Runaway called arsonist

United Press International
BELLAIRE — A 16-year-old runaway told police he started church fires and committed burglaries because he felt rejected, officials said Thursday.
 Bellaire police stopped the youth as he ran from Synagogue B'rith Shalom carrying money and trinkets. The temple is next to the Faith American Lutheran Church, which was set on fire and burglarized March 13. Police said the youth admitted the acts.

Officials said the youth, who left a runaway center six weeks ago, is being questioned about at least eight other burglaries of religious institutions.

Bellaire investigator Mary Smith said the youth said he attended most of the churches seeking help and fellowship, but said he told her he felt rejected and set the churches on fire.

He is also being questioned about a series of church arsons and burglaries in Houston, officials said.

Two jailed in death of child

United Press International
CONROE — A judge set bond at $20,000 each Thursday for two people who owned a pit bulldog which bit a 4-year-old boy to death last month.

Montgomery County deputies arrested Jerri Miller, 26, of Plantersville, and her live-in boyfriend, James Traxler, 28, Wednesday night and charged them with serious injury to a child.
 Miller's son James Dwayne Miller was bitten to death by the pit bulldog on Feb. 23 when he was left alone outside by his babysitter and wandered close to the chained animal, officials said.

The case is pending before a Montgomery County grand jury, which heard testimony Wednesday.

Authorities said Miller and Traxler were aware the animal was vicious.
 Howard DuPree, spokesman for the Montgomery County Sheriff's Department, said two grown pit bulldogs were found chained to the front and back doors of the house and two younger pit bulldogs were running loose inside the house when authorities served arrest warrants on the couple.

Officials with the Texas Department of Human Resources have taken custody of Miller's other children, a 6-year-old girl and a 6-month-old boy, pending an investigation of their living conditions.
