

Gallery Datsun

is pleased to extend the 10% Student Discount w/current Aggie I.D.

1214 Texas Ave. 775-1500

AUTHORIZED DATSUN PARTS & SERVICE

Attention General Studies Freshmen

All First Semester freshmen in General Studies are expected to attend one meeting on "Academic Survival."

Either: Thursday Oct. 25 4:00 P.M. Rudder
Or: Friday Oct. 26 4:00 P.M. 601 Rudder

See you at one of these brief meetings for some helpful hints on scholastic success!

Aggies For BARTON
Republican U.S. Congress

P.O. Box 2273
College Station, TX 77841

Help Elect An Aggie to Congress

Joe Barton '72 Needs Your Support To Keep Texas A&M And the 6th District Represented By A Sound Conservative Who Will Fight For US In Washington.

Aggies for Barton

1st Organizational Meeting
Tuesday October 16th
Rudder 301 8:30 pm

Paid For By Friends of Joe Barton for Congress
Kenneth McCrady, Treasurer

Aggies suffer huge memory loss

By ED CASSAVOY
Sports Editor

HOUSTON — Held aloft, shimmering in a torrential downpour, was the greatest of all scales swinging, swinging above the mighty Astrodome. Justice was to be meted out on a rainy night. But how would the decision be made?

Forgetfulness would be the deciding factor. Cougar quarterback Greg Landry forgot how to throw a decent pass to his receivers. The only consistent part of Landry's passing game was the uncanny ability to throw the ball in the wrong place.

The Aggies marched into the Astrodome and promptly forgot how to score points. Again. This time they added a new twist to the game. They decided to forget how to kick field goals.

But the Coogs remembered something else, Landry could run the ball. And run it well. It seemed Houston forgot that it had any other running backs on the team, but they did serve a useful purpose — giving Landry a breather between suicide runs.

The Aggies remembered that the way to beat Houston was simple. Control Landry. But then promptly forgot what they were supposed to remember.

Landry was the Houston offense. It appeared that Cougar Head Coach Bill Yeoman seemed intent on sacrificing Landry to the hungry Aggie hordes. Landry (who gained 84 yards rushing), in the best tradition of Michael Jackson, became a whirling dervish.

Sweeping left, Landry succeeded in throwing the Aggie defense off guard with his quick running bursts.

Yeoman remembered something else. The only good quarterback is a healthy quarterback.

Prudence dictated throwing the ball.

Landry threw a majority of his "U-balls" (Uncatchable) to the right side, working on the newly promoted Aggie cornerback James Flowers. Landry completed 8-20 for 98 yards in the game.

But Flowers held up well, never allowing any big gains. His job was made easier by the inability of Landry to connect with his receivers.

"Landry didn't have a good night," Yeoman said. "He didn't pull the string a couple of times. But then he didn't have too."

"I (Yeoman) just don't look at the negative side of things. It doesn't make any difference because we won."

Yeoman seemed relieved with the win over the Aggies, tying the Cougars with SMU for first place in the Southwest Conference standings. Both teams are 2-0 in conference play. A&M is also tied in the standings — for last place along with Rice.

But Yeoman was impressed with the Aggies' play Saturday night.

"This game saved our mulligan," Yeoman said, "And it puts us right

Houston Cougar quarterback Greg Landry runs into the familiar arms of defensive end Ray Childress (53). Childress and Aggie linebacker Johnny Holland had 11 tackles.

Photo by DEAN SAITTO

on the bus (in the SWC standings), but you can't take anything away from the Aggies. They have blue chipped blue chip players. You put someone like (Thomas) Sanders behind the mountain of meat he has blocking for him and he will snuff some people.

"Their (A&M's) back was to the wall and they came out fighting. They had too."

Yeoman commented on the surprising good showing of the Aggie running backs.

"The Aggies haven't generated much of a running game all year," Yeoman said, "but maybe they haven't tried."

