Absentee voting on gay rights issue heavy in Houston

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Absentee voters cast ballots in near-record numbers on Tuesday in a referendum on two gay rights city ordinances, according to city election officials.

City Secretary Anna Russell said she expected the total number of ballots to surpass 3,000 by the time absentee voting ends on Tuesday. She said she remembers only one other city election in 34 years in which more absentee votes were cast.

General voting on the gay rights ordinances is set for Saturday.

At issue are regulations that would forbid discrimination in city hiring based on sexual orientation. The ordinances were passed last June by the city council, but a petition campaign gathered more than 60,000 signatures and forced a referendum.

Anti-gay rights groups have raised more than $100,000 and gained the support of prominent groups, including the Houston Chamber of Commerce executive committee, an organization of Houston ministers, the Harris County Republican Party executive committee and the Houston Police Patrolmen's Union.

Leading supporter of the ordinances is Houston Mayor Kathy Whitmire.

In a "state of the city" speech before the Chamber of Commerce on Monday, Whitmire said if the ordinances are defeated it will tarnish the reputation of Houston.

"We cannot risk our reputation as a city of opportunity," she told the chamber members. "We can't afford to become known as a city that condones prejudice and discrimination."

Whitmire said at a news conference following the speech that she believes the ordinances will win voter approval "because I believe most of the people feel there should not be discrimination."

Her remarks at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday raised the ire of some chamber officials.

Leo Linbeck, a member of the Chamber's executive committee which voted to oppose the gay rights measures, said he would have voted to cancel the mayor's speech had he known she was going to speak on the issue.

"We didn't tell her what to say," said Linbeck, "but if she were going to debate I would have been in favor of canceling the meeting."

Linbeck was a co-guarantor of a $100,000 loan given to one of several anti-gay rights groups.

Damages extensive in storm aftermath

San Antonio survives setback

Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO — Local insurance adjusters say damage may run in the millions from this weekend's freak winter storm that dumped 13 inches of snow on the Alamo City.

The city got back on its feet early Tuesday after nearly shutting down Monday in the wake of the crippling storm.

Officials said most of the damage was suffered by homes, carports and vehicles.

"It's definitely going to be in the millions (of dollars)," said M.M. Barron, owner of Barron and Company Adjusters, Inc.

"There are apartment complexes where carports collapsed that have more than $100,000 damages apiece," he said.

"I'd say there are going to be at least 5,000 to 10,000 claims on carports alone."

The carports collapsed under the weight of the snow.

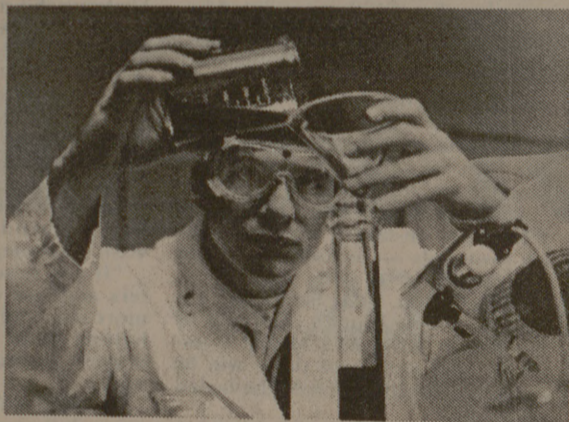

Meanwhile, officials blamed the snowstorm for the death of a 64-year-old San Antonio man.

Paul Richard Richter Jr. apparently died of a heart attack Sunday after clearing the driveway of his home.

"He had cleaned snow off the driveway with a leaf blower so he could drive to the store to get some groceries and a paper," said Richter's brother-in-law, Harold Nemky.

His body was found in his car. He apparently suffered the attack while driving to the store.

Businesses, schools, universities, military bases and government agencies resumed operations Tuesday.

ATTENTION SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING MAJORS!

The Air Force has openings for young men and women majoring in selected science and engineering fields. Like Aeronautical, Aerospace, General and Electrical Engineering, Mathematics, Physics and Computer Technology.

To help prepare for one of these, Air Force ROTC offers two and four-year programs of study which will defray some of your college costs.

After completion of the AFROTC requirement, and upon your graduation, you'll be commissioned an officer in the Air Force. Then comes responsibility, experience in your specialty with some of the best people and facilities in the world, and a mission with a purpose. You'll get excellent starting salary, medical and dental care, 30 days vacation with pay beginning your first year, and more.

Look into the Air Force ROTC program right away. See what's in it for you. See how you can serve your country in return.

If you're graduating from Dec 86 thru Aug 87, openings are available. Contact Maj Gibbs at 845-7611 for more info before 15 Feb 85.
