Flutie wears New $7 million Jersey

Associated Press
NEW YORK — Heisman Trophy winner Doug Flutie, armed with one of the most lucrative contracts in sports history, doesn't have to worry about the solvency of the United States Football League.

Calling the Boston College All-American's $7 million contract with the New Jersey Generals "the most difficult one I've ever done," sports agent Bob Woolf said Monday night that Flutie is protected against all contingencies.

New Jersey's Doug Flutie

The five-year contract covers everything from injuries to a possible merger between the USFL and the National Football League, Woolf said. "We're in pretty good shape. Every provision has been covered as to every eventuality."

The document was 50 pages long and attorneys for the two sides took 10 days to hammer out the final details.

man winners under contract. Rozier, an All-American at Nebraska, played for the now-defunct Pittsburgh Maulers last season. He is now with the Jacksonville Bulls.

"Because of the newness of the league and all the contingencies that could happen, I had to make sure that Doug was protected," the Boston-based attorney explained. Though he refused to divulge terms of the contract, Woolf admitted speculation about its length and value was "quite accurate."

Woolf, whose clients include some of the nation's top professional athletes, said Flutie's contract could be the most significant with which he had ever been involved. "It could be very historic. It could be like Joe Namath coming to the American Football League."

Namath's signing by the New York Jets 20 years ago was credited with giving the AFL the credibility that led to an eventual merger with the National Football League.

Woolf, who has negotiated more than 2,000 sports contracts, said the agreement he reached with Generals' owner Donald Trump was "a contract that is deserving of a Doug Flutie. I've always said that it's something that should be in the vicinity of a Herschel Walker or a Steve Young and that's what it is."

Flutie, who at 5-foot-9 1/4 is thought by some to be too short to be effective in pro football, was flying today to the club's training camp in Orlando, Fla.

Young, who preceded Flutie as the All-American quarterback, for Brigham Young in 1983, signed last year a contract said to be worth $40 million over 43 years with the Los Angeles Express. Walker, the 1982 Heisman Trophy-winning running back from Georgia, signed in 1983 a four-year contract with the Generals for an estimated $6 million.

Flutie has said he does not expect to start as quarterback just because of his salary. And Generals Coach Walt Michaels said he would not give Flutie any special treatment.

With Walker, Mike Rozier and Flutie, who could not be reached Monday night for comment, the USFL now has the last three Heis-

"I'll do what is fair," Michaels said at the Generals' camp. "I want every player to be the same."

Dickerson's image for sale

Associated Press
ANAHEIM, Calif. — The public relations consultant for Eric Dickerson believes the Los Angeles Rams' record-breaking running back is headed for the biggest endorsement career of anyone that's ever been in the business.

"I don't want to do anything real small that would cut me out of something major."

Dickerson set a National Football League single-season rushing record last season, gaining 2,105 yards.

Kahn said, "I think it would be a marvelous experience for him to test the market. Heaven knows what's out there, but it's got to be a quality product — a blue-chip situation."

"It's the biggest record that's ever been put together in football, probably a multimillion-dollar benefit to Eric, not in immediate residuals but over the period of a year or two," said Milton Kahn.

A couple of qualities Dickerson seems to have going for him are a clean image and charisma.

Kahn said he prefers to represent only "Tiffany-type clients," and that among those, "no one has ever had the image of Eric Dickerson."

Dickerson said the clean image label is more than just a label.

Kahn's clientele has included Gregory Peck, Michael Landon, Herb Alpert and George Brett.

"This is just me," he said. "I don't get into trouble. I like a lot of fun, but I like clean fun. Legal fun."

Dickerson, 24, who led the NFL in rushing as a rookie in 1983 with 1,808 yards, currently has only two major endorsements, for adidas shoes and Voit footballs.

"I've been around guys that smoke marijuana, some old friends of mine in high school. I never had the urge to smoke it. I did smoke it once in college. I can't say I didn't. But it never got me high and I didn't like the smell of it. I'll never try it again."

"I try to avoid the get-rich-quick deals," Dickerson said. "A guy says, 'I'll make you rich, but I'm not rich.' Now you know that's a hoax."

Dickerson said he has seen drugs get the best of others.
