The proposal would lower the price support level of dairy products by $1.50 per hundredeight in the first month following legislation with a second, 50 cent reduction in March 1985.

In opening remarks to the Grange's week-long national convention, Anderson said the purpose of the federal farm rogram is to maintain a reasonable level of price support on the major crops and assist in financing a reserve supply to fill domestic needs and export commitments. "Due to variables involved in growing food it is necessary to plan to harvest enough each year to supply our annual needs and build a reserve for future

"Maintaining an adequate re-serve means having an over-supply and this reduces the farmers' ability to get a reasonable price for his goods in the marketplace," he said.

Citing over-production in feed grains, wheat, cotton and rice, Anderson praised the PIK program, which aimed at reducing stockpiles and raising prices
