

You won't see a better value than TSO.

For outstanding values on prescription eyewear, come to TSO. You'll find a wide selection of quality frames, all professionally fitted with prescriptions filled exactly to the doctor's specifications. And all at a reasonable price.

TEXAS STATE OPTICAL

Bryan 214 N. Main 779-2786/Post Oak Mall College Station 764-0010

SPECIAL DINNER

11th century Japanese recipe prepared at your table, by your own personal chef.

TEPPAN-YAKI CHICKEN, TEPPAN-YAKI SHRIMP

Japanese onion soup, special green salad served with Japanese vegetables, steamed rice, fortune cookie and tea.

$4.95 with Student ID Sun - Thurs.

Lunch Special

- Ramen $1.90
- Yakisoba $1.90
- Fried Rice $1.90

411 Texas Ave. 846-5711
Across from Ramada Inn

your advertising dollars do better in the classifieds

ZIPPERZ

"Junior & Missy Sportzwear At Its Best"

HALLOWEEN SALE

Wed., October 31

Open 'Til 9

Sale good thru Sat., Nov. 3

20% Off Everything

excluding sale items

CULPEPPER PLAZA • COLLEGE STATION

The Association of Former Students

Fall Senior Induction Banquet

Tuesday & Wednesday, November 6 & 7, 1984

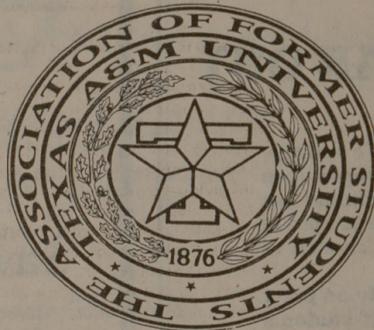

6:30 p.m.

MSC Room 224

All December graduates are invited to attend. Complimentary tickets will be available as long as they last, October 30 - November 1 in the lobby of the Forsyth Alumni Center.

This is your invitation to attend the formal induction of all Class of '84 graduates.

TICKETS GIVEN ON FIRST COME-FIRST SERVED BASIS

James' 'arrival' sparks Patriots

United Press International

FOXBORO, Mass. — Raymond Berry came to New England six years ago and Craig James signed on in April, but New England Patriots fans will tell you the two Texans didn't really arrive until last weekend.

Berry, a receivers' coach with the Patriots from 1978 to 1981, and James, a former star with the USFL's defunct Washington Federals, were the key figures in Sunday's 30-20 Patriots comeback win over the New York Jets.

Berry was noted for his quiet enthusiasm and positive attitude, in contrast to the reserve of fired predecessor Ron Meyer. James showed why the Patriots paid big money to sign him Saturday.

"I was very confident we were going to win," Berry said. "I have a lot of confidence in my people and their ability. My nature is to just let them blossom and grow."

Pats' quarterback Tony Eason was relieved by Berry's calmness in dealing with the difficult situation of running a team after just four days.

"The way Raymond handled things was a relief," Eason said. "He came in and spoke softly and slow and we all sat up and listened. We're all glad it's over and he kept us on an even keel."

Berry refused to even look at the Patriots' playbook before Sunday and just let his assistants call the game.

"When I took the job I promised myself one thing this week," Berry said. "I promised I wouldn't look at the playbook and I didn't."

"I liken all of this as like growing a crop. The whole Patriots organization is involved in breaking the ground. My job is creating an environment in which it can grow properly. If you care for that crop properly, the crop will grow."

James, the 6-foot, 215-pound tailback, is bigger than Tony Collins and faster than Mose Tatupu — the two runners with a combined 195 rushes this season compared to James' mere 30 attempts.

But in the second half, James ran for 79 yards and one touchdown and eliminated all doubts about whether or not he was a Patriot. Some has suggested he was only because he was a friend and former player Meyer while they were at SMU. "Whatever the pressure was to perform, I don't think it's there more," said James, after New England upped its record to 6-1, kept alive hopes of a playoff berth.

New England's Craig James

"Meyer was worried about being accused of favoritism" said James, who acknowledged that Meyer and he were like father and son.

"Our relationship was like me," James said. "We visited two or three times and he just telling me to hang in there."

"To this day I don't fault him that. Maybe I don't accept his reasoning but I certainly understand. He was in a tough position."

"I know what I can do. I can do a game and see what they don't want to have a chance. It's hard to show what you can do on punt team."

James' touchdown run late in the third quarter cut the Jets lead to 16 and showed the speed and tenacity that made him an All-Southwest Conference pick his junior and senior years at SMU.

After bursting through the side of the line James cut back in the middle, slipped past three defenders, faked strong safety Springs right out of his hands and sprinted for the left corner end zone.

"I felt like I could have run way back to Dallas on that," James said.

Arkansas capture cross-country title

United Press International

LUBBOCK — David Swain and Espen Borge finished first and fourth Monday to easily pace the Arkansas Razorbacks to their 11th consecutive Southwest Conference cross-country championship.

The Houston Cougars won the women's division, having captured the SWC title all three years the event has been held.

Arkansas finished with 35 points in the men's competition with Texas a distant second at 88 points. Texas Tech was third with 101, followed by Rice 102, Texas A&M 109, Houston 127, SMU 167, Baylor 190 and TCU 191.

Razorbacks finished 1-4-7-11-12 in breezing to the championship.

Swain won the individual title clocking of 24:41 over the course at Mae Simmons Park. A&M's Arturo Barrios was second at 25:00 with SMU's Paul M. (25:05), Borge (25:18) and Wilfred Sang (25:24) rounded the top five.

Nora Collas of Houston won the individual crown in the women's race. She covered the 3-mile course in 16:35, followed by her teammate Jackie Lewis in 16:58. Tara Arnold of Texas in 17:00.

Houston compiled 36 points for Texas. Arkansas was 72, followed by Rice 91, Texas 128, Baylor 134 and Texas Tech 135.

Pahoa High finally wins

Losing streak ends

United Press International

PAHOA, Hawaii — After all the frustration, not to mention embarrassment, Monday should have been the start of a "stop week" to celebrate at Pahoa High School.

Unfortunately, it was classes as usual.

The reason for the festivities would be the Daggers' first Big Island Interscholastic Federation victory after 27 consecutive defeats — a 14-6 victory over St. Joseph's High School Saturday night. Well, make that 26. One game was awarded them last year on a forfeit.

A 27-game losing streak might not seem much, but for the fans of Pahoa, a small agricultural community 20 miles south of Hilo on the island of Hawaii, it's seems like an eternity.

During the losing streak, the Daggers were outscored 1,179-45.

The first season of the streak, the Daggers were shut out by 10 opponents, 546-0. In 1983, results improved to 409-28 through the first seven games this year, the count was 225-14.

But Head Coach Wilfred Okabe said his team never gave up even after an 86-0 shellacking at the hands of Kona area Pahoa School just two weeks ago.

"The kids showed a lot of character, especially after that loss," Okabe said. "This young team that has faced adversity throughout the season but they don't quit."

Pahoa has a kindergarten through high school enrollment of 1,450 with 380 boys and 1,070 girls between grades 9 and 12.

The first-ever win brought joy to say the least in Pahoa, according to Okabe.

"A few fans were waiting when we returned from the game," said Okabe. "Some of the kids who heard there was some cheering on the streets at one of the stores. It's a big thing because we hadn't won in 2 1/2 years."