UAW urged to support Mondale

United Press International

WASHINGTON — AFL-CIO chief Lane Kirkland urged United Auto Workers union leaders Monday to push hard to elect Walter Mondale as president, saying another term for Ronald Reagan could mean an even deeper recession.

Kirkland told the UAW's annual political-legislative conference that the 13.7 million-member federation's efforts to give Mondale the Democratic nomination "are well advanced and intensifying in every district of every state."

The results of organized labor's backing of Mondale will begin to show in the Democratic Party caucuses in Iowa Feb. 20, Kirkland said.

The former vice president is scheduled to address the UAW gathering Tuesday.

"On Nov. 6, Solidarity Day IV, the work of repairing the damage of the last four years will begin," Kirkland told cheering delegates. "We have no illusion of easy victory, but our movement was not built on easy victories."

The AFL-CIO has designated election day Solidarity Day IV, the fourth annual observance of organized labor's dissatisfaction with the Reagan administration and its policies.

"All of us welcome any sign of recovery. With every worker who is called back to a protected job and with every new car that rolls off the line, the country recovers by that much from the depths of its most recent despair," Kirkland said. "But in human terms, real recovery is going to take a long long time."

Kirkland said for those "lucky enough to be back on the job, stripped of their homes and their savings and their possessions, recovery is years away."

"For more than 10 million Americans who desperately need and want jobs, recovery is not even in sight," he said. "For all Americans the danger of a new collapse into an even worse and deeper Reagan recession will remain until there are changes in the policies that brought us to the brink of disaster."

$11.1 million lottery prize claimed by Canadian couple

United Press International

TORONTO — After keeping Canada in suspense for nine days, a Canadian couple who together earned $440 a week claimed an $11.1 million lottery jackpot Monday — the largest tax-free prize ever won in North America.

They both quit their jobs. Stuart and Lillian Kelly, of Brantford, Ont., said they wanted to buy a new home, travel to Florida and invest the remainder of their winnings — nearly $14 million in Canadian dollars — from the Lotto 649 jackpot.

They also plan to share the prize with their eight brothers and sisters, Mr. Kelly's mother and charities. The couple has no children.

Mr. Kelly, 57, has worked as a truck driver for Thibodeau-Finch Express Ltd. for 35 years. His wife, 54, has been employed for Speed Queen dry cleaners for 31 years.

Mrs. Kelly said that after watching the winning numbers drawn on television Jan. 14 and reading her ticket over and over, she started to cry.

"My stomach started aching, my arms started aching," she said at a news conference. "I thought, 'I'm having a heart attack and I won't live to enjoy it.'"

They first kept the ticket in a drawer where they hide their money and later transferred it to a safety deposit box. Mrs. Kelly said they held on to it for more than a week because, "We really didn't know what to do."

Their lawyer called the Ontario Lottery Corporation offices in Toronto last Wednesday to say the Kellys held the winning ticket in the Lotto 649 jackpot — the largest tax-free lottery prize ever in North America.

But their winnings were not revealed to the public until they arrived Monday morning with the ticket.

There was only winner from among the 67.5 million tickets sold, in which players selected six numbers between 1 and 49.

The Kellys bought nine tickets, each worth a $1, and beat odds of 14 million to one to win. They have been spending about $10 a week on lotteries for many years.

By waiting a week, the couple gave up about $14,000 in interest that would have accrued on the huge prize.
