Goodyear to finance oil pipeline

United Press International
AKRON, Ohio — Goodyear & Rubber Co. said Thursday to go ahead with the financing of a $840 million oil pipeline to cross from the West Coast to refineries in East Texas and Louisiana.

The project will be the biggest Goodyear's history and will be the first pipeline to connect the West Coast refineries with the East Texas refineries.

Construction is under way in some areas and is expected to be finished in two years. Goodyear plans to borrow about $675 million for the project.

The pipeline will move heavy crude oil from off the Santa Barbara, Calif., shore to Texas and Louisiana without exposing it to air. California officials have proposed to open-air transfer of petroleum products because of the pollution risk.

Goodyear expects to move about 300,000 barrels daily into the pipeline peak production.

who was hit with a billy club by a police officer.

Police officers attempting to break up a fight are supposed to consider number of circumstances — such as the size of the crowd, injuries occurring and warnings to disband — before spraying Mace, Napier said. There are no set rules in determining when to use Mace or billy clubs, he said.

Anyone who believes they were mistreated or abused by an Austin police officer should make a statement to the internal affairs division, Napier said. As of Thursday, none of the people arrested by the police had filed complaints, he said.

A police officer found guilty of abusing his authority may face a wide range of punishments, Napier said. Depending on the severity of the situation and any previous problems, the officer may be censured by a superior or given a verbal or oral reprimand. In more serious cases, the officer may be suspended without pay, or even fired, Napier said. In instances where criminal laws are violated, police officers subject to the same punishment as other citizens, he said.

Stress

have all these other problems," Clark said. "What freshmen may find is that they are inadequately prepared for adulthood. Having a support system can also be stressful. Kids that are used to doing well in high school find it hard in college. This upsets them. Thank giving tends to be the turning point for freshmen. Many drop out after Thanksgiving. I've probably worked with more freshmen than any other age student."

Clark said students who are nearing graduation are also under a lot of stress.

"Students getting close to graduation or that are unsure of their major, can experience more stress," Clark said. "Also if they are unsure of a job or are beginning to doubt they won't get married they experience stress. Older students that return to college after having their own families have the pressure of family life and bigger financial obligations. They could also have a lot of competing with younger students. Many students that have difficulty coping with stress carry over the inadequate coping skills into their college years. If they've been using alcohol or drugs, they'll continue using the same thing to cope with job stress."

"There is a lot of help available and if they'll take it, it'll make the college career pleasant and more successful," Clark said.
