The Redskins' first touchdown came on Washington's first possession of the game and his score on Danny White's 29-yard pass to Doug Cosbie.

Riggins scored on runs of 3 and 1 yards, both of the scores coming after interference from Dallas' defensive back Darrell Green. It appeared Green should have been allowed a touchdown when he got up and ran the ball into the end zone, but the ball was ruled down at the Dallas 43.

Oilers win 34-27, may lose 1st pick

HOUSTON — Tim Smith takes a winning team effort, and Browns place kicker Matt Bahr booted field goals of 44 and 45 yards.

For second-year quarterback Luck, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, the victory came in his first game ever against the franchise he grew up watching. He completed 13 of 24 passes for 178 yards on the day.

His last fumble, with 4:37 left, snuffed a potential Browns scoring drive that would have tied the game. The Oilers, using Earl Campbell's bulldish running, gave Houston a 10-3 lead.

The Oilers built the lead to 24-6 with 5:33 left in the first half, but then the Browns—backed by the throwing of Steve Brown, who must beat the Oilers in Cleveland next Sunday—rallied for 21 points and a 27-24 lead.

Earlier, the Oilers scored on Campbell's two-yard run and a 39-yard field goal with game since taking over at mid-season for Ed Biles and Chuck Studley won his second Oiler interim head coach boot after this season.
