticated nuclear equipment in the world. And the Navy operates over half of the nuclear reactors in America.

With a nuclear program like that, you know the Navy also offers the most comprehensive and sophisticated nuclear training.

Every officer in the Nuclear Navy completes a full year of graduate level technical training. Outside the Navy, this kind of program would cost you thousands. In the Navy, you're paid while you learn.

Then, as a nuclear-trained officer, you supervise highly trained personnel in the operation of the most advanced nuclear propulsion plants ever developed. You get a level of technical and management experience unequalled anywhere else.

You get important responsibilities and you get them fast. Because in the Navy, as your knowledge grows, so do your responsibilities.

Today's Nuclear Navy is one of the most challenging and rewarding career choices a man can make. And that choice can pay off while you're still in school. Qualified juniors and seniors earn approximately $1,000 per month while they finish school.

As a nuclear-trained officer, after 4 years with regular promotions and pay increases, you can be earning as much as $40,500. That's on top of a full benefits package that includes medical and dental care, and 30 days' vacation earned each year.

As a nuclear-trained officer, you also earn a place among this nation's most qualified and respected professionals. So, if you're majoring in math, engineering or the physical sciences, send in the coupon. Find out more about the most sophisticated training ground for nuclear engineering. Today's Nuclear Navy.

Breakers to move to New Orleans

United Press International
NEW ORLEANS — United States Football League owners voted unanimously Tuesday to move the Boston Breakers franchise to the Louisiana Superdome, giving the Crescent City its second pro football team.

The transfer vote was taken in Houston and announced at the New Orleans International Airport by delegation of team officials. Twelve of 18 USFL owners were needed to approve the move.

Team officials said they would decide in about a week whether to retain the Breakers' name, official insignia and uniforms.

Mayor Ernest Morial said the move would bring much-needed business to the Superdome and added he hoped the team would not become the Bourbon Breakers or the Royal Street Streakers.

Co-owner Randy Vataha has said he received promises from unidentified New Orleans investors to buy minority interests in the second-year USFL franchise.

Last season, the 11-7 Breakers played at Boston University's 20,000-seat Nickerson Field. Vataha said it was not feasible to play at Foxboro, a Boston area stadium owned by the NFL Boston Patriots.

The Breakers looked for a place to move for four months and considered Seattle; Honolulu; Portland, Ore.; Indianapolis, Ind., and Akron, Ohio.

In New Orleans, they will join the National Football League Saints at the 72,000-seat Superdome. Both teams enjoy an absence of competition from pro baseball or basketball.

League owners Tuesday reiterated their desire to place a USFL franchise in Boston as quickly as possible.

"We consider Boston a prime franchise area in the USFL," Commissioner Chet Simmons said. "The reason for this transfer is simply the present lack of a suitable downtown facility. Hopefully, the situation will be resolved in the near future. The league would like to return to Boston."

Vataha said one of New Orleans' most impressive tions was fan support for Saints during many losing seasons.

"We feel tremendous about the situation," he said. "It's really proven to be a superb football city. It's going to be of the finest, if not the finest, in the USFL."

Co-owner George Mauer in Houston said the transfer to New Orleans would be a franchise win for Louisiana State, Southern Mississippi, Grambling and the Southern.

He said Coach Dick Mulick would accompany the team to New Orleans along with complete staff and players after it was approved.

Coury, voted USFL MVP last year, said he was sorry to lose recruiting income to Texas No. 1 Nebraska, but believed the team can choose well from schools in the franchise area.

"This is a difficult decision to make, but we have evened the odds. The best we had been releasing the Breakers and for the million pounds of money."

SA, Houston teams assigned divisions

HOUSTON — United States Football League owners Tuesday voted to divide the teams into two conferences for the 1984 season, a league spokesman said. The two Texas franchises, in San Antonio and Houston, were assigned to the Western Conference of the USFL.

Doug Kelly said the eastern and western conferences would have nine teams each, split into two divisions.

In the Eastern conference, the Atlantic division will include the New Jersey Generals, the Philadelphia Stars, the Pittsburgh Maulers and the Washington Federals. The Southern division will include the Birmingham Stallions, the Jacksonville Bulls, the Memphis Showboats and the Tampa Bay Bandits.

The former Boston Breakers, which became the new New Orleans franchise in a vote by owners Tuesday, will be in the Southern division, he said.

In the Western conference, the Chicago Blitz, the Houston Mavericks, the Michigan Panthers, the Oklahoma Outlaws and the San Antonio Gunslingers will make up the central division.

The Pacific division will include the Arizona Wranglers, the Denver Gold, the Los Angeles Express and the Los Angeles Invaders.

Kelly said the conference assignments were needed because of the league's expansion.

"We added six teams, a question of basically creating a little more geographic concept," he said.

In other action, the league announced the 1984 season will open the weekend of Oct. 20 and conclude June 24. It will be followed by two weeks of playoffs and a championship game July 15.

Boston's Rice heads list of American League stars

United Press International
NEW YORK — Slugger Jim Rice of the Boston Red Sox is the only unanimous selection for the UPI 1983 American League

All-Star team which also includes first baseman Eddie Murray and shortstop Cal Ripken, Jr., of the world champion Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles defeated the Philadelphia Phillies in the World Series in five games. In the final game, Murray hit two homers.

Rice, who batted .305 and led the league with 39 homers and 126 runs batted in, was named on all 37 of the ballots cast in this year's survey by American League experts in all sections of the country.

Murray and Ripken, the only members of the world champion Orioles elected to the team, had 26 and 35 votes, respectively. Murray batted .306 with 33 homers and 111 RBI while Ripken had a .318-27-102 offensive season.

Tied with Ripken for second place in the voting, each with 35, were second baseman Lou Whitaker of the Detroit Tigers and relief pitcher Dan Quisenberry of the Kansas City Royals. Whitaker batted .320 with 12 homers and 72 RBI while Quisenberry had a 5-3 record and a major league record 45 saves to go with a 1.94 earned run average.

Rounding out of the team were catcher Lance Parrish of the Tigers, third baseman Wade Boggs of the Red Sox, outfielders Dave Winfield of the New York Yankees and Lloyd Mosebey of the Toronto Blue Jays and designated hitter Luzinski and starting pitcher LaMarr Hoyt of the Chicago White Sox.

Jack Morris of the Tigers and Ron Guidry of the Yankees for the No. 2 berth on the voting staff with 17 votes each had 33.

The Tigers had the most representatives with three on the 13-man squad. Orioles, Red Sox, Yankees, White Sox had two each and Blue Jays and Royals one.

All three starting pitchers were 20-game winners, showing the way with a record and a 3.66 ERA. Also allowed only 31 walks in 100 innings.

Morris had a 20-13 record and 3.34 ERA and Guidry had a 16-10 record and 3.42 ERA.

In the other close vote position, Parrish edged Carlton Fisk of the White Sox 16 votes to 15. Parrish's .272-26-88 offensive performance while Fisk was regarded the catalyst who led the Sox to the American League Western Division title with a .289 average, 26 homers and 100 RBI.

Boggs led the league with a .361 average, Winfield with a .283 with 32 homers and 100 RBI and Mosebey had a .281 average and 81 offensive showing. He batted .255 with 32 homers and 95 RBI.
