CS man giving up historic property Palo Alto battlefield site for sale

United Press International

BROWNSVILLE — The site where historians believe the Battle of Palo Alto, the first engagement of the Mexican-American War, was fought 137 years ago has been put up for sale by its College Station owner.

A large realty sign stands be-side the national historical monument and cannon commemorating the battle fought by Gen. Zachary Taylor's troops in which an unknown number of soldiers died during a fierce artillery duel between 2,300

Americans and 6,000 Mexicans on May 7, 1847. Richard VanderGrift, an official with Tenneco Realty Co. of Houston, says the asking price is $2,500 an acre for the property located at what he terms "a superb corner." The land lies at the intersection of paved Farm Roads 511 and 1847 between Brownsville and Los Fresnos.

But the property's owner, retired businessman Bert Wheeler of College Station, says no one knows for sure exactly where the battle was fought, because the monument was put "in an arbitary place." Wheeler, a history buff and collector of vintage newspapers, says numerous cannon balls have been found a half mile south of the marker on the north side of FM 511.

VanderGrift says there is no water on the battlefield property, but that it would be suitable for dryland cotton farming, or water could be brought in and the site developed. Its proximity to the Port of Brownsville also is a selling point, the realtor said. The Battle of Palo Alto, followed by another conflict between Taylor's forces and those of Mexican Gen. Mariano Arista the next day a few miles to the south at Resaca de la Palma, constituted the only fighting of the war north of the Rio Grande.

Arista estimated the Americans fired more than 3,000 rounds of ammunition while the Mexicans fired only 650 in the fray. Both sides fired cannon situated 400 yards apart, outside the range of small arms fire.

There are differing figures on casualities, with Taylor claim-ing fewer than 200 American and 2,000 Mexican casualties in the two battles.

After those two engagements, Taylor's troops marched all the way to Mexico City. The war ended with the signing of the Trea-ty of Guadalupe Hidalgo on Feb. 2, 1848, establishing the Rio Grande as the border between the two countries. Three future U.S. presidents took part in the battle — Taylor, Ulysses S. Grant and Franklin

DEL RIO — Police tracking dogs searched unsuccessfully Monday for the body of a San Antonio man presumed killed in a landslide in a remote area near the Rio Grande. Edgar Joe Dorroh, 45, disappeared beneath a mass of rock and debris that tumbled down a slope in the Amistad Recreation Area, located about 50 miles northwest of Del Rio, said assistant superintendent Don Goldman.

The accident occurred at about 12 noon Saturday, when Dorroh tried to scale the slope and apparently caused the de-bris to slide, Goldman said. A woman who was climbing with Dorroh was not injured and summoned park rangers for help.

Îwo tracking dogs from the Midland Police Department could not locate the body Mon-day, and Goldman said the search would resume Tuesday. "If they don't find him tomorrow, we'll have to do some hard thinking," Goldman said. "They (chances) don't look good now. Rescue efforts conducted Saturday and Sunday were dangerous and frustrating, he said, as one man at a time tried to remove debris while tied to a rope-anchored to a tree.

"As they removed the rock, others would slide down," Gold-

Officials said Dorroh was trying to climb to a railroad bed constructed above the river about 100 years ago. Rocks blasted from the hillside to build a tunnel were dumped near the river, forming the slope that Dorroh was trying to climb. The accident scene is located in a remote area about three miles north of the confluence of the Rio Grande and Pecos River, Goldman said.
