Club killings trial nears conclusion

United Press International

DALLAS - Testimony concluded Tuesday in the trial of Ab-delkrim Belachheb, a Moroccan na-tional accused of killing six people, with the defense claiming insanity during the killings.

& Beer 50¢ All Nite

Closing arguments were sched-uled for Wednesday morning, and the jury could receive the case as early as Wednesday afternoon. State District Judge Gerry Holden Meier said she would advise jurors to be prepared to stay overnight if they cannot reach a verdict Wednesday.

The seventh day of testimony in the trial focused on Belachheb's con-tention that he was insane when he shot and killed four women and two men June 29 at Ianni's Restaurant

Two Dallas psychiatrists repeated their diagnosis that Belachheb was a sociopath — a person with an anti-social personality who still knew the difference between right and wrong.

Dr. Clay Griffith supported the testimony of Dr. James Grigson, saying that Belachheb was a "real, fullblown, upper-end-of-the-scale socio-

Meanwhile, defense attorney Frank Jackson tried to discredit Grigson's testimony.

Dr. Abraham Halpern, a New York psychiatrist and the president of the American Board of Forensic Psychiatry, questioned Grigson's truthfulness during testimony.

"His reputation is such that the comments he verbalizes under oath are not considered to be objectively truthful and are not to be believed," Halpern acknowledged he was not familiar with the Belachheb case until Jackson called him Monday night and asked him to fly to Dallas to testify. He said he was familiar with Grigson through conversations with other psychiatrists.

Griffith, who examined Belachheb on July 1 and at least two other occasions, said the defendant never told him he had suffered seizures or at least two severe head injuries.

Defense witnesses have testified that Belachheb could not distinguish right from wrong because of severe brain damage dating from age 10, They said the defendant was in the midst of a "complex partial brain seizure," which began after he was insulted by one of the women who later was killed.

Griffith said he found no evidence of brain damage and that Belachheb was of average or above average intelligence.

Belachheb believes that American women are the cause of his prob-lems, Griffith said.

'He said American women always want sex, even before they give him a cup of coffee," the psychiatrist

Earlier Tuesday, Dr. Elliott Ross, a neurologist at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School, said Belachheb could not have been suffering a complex partial brain sei-

He said such seizures typically last about 30 seconds, and victims are in-capable of goal-directed behavior.

Workers receive Silkwood award

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Four nuclear plant quality control workers fired for disclosing health and safety violeader were named Tuesday to receive the first annual Silkwood Awards.

The recipients were selected exactly 10 years after Oklahoma plutonium worker Karen Silkwood died in a mysterious auto crash while on her way to meet with a reporter and an official of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union.

The four inspectors were fired from their jobs at the Comanche Peak Nuclear Power Plant under construction near Glen Rose, Texas. Also, OCAW leader Johnny Bettis who led the nation's first health and safety work stoppage with a walkout now in its third year at the TNS Uranium Munitions Plant in Jonesboro, Tenn. was chosen.

The awards are co-sponsored by the Karen Silkwood Fund and the Government Accountability Project, an organization formed to protect whistleblowers from harassment. The other recipients are:

—Charles Atchison, a quality control inspector fired after he filed reports warning of defective restraints designed to prevent broken pipes from whipping back and forth. Although the restraints tested by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission were found defective, he was blacklisted from the nuclear industry and fired from three subsequent jobs;

-Dobie Hatley, a Comanche Peak documents supervisor fired "be-cause she refused to follow instructions to commit violations that would have jeopardized public safety." She said company officials forced her to destroy evidence of unsafe condi-

—Comanche Peak quality control inspector Sue Ann Neumeyer who said her superiors instructed her to sign falsified documents;

-Meddie Gregory, who reported Comanche Peak safety violations to the NRC and testified about the breakdown in the Quality Assurance Program. She was one of 40 quality control inspectors laid off as deposi-tions were being taken for an Atomic Safety and Licensing Board hearing.

The awards are to be given "to people in the nuclear industry who work for improved health and safety conditions for workers and the pub-

Silkwood, whose struggle with Kerr-McGee was dramatized in the movie "Silkwood," learned a few days before her death that she had been massively contaminated with deadly plutonium found in her

On the night she died, she was supposed to be carrying evidence of health and safety violations at Kerr-McGee Corp.'s plutonium processing plant near Crescent, Okla., but authorities said they found no such documents in her car.