The Cougars did remember to bring their defense along for the game, with impressive results. A&M was held to 223 total yards of offense, but more importantly, the Cougars kept the Aggies away from the endzone to the count of 46, 47 and 56 yards — the field goal distances missed by Aggie kicker Alan Smith.

Houston cornerback Greg Purcell will always remember those numbers.

"We knew we had to stop the Aggies from getting within field goal range," Purcell said. "So we (the defense) went into the game saying we will not surrender, we will give them nothing."

"We beat them because we wanted it deep down."

Landry put his finger on something that both teams seemed to remember — how the opposing team was going to play.

"We knew what they would try against us and they knew pretty well what to expect from us," Landry said. "We were prepared for A&M and it showed. Defensive games always develop when you got the other guy figured out."

It was a slogging defensive battle played before smallest crowd to ever watch an Aggie-Cougar game — a mere 34,103 fans.

The Cougars had to adjust to the fine play of the A&M defense, left left end Ray Childress. Childress double teamed throughout the game, but he was still able to pick up 11 tackles, one batted down play, a fumble recovery and one quarterback sack.

The Cougars remembered to stay away from Childress as much as possible. Nearly every running back Houston ran was to the "non-Childress" side of the field. Coach Yeoman agreed that Childress had affected the Houston offense scheme.

"Yeah, sure, we ran away from him," Yeoman said.

But as the chants of "SMU, SMU" echoed in the cavernous confines of the Houston dressing room, all this was forgotten in the warm terglow of a victory. Narrow otherwise.

The only thing the Cougars seem to remember was the score of the game.

Winless Oilers dig hole to China

United Press International

MIAMI — Dan Marino threw three touchdown passes Sunday as the unbeaten Miami Dolphins handed winless Houston a 28-10 defeat, the Oilers' NFL record 22nd consecutive road loss.

The Dolphins improved their record to 7-0 on a 27-yard pass from Marino to Mark Clayton in the second quarter, a 17-yarder to Mark Duper in the third period and one for 32 yards to Nat Moore in the fourth. Rookie Joe Carter added a 25-yard touchdown run with 5:17 left, Miami's longest run from scrimmage this season.

Moore's touchdown was the 57th of his 11-year career, tying him for the all-time Dolphin record with Larry Csonka. The TD was Marino's 20th pass for a touchdown this year as he completed 25-of-32 for 321 yards, his third most productive outing as a Dolphin.

Houston (0-7) played stubborn defense for three quarters but managed to score only on a 49-yard field goal by Florian Kempf in the third period, and on a 9-yard pass from Warren Moon to Chris Dressel with 2:38 left to play.

The key touchdown was Duper's 17-yarder halfway through the third period. He worked his way into the near left corner of the end zone and made a standing leap between defensive backs Willie Tullis and Bo Eason for the touchdown.

The Dolphins' lone score in the first half came with 1:54 left. They went from their 23 to the Houston 27 on a drive keyed by a 20-yard pass from Marino to Duper.

Then Marino dropped back and looped the scoring pass to Clayton, who had sneaked behind the Oiler secondary in the left corner of the end zone.

Carter's first touchdown as a pro was set up by another completion from Marino to Moore, a 28-yarder that took the ball to the Houston 30. Carter carried once for three yards and again for 15 before breaking a touchdown. He finished with 11 carries.

Houston scored on Dressel's catch at the end of an 80-yard march. The key play was a 36-yard gain on a pass from Moon to Jamie Williams on a roughing penalty on Clayton Benson.

ALPHA ZETA

Meeting

Guest Speaker: Dr. Howard Ladewig on
The Status of the Family Farm and Other Problems In Agriculture

Monday 15 Oct. 1984
7:00 p.m. 601 Rudder

All Members are encouraged to attend.
For More Info Call 693-5506.

Texas A&M Flying Club

Regular meeting tomorrow night at the airport Clubhouse. This meeting is for members and anyone interested in flying. There will be a speaker and refreshments. For further information call 764-7349.

Tomorrow Night

7:30 P.M.