Elway's injury makes Kubiak Bronco starter

United Press International

Quarterback John Elway's status remains uncertain and so, therefore, does the outlook for the Denver Broncos in Sunday's meeting with the Los Angeles Raiders in the National Football League's AFC showdown.

The Raiders, favored by six points on the basis of early reports that Elway, who has completed 95 of 171 passes for a 55.6 percentage and six touchdowns, would be able to play for the Broncos, probably will rise to nine-point favorites if the star quarterback is sidelined.

Bronco officials said that Elway, nursing a bruised right shoulder, will not start Sunday and that Gary Kubiak, in his second year with Denver out of Texas A&M, will take over the quarterback slot.

Despite the announcement, there appears to be some chance that Elway will play.

Elway was injured when he was sacked in last Sunday's game against Buffalo. He was listed as probable on the league's official injury report Thursday morning, but was unable to continue with practice Wednesday after throwing a few passes.

"He just wasn't able to loosen his arm up," Denver Broncos Coach Dan Reeves said. "He tried to throw and he had a lot of pain. I'd say right now, he's doubtful for the game."

Denver Bronco officials said that John Elway, nursing a bruised right shoulder, will not start Sunday and that Gary Kubiak, in his second year out of Texas A&M, will take over the quarterback slot.

Elway said he is still confident he will be ready for the game.

"I think I'll be ready," Elway said after Wednesday's practice, but admitted he would have to make significant progress between now and Sunday.

"I couldn't have played if the game was today," he said. "I tried to throw. I had trouble just calling the plays."

In Sunday's other games, Buffalo is at Miami, Tampa Bay at Kansas City, San Francisco at Los Angeles, Atlanta at Pittsburgh, New Orleans at Cleveland, Cincinnati at Houston, the New York Jets at New England, Indianapolis at Dallas, St. Louis at Philadelphia, Minnesota at Chicago, Detroit at Green Bay and Washington at the New York Giants.

The Seattle Seahawks are at Diego in the NFL's Monday night TV game.

Favorites are Miami by 10, Dallas by 10, Chicago by 7, Houston and Kansas City by 6, Cincinnati by 4, St. Louis and San Francisco 3 1/2, New England and Pittsburgh by 3, Green Bay by 2 1/2 and Cleveland by 1 1/2. The Raiders and Broncos go into the game with 10 records and tied for the AFC Western Conference lead, one game ahead of the Seahawks. The Broncos have gotten where they are primarily on the strength of a defense that has allowed 99 points — lowest in the league.

The Raiders have outscored the Broncos by 52 points in the games but have allowed a surprisingly high total of 158 points.

Quarterback Marc Wilson threw three touchdowns passes in the Raiders' 37 victory over the Chargers last week and Marcus Allen had 100 yards in total yardage gained in scrimmage.

Don Shula's Dolphins led the best in the NFL since the boys won their first game in 1977. Led by Dan Marino setting passing pace, the Dolphins are expected to have an early season with the winless Bills.
