

Get Toto ticket

Toto has surprised us all and is coming to Texas A&M as part of their 1985 Isolation Spring Tour.

Town Hall and Budweiser are sponsoring the March 21 performance of the Grammy award winning group. It will be the first concert tour for Toto in close to three years.

The Isolation Spring Tour will take them through the southeast and southwestern portions of the U.S., with a concentration on Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Florida.

Since the release of the album TOTO IV — and the six Grammys that resulted from that effort — Toto has dedicated their work to producing Isolation on Columbia LP. They also took on two other major projects before going on tour.

In late 1983, David Paich, keyboardist and vocalist, met with producer of "Dune," Raffaella DeLaurentiis and director David Lynch so Toto could create the musical atmosphere for the movie. The second project was the composition of an instrumental theme for the boxing events of the 1984 Los Angeles Summer Olympics. "Moodido" was written, recorded and mixed in a matter of days and was featured throughout the games.

ball decided to split from the group and there was a search for a new singer with performing and writing abilities, as well as a wide vocal range. Fergie Frederiksen, formerly of La-Roux was chosen as a replacement.

The "Isolation" tour will be the first time that a musical group has worked in conjunction with a major brewing company to support a nonprofit organization. A portion of all proceeds acquired are being donated to the USO.

Tickets for the concert are on sale in the MSC Box Office — $10 for general admission and $8.50 for students. The concert is March 21, 8 p.m. in G. Rollie White.
