COVER

- 7 Letter from the co-editors This week we have an indepth look at ideology, materialism and a couple of guys who tour the country debating.
- 8 Two decades of change Abbie Hoffman and Jerry Rubin in a debate. Ann Cervenka, Battalion staff writer, joins At Ease to report on who these men are, where they're coming from and why.
- 11 Money's not everything, but it helps The Yuppies among us are goal oriented and have a tendency to reach those goals. Tricia Parker interviewed some upwardly-mobile students — these folks' aspirations aren't too shoddy.
- 11 Students opposed to the status quo For every force there is an equal and opposing force — introducing the thinking liberals of our time. They talk to Patti Flint about cookie-cutter ideology and the condition of the world.

FEATURES

- 4 Statue of Liberty in the hands of Aggie super David L. Moffit, class of '61, has been the superintendent for the Statue of Liberty for eight years. He now coordinates many of the fund raising and renovation efforts for her centennial.
