"Does it scare you to know that all of that has to be in your head by the end of the month?"

Swede first to get artificial heart outside of the U.S.

Associated Press
 STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Doctors at Karolinska Hospital performed the first artificial heart implant outside the United States, placing a metal and plastic Jarvik-7 heart in a Swede with an "enormous will to live."
 Dr. Bjarne K. H. Semb, a Norwegian surgeon who led the 12-member team that carried out the world's fourth artificial heart transplant on Sunday, said the patient was in "unexpectedly good shape" Tuesday afternoon.
 He was identified only as a Swede in his mid-50s. Semb said the patient had requested anonymity and that all personal details be withheld "as long as he is helpless."
 Semb, 45, told a news conference that the patient was "off the respirator, awake and talking." He said Robert Jarvik, the American inventor of the artificial heart, was present at the operation to offer advice. He added that Jarvik would not be available for comment until Wednesday.
 Semb said there was "no other alternative" for the patient, who had a history of heart disease and had suffered two severe heart attacks.
 Semb said "the patient himself brought up the possibility of an artificial heart. His enormous will to live made him a candidate for it."
 "The last thing he said before going into anaesthetics was 'We're gonna make it, you hear me,'" he said.
 Semb said that after the heart was implanted Sunday there was a second operation because of "technical problems." Semb would not elaborate, but said the two operations lasted more than five hours.

 The operation in Sweden was performed a day after the world's second recipient of an artificial heart, 53-year-old William J. Schroeder was allowed to live outside the hospital.
 Schroeder was discharged Saturday from the Humana Hospital Audubon in Louisville, Ky., where he received the Jarvik-7 heart on Nov. 25. Murray Haydon, the world's third artificial heart recipient, on Feb. 17, remains at Humana's coronary care unit.
 Semb said the Jarvik-7 heart was purchased from the university clinic in Salt Lake City, Utah, where the first artificial heart implant was made in December 1982 on Barney Clark, a 62-year-old dentist. Clark died 112 days after the operation.
 Semb said he had performed implants of artificial hearts on calves at the clinic in Salt Lake City. He said he had also visited Dr. William C. DeVries at Humana in connection with DeVries' operations of Schroeder and Haydon.
 DeVries is the only American surgeon authorized to implant the Jarvik-7.
 Bob Irvine, a spokesman for Humana Inc., said, "We (Humana officials and DeVries) knew about it (the Swedish implant) yesterday. Dr. DeVries was consulted about the operation and was in contact with the surgeons."
 Semb was a member of the pioneering group led by Dr. Christiaan Barnard in Cape Town, South Africa, which performed the world's first heart transplant in 1967.

Jackson rallies behind farmers

Associated Press
 PLATTSBURG, Mo. — The Rev. Jesse Jackson brought his Rainbow Coalition to this tiny farming town in northwestern Missouri on Monday, urging about 300 people rallying before a foreclosure sale to work with urban laborers and blacks to fight injustices of the Reagan administration.
 Jackson, wearing bib overalls under a brown leather jacket, delivered a rousing 30-minute speech before the final 127 acres of the Perry Wilson farm was sold.
 The crowd was orderly during the sale, a marked difference from the pushing match with state troopers that resulted in five arrests and a few injuries when the first part of the Wilson farm was sold March 15.
 Jackson, who had stayed overnight Sunday with Wilson, called the sale a "human disaster" and said American agriculture is in a "crisis of gigantic proportions."
 "We need leaders that think," Jackson said. "We need compassionate leaders. Someone must care for a 73-year-old man who has nowhere to go."

 Wilson has farmed 52 years in the rolling Missouri countryside about 35 miles north of Kansas City. He said he owed banks $234,000. The final part of his land was purchased for $85,000 by the Kearney Trust Association.
 Jackson said Reagan administration policies were to blame for an additional 12 million people who have fallen below the poverty line since 1980.
 He said 2,000 farms were being foreclosed each week because a strong American dollar has limited exports, the administration failed to block farm imports coming into this country and because the arms buildup took needed money away from agriculture.
 "Save the farmer and export Reagan," Jackson said as the crowd cheered. "We can do without Reagan. But we cannot do without the farmer. We need you."
