

Warped

by Scott McCullar

Coca Cola

Recipe change may be good for Dr Pepper

Associated Press
DALLAS — The president of Dr Pepper says his company's soft drink could get a boost from the revolutionary switch in the Coca-Cola recipe.
"I think it will have a positive effect on us," said John Albers, president of Dallas-based Dr Pepper.
"Before, there were two distinct cola tastes out there; now there will be just one," Albers said.
"It's helping to say that Dr Pepper is something special, with a different taste," he said.
Industry observers said Saturday that the introduction of a sweeter Coke, which reportedly will taste more like arch rival Pepsi-Cola, will drastically blur the line between the nation's two largest-selling colas.

This will make the taste of Dr Pepper more distinctive, Albers said.
It will also throw the cola-drinking segment of the market up for grabs, he said.
Albers added that Dr Pepper will probably begin to stress its taste difference in commercials that are due to appear this summer.
Albers said he was "surprised and a bit mystified" as to why kingpin Coke is being reformulated.
Apparently in recent years, Pepsi's sweeter taste was making inroads into Coke's markets, he said.
"Still, there are people in the Southeast and Southwest who would not be caught dead with a Pepsi in their hands," said Albers.

But Dr Pepper still faces a challenge from Coca-Cola's new Cherry Coke, a cola with a dash of cherry flavor.
Marketers for Coca-Cola aimed the newest specialty product at Dr Pepper, which tastes like a cherry-flavored cola.
Local Pepsi-Cola bottling officials are also awaiting Coke's change which was announced last week.
"We are very optimistic about this capitulation," said John Knight, director of marketing for the southern division of Pepsi-Cola Co.
"We are watching with amused fascination," he said.

Senate confronts hot issues during last month of session

Associated Press
AUSTIN — Legislators start the final month today of the 4½-month session in a testy atmosphere.
Senators still must face controversy over state regulation of shrimp and oyster fishing and House members may vote on repeal of Texas' Blue Law.
The Senate should pick up where it left off on last week, arguing over an inland senator's efforts to give the Parks and Wildlife Department regulatory authority over shrimp and oysters in Texas bays and the Gulf of Mexico.
Senators broke for the weekend at 12:30 p.m. Thursday after coastal Sens. Carl Parker and Carlos Truan tried for two hours to chip away at El Paso Sen. Tati Santiesteban's bill.
A filibuster was brewing when the Senate decided to recess, leaving the bill pending.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, said the proposal would put the livelihood of bay shrimpers "at the whim of some bureaucrat."
Truan, D-Corpus Christi, said gulf shrimpers were "trying to use the Legislature to force a state agency, the Parks and Wildlife Department, to take on a regulatory responsibility." Responsibility that he said would limit economic competition, under the guise of invoking the police powers of the state, when the agency does not want to become the economic czar of the shrimping industry on the Texas Gulf Coast.
Santiesteban was asked about those who say the department doesn't have the ability to regulate. He responded: "There are those who really don't know what they are talking about. The Parks and Wildlife Department has the ability and has the resources."

In line behind the shrimp and oyster bill is a proposal to triple college tuition this fall. Several conservative senators balked Thursday at accepting a two-year limit on tuition increases.
Sen. Roy Blake, D-Nacogdoches, said limiting the tuition increase to two years would leave students confused.
"We need to let the (entering) students know what the costs are going to be so they can plan," Blake said.
The bill tripling tuition this fall and raising it again for the 1986-87 school year has been tentatively approved by the Senate.
A bill that would repeal the law prohibiting the sale of 42 items on consecutive weekend days has been approved by a House committee, and is pending in Senate committee.

All International F-1 Students

The U.S Immigration Service is requiring a Visa Status check of ALL F-1 Students enrolled at TAMU. Please bring Passports, I-20 copy and yellow I-20 ID. Card to Room 357 Bizzell Hall

BEFORE FINALS to complete this check.

For more details 845-1824

Π Κ Α

and their 1985 sponsor

WYATT'S SPORTING GOODS Congratulate

Their 1985 Fight Night Team For Winning an UNPRECEDENTED 6 Consecutive Fight Night Titles For Pi Kappa Alpha

1985 Pike Boxing Team

John Grudzien Tracy Munden Kevin Harrigan Peter Kelleher Vance Howard

Fight Night Champions

'80, '81, '82, '83, '84, '85

PIKES

Commitment to Excellence

Turn A New Leaf At

DOUBLE TREE

LUXURY CONDOMINIUMS

"Double Tree leaves you room to grow"

693-3232 1901 W. Holleman - Off 2818

Center - a non-profit
7 or call collect or 817-325-8888
#09702

RD LEASING
ECIAL!
ROOMMATE BLEMS!
OF SHARED ROOMS!

-Two bedrooms
65⁰⁰

CA APARTMENT
College Main
6-1413

2
Post Oak Rd.
IN THE MIDDLE

7-45-1030
"LADY PAUL"
Member Restaurant

7-14-438
CITY CENTER
W/ DANCE STUDIO
MASK

7-38-844
DISCOUNT
SITING

JULMAN ATRES

Sat. & Sun. - 10:00
Family Nite - 7:00-11:00
is With Current 10
Wed.

JULMAN 6
3-2463

GUYS (PG) 2500

2 (PG-13) 2500

ONS PG-13 2500

OP DOLBY 2500
STEREO

LIVES (R) 2500

R EAST III
3-8300

DOLBY 2500
STEREO

TE (G) 2500

DOLBY 2500
STEREO