How To Get 2,000 Hours Of Great Music

Consider this: Drivers drive about two hours a day. Most listen to music as they roll along.
That adds up to 14 hours a week, or over 700 hours a year. Keep your car three years and that's over 2,000 hours of rock, classical, country western or whatever.
Our point: An hour invested now can save you 1,999 hours of not-so-hot listening up the road.
So bring in your favorite cassette, The Rolling Stones or Beethoven. Kick back and take an Alpine test-listen.
Odds are overwhelming you'll be blown away. Thanks to advanced Alpine electronics and our expert installation techniques, together creating The Alpine Touch.
Take the short drive to our place. It beats 1,999 miles of rocky road and roll, right?

Rangers, Astros triumph

United Press International
Rangers 2, Angels 1

ANAHEIM, Calif. — Pinch hitter Marvis Foley drove a two-out single in the top of the 10th inning Sunday to drive in pinch runner Billy Sample from third base, giving the pesky Texas Rangers a 2-1 victory over the California Angels.

Larry Parrish opened the 10th with a double to left center, beating Fred Lynn's throw to second. Sample ran for Parrish and George Wright popped a foul off third base that Doug DeCinces dropped when a fan hit his glove about two rows behind the stands in the Angels' dugout. With new life, Wright flied deep enough to right field to advanced Sample to third.

Bobby Jones was walked intentionally by loser Jim Slaton, 7-9, and Bill Stein struck out. But Foley drove his hit just out of the range of rookie first baseman Darrell Miller to bring home the run.

Dave Stewart pitched only his second complete game of the season in 26 starts, allowing only four hits. Stewart struck three and walked two to improve to 6-14.

After being shutout for 7 2-3 innings on just two hits by Jim Slaton, Texas rallied to tie the score at 1-1 in the eighth. Donnie Scott blooped a two-out double in between a trio of Angels in short center field and pinch hitter Tommy Dunbar looped a similar hit to center for a single to get the tying run home.

The Angels scored in the second inning when Brian Downing drove a 1-1 pitch from Dave Stewart over the left field wall with one out for his 22nd homer.

California had only one other scoring threat. In the fifth, Downing walked and with one out, Bobby Grich hit a bouncer to the right of shortstop Curt Wilkerson, who fielded the ball but threw it wildy past second allowing the runners to reach second and third. But Bob Boone, trying to lay down a squeeze bunt, popped up to first baseman Jones and Jones alertly threw to third to double up Downing.

In their final home game of 1984, the Angels drew a crowd of 45,000 to bring their total to 2,402,997 for the season. However, that was a drop of over 150,000 from 1983 despite the fact the club was in contention all season long. The Angels finished a dismal 37-44 at home and will play their final eight games on the road.

Astros 2, Reds 1

HOUSTON — Bob Knepper pitched a four-hitter and Terry Lutz and Bill Doran hit home runs Sunday night, enabling the Houston Astros to snap a four-game losing streak with a 2-1 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

Knepper, 15-10, allowed no walks and struck out six in pitching his 11th complete game of the year.

The Reds scored their only run off Knepper in the second inning when Nick Esasky slammed his 10th homer of the year.

Doran led off the Astros' sixth with his fourth home run of the year, off starter and loser Joe Price 7-13, to tie the score at 1-1.
