

Randy White not at camp

United Press International

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. — Dallas Cowboys defensive tackle Randy White, a nine-year veteran who has been to the Pro Bowl the past seven seasons, failed to report to the team's training camp as scheduled Thursday.

Coach Tom Landry said White would be fined $5,000 a day until he appears.

White is on the option year of his contract, but negotiations have been underway the past month for a new contract.

The Cowboys side of the negotiations are being handled by an attorney who has taken care of other club business, while White is represented by agent Howard Schuster.

"I guess I shouldn't be surprised considering his agent," Landry said.

Landry was unaware that White had not joined the rest of the veterans, who reported to camp Thursday, until informed by reporters.

White had told various friends on the team, including defensive lineman John Dutton, that he would not report and those teammates spread the word when they reached Thousand Oaks.

"That is not very good news,"

Landry said when told. "I didn't think that would be like Randy, but I guess he has left things in the hands of his agent."

"He will be fined like any other player. We won't make any exceptions."

Cowboys personnel director Gil Brandt did not show any surprise when told of White's decision.

"Maybe we will make him an offer today," Brandt said.

The rest of the veterans reported to the campus of California Lutheran College Thursday. Counting White, there are 10 players who completed the 1983 season with Dallas who were not present in camp.

Five of those are retirees — offensive tackle Pat Donovan, defensive end Harvey Martin, wide receiver Drew Pearson, tight end Billy Jo Dupree and fullback Robert Newhouse.

Wide receiver Butch Johnson was traded to Houston and there were three defections to the United States Football League — quarterback Glen Carano, linebacker Bruce Huther and defensive lineman Larry Bettea.

Three players lead field in British Open

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland — Greg Norman, Peter Jacobsen and Bill Longmuir shared the lead Thursday after shooting 5-under-par 67s in the first round of the 113th British Open golf championship.

There was a group of players at 69, including Spain's Seve Ballesteros, Nick Faldo of Britain, American Tom Kite and Brazilian Jaime Gonzalez.

Bill Rogers, winner of this title three years ago, hit three balls out of bounds en route to a 12 at the 14th hole. He carded an 82 and threatened to pull out of the tournament.

The three leaders had entirely different rounds on the 6,933 yard links course, which was bathed in sunshine and cooled by a gradually increasing, but not disruptive wind.

Norman, the 29-year-old Australian who lost a playoff to Fuzzy Zoeller for the U.S. Open championship, recovered from a dropped shot at the second to turn in a 1-under 35, and then unleashed a savage assault, collecting five birdies in the first six inward holes by sinking putts of up to 28 feet.

But the powerful Queenslander, who won the Kemper Open and the Canadian Open, ran into trouble at the notorious 17th, the Road hole, and dropped a shot with a five.

Norman said his good round was built on exceptionally good driving, a relaxed, confident approach, and the fact that he has learned how to play a links course.

But he thought publicity of his success on the U.S. Tour had exaggerated his real form at the moment.

"I don't think I'm playing as well as I did at the end of last year," Norman said, but added that one difference here was, "I'm not scared of winning tournaments anymore."

Jacobsen, a 30-year-old American who won the Colonial National Invitation earlier this season, made steady progress throughout his round, picking up shots at the first, third, fourth and ninth, where he sank a 20-foot putt.

Tigers blast Rangers; Astros nip Expos

Tigers 9, Rangers 2

DETROIT — Lance Parrish hit a three-run homer and Kirk Gibson belted a two-run shot to help the Detroit Tigers to a 9-2 victory over the Texas Rangers Thursday night.

The Tigers have now won six of their last seven games, while the Rangers have dropped six of seven.

Milt Wilcox scattered eight hits over 7 1/3 innings and struck out seven to improve to 9-6. Willie Hernandez and Aurelio Lopez finished up for Detroit.

Ruppert Jones' second double of the game scored a run in the second inning after rookie Doug Baker walked and Lou Whitaker rapped the second of his three singles. Don Scott was then charged with a passed ball that allowed the second run to score and Dave Stewart (4-11) uncorked a wild pitch to score Jones for a 3-0 lead.

In the fifth, a walk and two singles loaded the bases and chased Stewart. Odell Jones relieved and gave up an RBI grounder by Dave Bergman.

Gibson hit his 14th home run after Jones singled in the sixth to make it 6-0, and Parrish added his 19th homer off reliever Joey McLaughlin following singles by Whitaker and Gary Lucas (0-3). With one out Craig Reynolds walked and advanced to second on an infield grounder by Denny Walling. After a two-out walk to Jose Cruz, Mumphy lined a single to left to score Reynolds.

The Expos took a 1-0 lead in the third. Mike Ramsey singled to left, advanced to second on a walk to Bryan Little, to third on an infield grounder and scored on a single by Miguel Dilone.

The Astros tied the score 1-1 in the fifth on an unearned run off Expos starter Charlie Lea. With one out, Mark Bailey walked, advanced to second on a sacrifice by LaCoss and scored when first baseman Pete Rose booted a grounder that went into left field for an error.

The Astros took a 2-1 lead in the sixth on a leadoff bunt single by Walling, who advanced to third on a single to right by Cruz, his third hit of the night.

In the eighth, the Expos tied the score 2-2. Pinch hitter Tony Scott led off with a single to left, advanced to second on Bailey's passed ball, moved to third on a long fly by Andre Dawson and scored on Dilone's double to right-center.
