Clayton Williams to speak on conventional ranching

Midland oilman and rancher Clayton Williams will speak to the Texas A&M Range Science Club on modern vs. traditional ranching tonight at the Quonset Hut on Hwy. 60 west of Easterwood Airport.

A prominent Texas A&M graduate, Williams was depicted in a recent Texas Monthly article as a rancher who takes advantage of modern technologies, such as artificial insemination and embryo transfer.

His 7 p.m. presentation is open to the public.

Mothers' club to continue tradition at spring meeting

The spring meeting, which is traditionally held during Parents Weekend, will include speeches by Pat Wood, Memorial Stadium Center Council president, and David Alders, 1984-85 student body president.

Friday and Saturday afternoons, 30 of the 71 mothers clubs will sponsor a boutique of hand-made items and other arts and crafts in the Rudder Exhibit Hall, Neil said. There will be crafts for sale, but most items will have an A&M theme.

A family luncheon will be held in the MSC on Saturday at 12:30 p.m., Neal said. All students and their families are invited.

Congressman will discuss new tax reform legislation

U.S. Congressman Tom Loeffler, R-Hunt, will be at Texas A&M Thursday to speak on entrepreneurship and legislation in an appearance sponsored by the College of Business Administration.

The program will be at 6 p.m.

in 114 Blocker. Loeffler is a member of the House Appropriations Committee. His discussion will include the new tax reform legislation, how it affects entrepreneurs and how entrepreneurs can influence legislation.
