WASHINGTON — A new drug undergoing testing at medical centers around the country may prevent eye prob-lems which afflict nearly half of the nation's diabetics, researchers said Wednesday.

The drug, called sorbinil, inhibits an enzyme called aldose reductase, which may play a key role in damage caused by diabetes in the eyes and other areas of the body, the researchers said.

DALLAS - Movie director Douglas Trumbull, who helped inaugurate the new age of spe-cial effects in "2001: A Space Odyssey" nearly 20 years ago, has come up with another revo-lution in the Showscan process that debuted Thursday in four test cities around the country.

For the next 60 to 90 days, customers at ShowBiz Pizza Place restaurants in Dallas; Springfield, Mo.; Huntsville, Ala., and Fairfax, Va., can see a 22-minute movie that shows off the dizzyingly realistic results of running specially photo-graphed 70 mm film at more than twice the usual speed -60frames per second instead of Trumbull is marketing the technique in association with Bob Brock, owner of the 200restaurant family pizza parlor chain. Reaction to the test screenings will determine whether Showscan becomes the next can't-do-without technique for moviemakers or if it goes the bumpy route of 3-D. Moviegoers got a glimpse of what the Showscan process can mean last fall in "Brainstorm,' which Trumbull fought to see released after its star, Natalie Wood, died more than two years ago just before filming was concluded.

PITTSBURGH — Stormie Jones, a "poor little blonde-headed girl that got sick" and had the world's first simultaneous heart and liver transplants, was alert Wednesday and may breathe without a respirator within a day.

Stormie, 6, of Cumby, Texas, was listed in critical but stable condition in Pittsburgh's Children's Hospital following a 16hour operation that ended Tuesday morning. Her condi-tion is normal following transplant surgery.

Stormie suffered from a rare genetic illness that caused an excessive buildup of cholesterol in her blood and her heart was weakened by two double-bypass operations. Doctors said the unprecendented multiple-transplant was her only hope of surviving.

The surgery, performed by well-known transplant surgeon Dr. Thomas Starzl and Dr. Henry Bahnson, may cost up to $100,000, hospital officials said.

"All her vital signs are good," hospital officials said in a statement. "She is responsive and alert when awake, although she is still sleeping most of the time.

Doctors said Stormie may be able to breathe without a respirator by Thursday. She is expected to be hospitalized for several months.

Both donor organs came from Kathryn Rebstock, 4, of Rochester, N.Y., who died Feb. 11 in a traffic accident. Her parents, Jacqueline and Phil Rebstock, donated the child's heart, liver, kidneys and corneas.

"She's not my grandchild yet, but she's going to be. She really is my heart," Ruth Millsap, 55, said in a telephone interview from Cumby. Mrs. Millsap is the mother of Donnie Millsap, who is engaged to Stormie's mother, Lois Jones.

"She's just this poor little blonde-headed girl that got sick," said Mrs. Millsap. "She is such a happy, bright child. We didn't think about her being so sick until it was almost too late.' Mrs. Millsap said Mrs. Jones and her son delayed their wedding because of Stormie's surgery. "We're all living day to day," she said. Mrs. Jones came to Pitts-burgh Jan. 1 with Stormie and slept on a cot in the girl's hospital room for 44 days. She and Stormie broke the monotony of waiting for a donor by watching cartoons and munching on treats from the hospital snack shop.

Stormie's recovery. Radio station KEMM near Cumby, which helped raise about $7,000 for Stormie's surgery, plans to mail her the cards and letters that are pouring into the station this week

"This isn't much, but maybe it can help out in a small way toward Stormie's recovery," wrote a grandmother who enclosed a $5 check.

"Stormie, keep your chin up, darling," another letter said. Mrs. Millsap said the family doesn't know how it will be able to meet the total hospital bill and has been worrying only Stormie's sister, Misty, 9, who about Stormie's problems.
