Camp Counselor Interviews

Camp Champions, a private summer camp for boys and girls will interview prospective counselors at 1-31-85 from 10:00 am - 3:00 pm.

Champions is located on beautiful Lake Lyndon B. Johnson in the Texas Hill Country. We feature swimming, sailing, skiing, horseback, football, baseball, soccer, tennis, basketball and many other fun activities. We are looking for college students who enjoy working with children (ages 7-15) and the out of doors. Being a summer camp counselor is one of the greatest experiences you can have. Our facilities are excellent as are the working conditions and salaries. If this sounds like what you are looking for this summer, please contact the Placement Center for an interview time.

Pistol team places well in tourney

By TONY CORNETT
Sports Writer

Texas A&M's Pistol Team held its Winter Invitational Pistol Match over the weekend. Besides the Aggies, Tarleton State, the University of Texas at Arlington, Sam Houston State and the United States Air Force Academy participated.

The Aggies fared well in all three events winning the team air pistol competition with a score of 2,128 out of a possible 2,400 points.

Air pistol shooting is done at ten meters with a .177-caliber air pistol. Sixty rounds are shot over a two hour and 15 minute period.

The Aggies' second team edged the first team 2,023-2,016 in the international standard event as they took second and third place respectively. Traditional power Air Force won the event with a score of 2,092.

International standard competition consists of slow, timed and rapid fire of .22-caliber pistol rounds from 50 feet.

International free competition differs only in that the rounds are all fired during one two hour and thirty minute period.

The Aggies tied for first place in the international free competition with Air Force. Both scored 1,901 points.

Aggies winning individual honors were: Davis Roger, 2nd in international standard; Matte Hoppe, 3rd in international free and Ed Palacios, 3rd in air pistol.

Edgar passes 1,000 point mark as Ags whip Coogs

By CHAREAN WILLIAMS
Assistant Sports Editor

With 14:33 showing on the clock in the first half, Texas A&M forward Jenni Edgar hit two free throws to give the Aggies a 11-10 lead over the Houston Cougars Saturday night.

No big deal, right? Wrong. Those two foul shots made Edgar only the fourth A&M player to score over 1,000 career points.

"It felt great," Edgar said. "I'm speechless. I'll do anything to help the team, whether it's breaking records or not."

Edgar said the 1,000-point mark was definitely in the back of her mind before the game.

"But that's not the most important thing," she said. "Whether it's passing the ball or shooting, I just want to win."

Edgar, who scored 17 points in the Ags' 63-62 win over the Cougars, needs only six more points to become A&M's all-time scoring leader.

"It's unbelievable," the Dallas

Bryan Adams High School product said. "(The record) probably won't stay, but I'm glad to have my name in there with the record breakers."

Edgar's record shouldn't stick in the books for long. A&M junior forward Lisa Langston just passed the 900-point mark, averaging 18.3 points per game this season.

Langston said she's happy for Edgar, but hopes to break the record next season.

"Jenni (Edgar) is to us what Joe Montana is to the (San Francisco) 49ers," Langston said. "She really deserves everything she gets. I guess it's like what they always say, 'Good things happen to good people.'"

"One of my long range goals is to break the record. I should be able to do it."

Edgar is homing in on the 1,015-point all-time mark set by Cindy Gough and Kelley Sullivan.

Sullivan, who played at A&M from 1978-82, said she was glad Edgar was breaking her record.

"It's great," Sullivan said. "I'm just glad she's having a part of it. We figured she would break it. It's kind of weird though, seeing your record being broken."

Gough, who played at A&M from 1975-79, said she enjoys seeing all A&M athletes succeed, even if they do break her record.

"We tried to work on her confidence this year," said A&M Head Coach Lynn Hickey. "I hope she's one of the best outside shooters in the Southwest Conference. She has really contributed to the program for the last four years. There aren't a lot of players who can do the job she can."

"I'm glad that she's getting close to it," Hickey said. "I hope she always remembers it. She's not a hot-shot, though. It's a very big compliment to be able to be a team player and break records."

Ags swim past Raiders; host Horns Friday

The Texas A&M men's and women's swim teams outdistanced Texas Tech in Lubbock Saturday.

The 13th-ranked Aggie women defeated the Red Raiders 72-41, while the men defeated the Raiders 71-40. The women move to a 5-1 record. The men advance to 6-2.

A&M's Eileen Doull won three individual events: the 100 freestyle, the 200 freestyle and the 500 freestyle.

A&M's John Heldenfels was the men's triple event winner. Jeff Garry set a pool record with his breaststroke time of 2:09.26.

The Aggies next competition shows up in the guise of the Longhorns. The men's and women's teams will swim Friday at P. Downs Natatorium at 6 p.m.
