Wicker execution stays on schedule

Associated Press
AUSTIN — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, on a 7-2 vote, has let stand Monday's scheduled execution of a man convicted of burying a Beaumont woman alive on a beach.

Chester Lee Wicker, 36, was sentenced to die for the April 4, 1980, slaying of Suzanne Knuth, 23, a student at Lamar University.

Wicker told police he pulled Knuth into his car on a Beaumont street and took her to Bolivar Peninsula, where he attempted to sexually assault her. The body was found two weeks later after Wicker surrendered to police.

The Court of Criminal Appeals turned down Wicker's request to postpone the execution, the court clerk's office said Tuesday.

The American Civil Liberties Union, now representing Wicker, is expected to take the case to federal District Court. Attorney David Garner of League City, who represented Wicker until December, said he believes Wicker has a 50-50 chance of getting a federal judge to postpone the execution.

"I think on this first time around there's a chance there will be a writ granted," he said.
Wicker's appeals have challenged the indictment, arrest and admission of his confession as evidence.

The indictment charged Wicker with killing Knuth by choking her with his hands and burying her alive.

In interview with a psychiatrist, Wicker said he had been involved with drugs for several years and that he began collecting pornography at age 13.

"The patient stated that he looked at these magazines almost every day and that this occupied a great deal of his time and that he tended to spend a lot of time daydreaming and fantasizing about sexual activity," psychiatrist Edward Gripon reported to the court.

Wicker told police Knuth tried to jump out of his car. They struggled and the victim wound up on the ground. Wicker said he could not determine if she was dead. He said he tried artificial respiration by breathing in her mouth. "In my own mind I was sure she was dead (and I would take a polygraph) but I wanted to be positive before I buried her," Wicker said in his confession.

He fled to California but surrendered in Houston after an unsuccessful attempt to get into Canada.

If executed, Wicker would be the sixth Texas inmate put to death by lethal injection since 1982.

Bypassed bills paid Heat is on

Associated Press
DALLAS — New management has raised $34,000 to pay the recent gas bills which would be left more than 500 Oak Lawn Apartment residents without heat during the winter's coldest temperatures, officials said.

The previous manager of States Management Corp. paid $34,714 in overdue gas payments to Lone Star Gas Co., officials said.

Control Properties Management Inc. officials said they assumed management of the Oak Lawn complex and need not worry about their heat cut off.

The threatened cutoff came during the coldest weather of winter in Dallas, with Sunday low reaching a record-high degree.

In Irving last week, residents of another Sun States apartment complex began moving after payment caused the removal of heating unit.

Kelvin Meyers of Control Properties said only a few residents had moved out because of the recent publicity about the States' financial problems.

Graduating Engineers

May 1985

Sperry in Albuquerque, NM will be on campus

Monday, March 4.

See Brandon Harwood.

A career with Sperry will make real use of the time and energy you've put into the last four years. The result: We both profit. The more innovative our engineers, the more opportunities they create for themselves. We appreciate that. After all that's what makes us a growing company.

We're looking for B.S. graduates in electrical engineering. You may be involved in:

Electronic Engineering.

Design and development of microprocessor based digital hardware, or analog circuitry for use in electronics. Applications include: CRT display systems, flight control systems, flight reference systems and helicopter avionics systems.

Systems Engineering.

Avionics system analysis and design, emphasizing hardware and software integration. Applications include: Aircraft control law development, optimization of algorithms for aircraft performance, systems specifications design, flight dynamics and real-time operation.

Software Engineering.

Creation, development and modification of software for real-time control. Applications include: Flight control, multiplex systems, production support equipment and validation and verification equipment.

Interested? If so, let's get together. We'd like to talk to you about our business and the Albuquerque lifestyle that offers you a vacation climate and outdoor recreation year-round.

Investigate the opportunities at Sperry by talking to us while we're on campus. We'll fill you in on our competitive salaries and comprehensive benefits. Contact your campus Placement Office to arrange to see us. If you are unable to see us on campus, please send your resume, in confidence, to Brandon Harwood, P.O. Box 9200, Albuquerque, NM 87119.
